

FIFTEEN MILLION DOZEN OF EGGS

They Are Stacked Up in the Cold Storage Warehouses of the State Just Now

Pennsylvania had 15,475,440 dozens of eggs stacked up in forty-five cold storage warehouses on June 30, the number stored against the coming of cold weather when the hens do not lay being about three millions less than a year ago according to a summary of the amount of foods in storage made at the State Department of Agriculture, which controls such matters through the Dairy and Food bureaus.

Comparison with previous reports show that about 15,000,000 dozens were placed in storage between the end of March and the end of June and it is estimated that the money invested in what is now stored is greater than in the 18,000,000 dozens stored at this time last year.

THEEVES AT CAMP HILL

Camp Hill, Pa., July 15.—That thieves at Camp Hill are evidently using an automobile to make their getaway is the belief of the business-men and citizens. M. F. Tripner, procer, on Thursday night heard a man at a window at the rear of his store and fired two shots at him as he ran away. Mr. Davidson, of South Beaver avenue found his trousers which had been taken from his room during the night on the back porch. Three dollars were missing from the pockets. On another night recently the refrigerator at the Davidson home was entered, but the thieves were chased away before anything was stolen. An attempt was made to enter the home of M. L. Kringer at White Hill.

220-Pound Bat Artist Knocks Out Homer at Sunday School Picnic

At Bowling Springs yesterday afternoon the married men just walloped the tar out of the single men of West Fairview during the annual joint Sunday school picnic. The score was 7 to 2, but that doesn't tell the story at all. The real work was done by a 220-pound married bat slinger, O. K. Eshenour, and "O. K." he was, indeed. Just at the crucial moment when the bases were nearly full he swatted out a homer. The score by innings: Married Men... 10133110-2 Single Men... 110000-2

Former Pupil of Duncannon Schools Elected Principal

Duncannon, Pa., July 15.—A pleasing feature in the starting out in life is to be elected assistant principal of the schools in which you started the foundation for an education in the primary department. Such honor in efficiency has been bestowed upon John DeHaven, of Duncannon, when the borough school board elected him to that position. Prof. J. L. L. Bucke has been elected supervising principal. Mr. DeHaven is also a resident of this place, a former principal of the borough schools and is a man of wide experience in graded school work.
