STERRETT FUND TO GIVE PRIZES

Interest From Money to Be Given For Battle Efficiency

These contributors to the Marjorie Sterrett Battleship Fund will be interested in a suggestion which has been submitted by the Secretary of the Navy. A considerable amount was contributed by patriotic girls and boys and their elders through the Telegraph and these will probably approve the disposition of the fund proposed by the head of the Navy. Writing to the New York Tribune, which had direct charge of the movement, Secretary Daniels says: "It is understood that this fund will amount to approximately $1,500,000 per annum, and it is considered advisable that this fund be awarded annually to: (1) The crew of the turret making the highest final merit at the short range practice, $900.00. (2) The crew of the broadside gun mounted on battleship, destroyer cruiser, or gunboat making the highest final merit at the short range battle practice, $200.00. (3) The crew of the submarine making the highest final merit with torpedoes for the year, $400.00. This will give each winning crew approximately $12.00 per man. In case the fund amounts to another sum, it is suggested that proportions be approximately the same as given above. The award will be made by the final records and determined by the Director of Gunnery Exercises and Engineering Competition, and the prizes will be issued with appropriate ceremony on board ship by the commanding officers." Referring to the foregoing letter Ogden Reid, president of the New York Tribune, writes the Telegraph as follows: "You will find enclosed a photograph copy of a letter from Joseph Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, which opens up a way for the disposal of the Marjorie Sterrett Battleship Fund, for which your paper received contributions. The plan, in brief, is to give the interest on the fund as an annual prize for battle efficiency in the navy. 200,000 Contributors The number of contributors to the fund throughout the country is now nearly 200,000 and the total in money approaches $24,000. While subscriptions continue to come in to the Tribune and to a number of the other papers interested, despite the fact that no active campaign has been waged for several months, it seems only fair to those who gave when the call was still fresh that some definite announcement should be made as to the disposition of the money. Sergeant Sterrett, of the Marine Corps, father of the Brooklyn school-girl, whose letter started the movement, suggested the idea of the annual prize. Mr. William F. Keohan, of the Tribune staff, transmitted it to Secretary Daniels, who immediately approved and instructed the proper officials to draw up a schedule of distribution, which we present herewith. Secretary Daniels has from

ANNIVERSARY OF GEN. GRANT'S DEATH BRINGS RELICS TO LIGHT

Harrisburg Man Has Letter From Stephen Merritt and Drapery From Funeral Car

This week's anniversary of the death of General U. S. Grant, in New York City, brings to light an interesting relic and letter pertaining to the passing and funeral of the great warrior and former President. Wesley Fisher, a prominent merchant of Allison Hill, has in his possession a letter written him by his friend, Stephen Merritt, the undertaker who had charge of the Grant obsequies, enclosing a piece of the black drapings from the funeral car that carried the body of the famous chief to its last resting place on Riverside Drive. The letter bears the address of Stephen Merritt, 8th Avenue and 1st street, New York, and the date August 13, and is as follows: Mr. Wesley Fisher, Esq., Harrisburg, Pa. My dear sir: Enclosed please find portion of the drapery used on the funeral car of General U. S. Grant, which conveyed his body to its last resting place on Saturday, August 8, 1885. Very Truly, Stephen Merritt. The letter was written before the days when businessmen entrusted such matters to typewriters and is in the faded black ink of the time, so yellow with age that its reproduction by an engraver is impossible. Mr. Fisher sets almost as much store by the letter as he does the relic. He is a great admirer of Merritt, and delights in recalling one instance in particular of his many good works. The story runs like this: One day a stranger entered the office of Merritt, and asked the kind-hearted man what he could do to free himself from the drink habit. Mr. Merritt looked the man over and his heart was touched by the wretched appearance of the beggar. He spoke words of hope and good cheer to him. More than that, he handed him a $5 bill with the suggestion that he wash, dine return to Merritt's office, when he would place $500 to his credit in bank with which he should clothe himself and embark again in business. The stranger went with thankfulness and promised reformation. He was true to his word and the outcome was that John G. Wooley, afterward one of the greatest temperance workers in the country and candidate for President on the Prohibition ticket, was saved from a life of intemperance to become a power in the world for sobriety and righteousness.

PAPER MAKERS AT WIT'S END

is only the hustling dealer who can promise prompt deliveries. Quotations count for nothing. In many instances none is made. Nobody in New England is taking contracts now for more than about two months, where formerly they would bind themselves for two to three years. Wrapping paper has gone up from 3.44c a year ago to 8.50c this week; lithograph paper for labels has advanced from 5.10c to 9 per pound; music coated paper from 4c to 9c; No. 1 enamel from 6.5c to 10c. All the bond papers are up 50 to 75 per cent. over the price of a year ago, and the prices on all grades are still stiffening. John A. Andrew, secretary of the Boston Paper Trade Association predicts that they will advance to 100 per cent. before September 1, and he says that prices will never return to within 20 per cent. of the quotations before the European war, partly because of the advance in the cost of labor. The market is ready to take every scrap of paper as quickly as it comes from the mill, without much regard for quality or price. Many of the dealers have called in their salesmen because they can sell over the counter all the paper they are able to obtain from the mills, while there are some dealers who keep salesmen in the field merely to educate their customers, keeping them in actual touch with market conditions. When conditions become as phenomenal as they are to-day the customers are inclined to become skeptical, suspect manipulation by makers and dealers and fan into flame any move for "trust busting" investigations. Salesmen, though not needed at the present moment to drum up trade, can serve a good purpose by keeping their customers informed of the real difficulties in getting the supplies and helping them when in danger of running short of stock, and when the crest of the wave begins to recede toward the normal competitive basis they are firm friends.

AN OLD PROVERB

It used to be proverbial that every man (and it is certainly no less true of woman) is either a fool or a physician. This means that every intelligent person must learn so much about caring for his own health that by the time he is forty years of age he can almost be reckoned as a physician. Why, then, is there so much talk by doctors against "self-medication"? A woman can recognize all ordinary ailments without calling on a doctor. If they are ailments distinctive to her sex she generally knows enough to use that greatest of all remedies for such ailments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and likewise she is familiar with the standard remedies for other diseases.

opposition party. The position of the Nationalists, moreover, is anomalous. Discontent in Ireland over the government's dealings with the insurrection has become so widespread, according to all reports that the Nationalists have lost the confidence of their constituents and probably would be repudiated if they stood for re-election to-day. The Daily News reports that David Lloyd George, in view of the failure of the Irish negotiations in which he was the chief agent offered to resign his office.

HOW TO BE RID OF DISGUSTING DANDRUFF

The only way to be permanently rid of disgusting, untidy dandruff is to correct its cause. Washing merely cleanses the scalp for a few days, and soon the scales form again as thick as ever. To destroy the dandruff germ and get rid of dandruff for good, part the hair and apply a little of the genuine Parisian Sage directly on the bare scalp, and rub in with the finger tips for a few minutes, until the scalp absorbs it. Go over the entire head in this same manner. A few days' massage with Parisian Sage will destroy the germs that cause the dandruff to form. The scalp becomes healthy, the hair will grow better and show more life and vitality, and you need never be troubled by dandruff again. Faded, dull or lifeless hair is quickly restored to beauty by this simple process, which is absolutely harmless to hair and scalp, as it contains no poisonous wood alcohol and will not stain the hair or make it greasy. Parisian Sage can be obtained from H. C. Kennedy and druggists everywhere. It is not expensive.—Adv.

THERE was never anything erratic in the leadership of Gen. Hartranft. It was this trait of dependability and sound judgment that made him the successful soldier and leader he was. There is nothing erratic about the quality of the nickel cigar that bears his name. Its quality is regular and always to be depended upon for a satisfying smoke.

CIGAR 5c CIGAR

Breathes Air of Hyomei Through Pocket Inhaler To Cure Catarrh.

Catarrh Sufferers Should Try This New Method. Often Succeeds Where All Else Fails and Costs Nothing Unless It Succeeds. Leading druggists are rapidly securing local agencies for a clever pocket inhaling device that is being widely and successfully used in the treatment of catarrh of the nose and throat, asthma, hay-fever, bronchitis, croup, etc. This little inhaler, which is made of hard black rubber, is packed with antiseptic gauze into which is poured a few drops of the pure oil of Hyomei which the gauze quickly absorbs. Then by placing the inhaler in the mouth as shown in the illustration and just above the nose, the user is drawing into his throat, lungs, air passages and head the full force of one of the most powerful antiseptic and germ-killing liquids ever discovered. This powerful but pleasant medicated air penetrates into every nook and corner of the raw, sore, inflamed surfaces, destroys all the catarrhal germ life, soothes and heals the swollen membranes and quickly opens the clogged and stuffed-up air passages. Catarrh goes quickly never to return where the inhaler is used with Hyomei for a few minutes four or five times daily and H. C. Kennedy and other local druggists are so certain of the results that they are furnishing the complete treatment — the inhaler and a bottle of oil of Hyomei to their customers with the distinct guarantee that unless it gives prompt and certain relief the money paid for it will be refunded.
