"Sure, Some Lumber Is High in price, but in building a house you don't have to specify 'Clear' throughout."

There are more than one grade of lumber and there are many kinds of wood.

Lots of people seem surprised to learn that "clear" is better than No. 1; No. 1 than No. 2, etc.

For instance, when they order lumber they ask for Pine, not knowing that there is a number of grades of pine. Sometimes quite a saving could be effected by specifying a lower grade.
