A HUNDRED YEARS OF SUNDAY SCHOOL

Market Square Presbyterians Preparing to Celebrate Their Centennial in October

But few Sunday schools in this country have celebrated the centennial of their birth. The Sunday school movement is much more modern than is generally realized, and therefore those schools which have attained a goodly age are justified in feeling proud.

When there are but few precedents for a celebration, it is rather hard to make plans, but the Market Square Presbyterian Sunday school which will celebrate the hundredth anniversary of its organization the middle of the coming October, is making elaborate arrangements for that event which will cover two or three days.

Mrs. Herman P. Miller is developing plans for an entertainment probably taking the form of a pageant, to be given on the Sunday school anniversary. The pageant will be a pageant of a century ago with the costumes, of that day, and the old, old methods of conducting the classes. It is said that one of the gowns worn by a teacher in that Sabbath school is still in existence—and it will probably be brought into service for the pageant.

Mrs. Wilbur F. Harris, as chairman of the musical portion of the entertainment has some attractive ideas in mind. Judge S. J. M. McCarrell as chairman of the program committee will try to bring to Harrisburg for the celebration various people who have been prominently identified with the school in past days.

WITHDRAW TROOPS IN THIRTY DAYS

power, it is expected, is the fact that he has successfully opposed the United States in its plan to keep the American troops in the heart of Mexican territory.

300 Chinamen Who Have Fled to Protection of Expedition Raise Problem

By Associated Press

Field Headquarters in Mexico, July 12, by Motor Truck to Columbus, N. M., July 16.—What to do with the three hundred Chinese who have associated themselves with the punitive expedition has developed into a serious problem with the army since the shortening of the American line in Mexico recently revealed the large number of Chinese soldiers who were following the present security under the protection of the American flag. These Chinese flocked to the American lines to make money while the Mexicans through pride refused to sell hungry soldiers anything to eat or through poverty were unable to traffic with the American troops. The Chinese stepped in and succeeded. Many a soldier without soap, obtained his first good shave by buying a cake from the Chinese.

In the desert wherever a truck train was likely to stop for water there were Chinese. Doughnuts, pies, candy, tobacco, matches and fruit which comprises about all the luxuries known to the men during this campaign in a poverty-stricken country were furnished by the Chinese and by them only. Chinese from points as far distant as Chihuahua became the shopkeepers of the army, traveling in two-story wagons with a dozen persons to one vehicle.

Open to Reprisals Like the Mexicans who were threatened for having business dealings with the Chinese, the Chinese themselves are open to reprisal after the departure of the troops. Consequently they have followed the army northward to the border.

Charles Tien, leader of the Chinese here, who claims American citizenship, said to-day that he would not care to remain in Mexico if the troops withdrew. He said his countrymen now with the expedition, but who are barred from entering the United States, will go with the army to the border stopping on the Mexican side, from where they expect to be able to flee across the line for temporary refuge in case they are threatened.

Chinese here, when asked whether they carried firearms for self defense, shook their heads. "Carranzistas," they said, "have played jokes on the China boys who have had to enlist in the Carranza army."

New York Now Aviation Center of the Country

By Associated Press

New York, July 17.—As the result of the mobilization of the National Guard along the Mexican border, New York has become the aviation center of the country. Militia officers from a number of states have been ordered here by the War Department for inspection and physical examination to determine their fitness for the aeronautical service of the army.

Many civilian aviators who have offered their services to the government are waiting for their papers. They are waiting for the aviation bill so that the War Department may acquire machines. As soon as aeroplanes are available the army fliers will be given flying practice and training either at the Garden City aerodrome on Long Island or in the new flying school soon to be established in Chicago and San Antonio, Texas.

The only militia aviation organization that has aeroplanes now is the Aero Company, New York National Guard, which was mustered in last Thursday.

General Orders Prohibit Collecting of Funds to Augment Army Rations

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C., July 17.—General orders were issued to-day by the War Department prohibiting army officers from soliciting or accepting funds for the collection of funds to augment rations issued by the government to national guardsmen in the Federal service.

Such a movement, said in published reports to be on foot, was declared by department officials to be unnecessary and a hindrance.

"The ration furnished these troops," says the order, "is ample for all purposes when properly used, and officers and enlisted men of the organization should not be engaged in the service of the United States or not participate in obtaining funds for such a purpose."

Work being done by the army quartermaster corps in supplying equipment and supplies to national guard organizations stationed along the Mexican border is described as excellent.

likely that others will be named within a few days. Officers appointed will report tomorrow at the camp at Mt. Gettysburg, where the recruits will be concentrated, for physical examination and muster into the federal service. They will then await orders from the War Department.

The belief is that about 5,000 men will be concentrated at Mt. Gettysburg where the State will prepare a camp with tentage forwarded to Mt. Gettysburg last week as a precautionary measure. Their training will take practically all summer and the camp will be a busy place. The Third Brigade will encamp there next week and the first recruits will begin to arrive by the end of this week, according to what is believed here.
