A Climax In Women's Fine Grade Suits Will Dispose of Them at Fifteen Dollars

The time of season does not permit our carrying them any longer.

They're going away. That is certain, and to make sure that they will go quickly, we've taken a grand whack at the original prices.

Choose From Nearly All Our Finest Suits, Now Marked

—a "joyful fifteen," too, that purchases an exclusive model in a fine serge, poplin, poiret, gabardine, or one of the several fine silk models in the allotment.

And no "wasing" about the former prices — their time has passed, and you're buying in a period of fifteen dollars.

$15, the variety, the models themselves, are the value spokesmen.

Stout women, please read, and profit.

The wearing season is long—the buying season short. Act.

of Mr. Greet, who is in the medical service of the War Department in London.
In "Children in the House," the Triangle-Fine Arts feature that is appearing at the Colonial for the last time today, the principal part is in the hands of Norma Tallmadge, as the neglected wife. Jewell Carmen plays the part of the siren. The story deals with a young wife, who is neglected by her husband for a cabaret dancer, which, in the end, leads to his death, and frees her from a marriage that was becoming intolerable. Joe Jackson, the happy "tramp" comedian, will be seen on the same program in a new two-reel Keystone comedy called "The Lion and the Girl," that is filled with thrills and laughter. Wednesday and Thursday, William Fox will present William Farnum, the greatest of screen stars, in "Moon's Bay," together with Helen Holmes in the "Girl and the Game," will be a bill that will be sure to please every person.

The theme of "Idols" is that of a woman's supreme sacrifice and a man's struggles. Miss Kaelred "Idols" has been in a great many powerful film plays, but is best shown for her great work in "A Fool There Was." To-day also, Frank Daniels in a screaming new comedy, entitled "Kernel Nutt, the Janitor." For to-morrow, "The Mysteries of Myra," featuring Howard Estabrook and Jean Sothorn in the fourth episode; Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne in the "Moon's Bay," together with Helen Holmes in the "Girl and the Game," will be a bill that will be sure to please every person.

Hazel Dawn appears in "The Saleslady" to-day for the last time at the Regent. In "The Saleslady" Miss Dawn shows through many vicissitudes. She is a young country girl, whom poverty has driven to the city in search of work. She goes to a cheap boarding-house, but is soon divested of her last penny in the effort to save the life of a consumptive girl in the house. If an infuriated mob were at your back shrieking for your death, would you run away to save yourself, or would you stand and defy them? Though she is terror-stricken, Pauline Frederick refuses to see danger in her situation and dares the townsfolk to touch her in the Famous-Players-Paramount adaptation of Henry Johnston's world-renowned novel and play, "Audrey," which is the feature at this theater to-morrow and Thursday.

MAJESTIC HAS ONE ACT BILL

Miniature Musical Comedy Has Stage at Majestic; Pleasing and Entertaining

One act suffices to fill the Majestic bill for the first half of this week, and it fills the bill well. No need of any variety acts to give diversion, for in "The Cabaret Girl" there is music, there is dancing, there is violin playing, and individually speaking, its about the best that has been heard on the vaudeville stage in this city, there is humor, clean and witty, and there is everything one wants when one goes to see a vaudeville performance. What matters it that the theme of "The Cabaret Girl" is lost after about the first twenty minutes? It goes then into a good variety show with quite a number of individual acts woven together. The producer of the show has brought together a chorus which musically is a delight, for they sing with a pleasing volume, and what is even better, a harmony which isn't always the rule in choruses. Madelon Lear, the star of the piece possesses a clear, smooth and charming voice and is heard to advantage in several numbers. Comedy is quite evenly divided between Harry Anger, Clarence Marks, and "Billy" Shean. To Frank Morgan falls the lot of the leading male role, and he does it well. Jura Nilov plays the violin, and what was said before applies to her ability. All in all "The Cabaret Girl" is an excellent piece of entertainment of the musical comedy type with music and variety aplenty.

MAX ROBERTSON.

Mlle. RITA JOLIVET
Mlle. Rita Jolivet, who created a sensation on the stage a few years past when she made her American debut with Otis Skinner in "Kismet," will hereafter be seen in the production of Morocco for the Paramount Program. It was to Miss Jolivet that Charles Frohman said while the Lusitania sank: "Death is the most beautiful adventure in life."

Rub Out Rheumatism with WONDEROIL

Stiff Joints Loosen Up Like Magic; Lumbago Relieved Over Night

Antiseptic Wonderoil draws all the painful stiffness, soreness and swelling from rheumatic joints, and does it so surely and speedily it seems almost like magic. It takes little more than a 25 cent box bought from Geo. A. Gorgas or any leading dealer here in Harrisburg to prove it in almost every case.
First heat Wonderoil then rub gently and bind up with flannel. It never just drives pain from one spot to another, but draws it right out of the body.
Wonderoil is a physician's prescription and has been in successful use for over 50 years. It is pure and antiseptic. It never blisters and is pleasant to use. A generous sample will be sent on request by M. E. Raymond, Inc., Ballston Spa, N. Y.

WHY NOT A GARDEN POOL?

As to the garden pool—why not have one? It may be ever so simply done; and often the more simple it is, the more charming. Or it may be very elaborate and artificial, like those in the tiny toy gardens of those masters of artifice, the Japanese. No other garden feature offers greater possibilities for diversity of form or for originality than the pool. I know a city garden with high walls about it, rather a cramped garden because of the nearness of other dwellings. But under a small tree in that garden is a bit of a basin with water that is always fresh, set there in the sod to invite the birds to a daily bath. And where birds are, there is the spirit of the woodland and mountains, no matter how high skyscrapers tower around about.—Bertha H. Smith in The Countryside Magazine.
