400 INDIANS IN CARLISLE PARADE

Three-day Celebration of National Day Ends With Spectacular Pageant

Carlisle, Pa., May 15.—A three-day celebration of the first national Indian day by pupils of the Carlisle Indian School ended yesterday with special religious services. The pupils here in meetings held Friday evening which opened the observance indorsed the plan of the Society of American Indians to have the second Saturday in May made Indian day and a legal holiday.

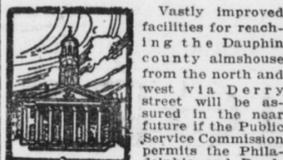

The most spectacular feature of the celebration here was a pageant on Saturday afternoon with 400 native Americans in a line of march. The procession was headed by officers of the school, themselves Indians, in native costume, a representation of Uncle Sam, and the celebrated school band. Company A of the cadet battalion, which reached the highest percentage in a drill contest, was color guard. In the line each State had a special place with a banner and these divisions were subdivided into tribes. Practically every section of the country was represented. A feature was a comparison between the present-day Indian and the red man of centuries ago. A party in full tribal regalia stalked solemnly at the head and rode in floats depicting scenes of Indian life, while other students were beside them in automobiles. Contests and games were held Saturday.

WEST SHORE NEWS

Captain Dan Powers, Oldest Riverman in State, Dies

CAPTAIN DANIEL POWERS

Marysville, Pa., May 15.—Captain Daniel Powers, a familiar figure on the streets of Marysville for the past two decades, died on Sunday. His death took place at the Perry county almshouse at Loysville, where he had been taken by Chief Burgess Amos M. Fisher just two days before. He was 88 years old. Captain Powers is survived by two sons, George and Joseph Powers, and one daughter, Miss Ellen Powers, living in Fishing Creek Valley, near here. A married daughter lives at West Fairview. Funeral services will be held to-morrow and burial will be made in Chestnut Grove Cemetery here.

"Captain Dan," as he was familiarly known, was born at Swatara Gap, Lebanon county, on April 19, 1827. He early showed a liking for the river and at the age of 17 years he piloted his first raft down the Susquehanna. He frequently declared that during his lifetime he was piloted approximately 3,000 rafts down the river to their destination, any place between Lock Haven and Marietta. He was also a farmer of marked ability. At one time he possessed farms in Dauphin, Perry and Cumberland counties, aggregating 600 acres. Most of these had been cleared by his own labor, but unfortunate investments and financial troubles caused his wealth to dwindle and of late years, he has almost been entirely dependent on outdoor aid received from Perry county.

For many years previous to his death Captain Dan lived in a little log cabin in a valley between two mountains near here. Last year the house was destroyed by fire and he was severely burned about the hands and the face. He passed the winter with relatives, but this Spring again returned to Marysville to take up his abode in the mountains.

STATE GIVES FREE LABORATORY AID

Dr. Dixon Points Out How the Commonwealth Is Helping the People

Pennsylvania is maintaining a free laboratory to aid practitioners in rural districts who are without the facilities enjoyed by those in cities and is doing such work for municipalities too small to maintain their own establishments. This is set forth by Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, State Commissioner of Health, in his week-end talk on health and hygiene and he points out how the State is giving scientific aid.

"To the practicing physician the laboratory has become a necessity. There are numerous diseases which can be determined with absolute accuracy by means of laboratory tests and with less delay than is possible without this aid. The basis of any successful treatment must be an accurate knowledge of the disease. This is why it is necessary for the physician to have recourse to the laboratory. It makes certain what would otherwise be in doubt. With the microscope we can determine tissue changes which indicate disease and the chemist can determine the character of certain fluids of the body which are caused by diseases of the various organs. Owing to the rapid advance in medical science, laboratory work has become a specialty in itself. It is impossible for the practitioner in the ma-majority of instances, or even the small hospitals throughout the State, to maintain well equipped laboratories with pathologists.

"In Pennsylvania the State Department of Health maintains a free laboratory to aid the practitioners in rural districts and municipalities too small to maintain their own."
