Brilliant Display Made by Co-eds in Masque, Dances and Festivities

Carlisle, Pa., May 11. — With a masque, solo and chorus dances and festivities the Dickinson College co-eds yesterday crowned the May queen in the annual May Day of the institution. About 100 girls in costume participated, and the affair, held on the lawn at Metzger Hall, was witnessed by over 800 persons.

The leading feature of the afternoon was the crowning of the May queen. While the selection had been made some weeks ago, the result was kept a secret, and it was not until she appeared in the procession that her identity was disclosed. Miss Anna Shuey, of Altoona, was chosen May queen and Miss Marie Wagner, of Carlisle, maid of honor. The May queen was given her emblems of rank and crown by the secretaries of the four college classes.

The procession came as a part of the masque, "The Triumph of Spring," which was written by Lynn Harold Harris, of the class of 1906 at Dickinson and a writer of some note. The play dealt allegorically with the subjugation of Winter by the forces of Spring. Dances by girls garbed to represent snow maidens, flowers, stars and the like were interesting. Several dances were also given by others in Hungarian peasant costume and the whole closed with a May pole dance.

Special interest was attached to the affair in that the play by Professor Harris, who now holds the chair of English at the University of Illinois, was directed by his mother, Mrs. Marie A. Harris, herself a writer of considerable prominence, who has directed affairs of this kind in various sections.

Keys to "Overlook" Are Turned Over to Civic Club of City

Keys to "Overlook," the splendid new home of the Civic Club at Front and North streets, to-day were turned over to the club's president, Mrs. William Henderson, by the agency which had charge of the residence for the Central Trust Company of New York.

To-morrow the temporary caretaker will be placed in charge and just as soon as the various committees are appointed so that plans for occupancy can be mapped out the club will move into it.

"Overlook" is the former residence of Mrs. William Fleming, who bequeathed it to the Civic Club. Litigation, begun by the Central Trust Company, Mrs. Fleming's administrator, prevented the club from taking possession of its new home until a few weeks ago, when President Judge Kunkel, of the Dauphin County Courts, decided that the bequest was regular and legal.
