WHERE EDUCATORS SPEND VACATION

Central and Technical High School Teachers Tell Their Plans to the Telegraph

Vacation may come and vacation may go, but news goes on forever, and so it is that the weary reporter must pound away at his desk all summer writing the delightful trips and vacation jaunts of the more fortunate one.

The teachers of the Central High Schools have made various vacation plans — some will loaf, others travel, some will study and others will farm.

Principal H. G. Dibble leaves about July 1 with his family for Appleton, Wis., to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. Miss Annabelle Swartz, elocution instructor at Central High will take a summer course at Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire.

Miss Florence Beck, mathematics teacher, with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Beck, will spend the summer at her country home in Camp Hill, Pa.

Miss Mabel Harris Wins Honors at Normal School

Of the hundred young women in a class of one hundred and twenty-five graduates from the Millersville State Normal School last week Miss Mabel F. Harris, Harrisburg Central high school, 1914, received a prize for teaching in the training school. On the personal letter of Principal Harbold, she was elected to teach the grammar school at Denver, Lancaster county, for a nine-month term.

During her two years' course at Millersville Miss Harris excelled in scholarship and evinced special talent and initiative for leadership in numerous activities of school life. She has been most successful, having also been awarded a prize of $10 for scholarship at the close of the junior year.

Harrisburg high school may well be proud of such a record made by one of its young women who won recognition in literary contests during her four years here and was on the honor roll at her graduation from Central High in 1914.

WEIR STEWART WILL WORK AMONG BRITISH SOLDIERS

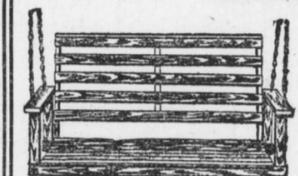

Weir Stewart, a former Harrisburg, son of the Rev. Dr. George Black Stewart, president of Auburn Theological Seminary, who was recently graduated from Princeton, has decided to go to Mesopotamia to work among the British soldiers in that country. Mr. Stewart has a gift for newspaper work and as correspondent for the New York Sun during his college career did so well that the paper offered him a staff position. Later the call to go abroad came and the Sun released him from his promise.
