ISSUE WHITE BOOK ON BARALONG CASE

Germans Say They Will Use Zeppelins in Reprisal For Deaths

Berlin, Aug. 16.—The government has transmitted to the Reichstag a White Book in regard to the case of the British patrolboat Baralong, members of whose crew are reported to have killed Germans from a submarine sunk by the British a year ago. The White Book contains official German and British documents. The final report, according to a statement given out to-day by the Overseas News Agency, says: "The German government, replying to the declarations of the British government in regard to the German memorandum of January 19, 1915, on the Baralong case (in which Germany rejected the British proposals to submit the case to a neutral board) said it had decided in the face of the British government's attitude, that it was impossible to continue negotiations. At the same time the government then announced it would take reprisals of a nature corresponding with the provocation, adding: "Of course the government has declined to respond to the crimes committed by the British seamen by carrying out similar reprisals; for instance, the shooting of British prisoners of war. But German airships will convince the English people that Germany has the means of preventing from going unatoned the cruelties of the officers and crew of the Baralong."

The German reply points out that formerly particular consideration was given, in employing Zeppelins for military purposes, to the civilian population, although there was unavoidable danger to civilians, but said that in view of the Baralong incident a different attitude would be adopted. The government's purpose is quoted as follows, by this news agency: "Airships will be used against English within the limits of the law of nations, without any other regard. Every airship which throws destructive bombs on London or other defended towns or on towns which contain establishments of a military character shall cause England to remember the Baralong case."

SECOND GREENLAND FOUND IN FAR NORTH

was under the command of Captain Sweeney, who joined the expedition while it was in Arcangels. The entire party was in good physical condition and expressed themselves as having enjoyed their long experience in the Arctic, despite the many hardships encountered in a land so remote from civilization.

In Least Known Section of Earth Most of the time since the Spring of 1914 the party has been in quarters at Bernard Harbor, east of the Mackenzie river, one of the least known sections of the habitable earth.

The last of the party to see Stefansson was the photographer, Wilkins, who was one of those who departed from the ill-fated Karluk shortly before it was caught in the grip of the northern ice in the winter of 1914 and later crushed near Herald Islands. Wilkins was with Stefansson last winter, having rejoined him last year. After spending some time with the Stefansson party, Wilkins made the trip over the ice to Coronation Gulf and joined the Anderson party.

Most of the scientific work of the expedition has been carried by this branch party. Stefansson and Ole Anderson, the explorer traced about two hundred miles of its shore line, and found high mountains upon it. Mr. Wilkins says that it was Stefansson's intention to return to the new land last Spring to continue the work of exploration.

A Second Greenland Mr. Wilkins learned from Stefansson that the new land which the explorer discovered may be described as a second Greenland. Up to the time that Stefansson left the new land, after his memorable trip across the Frozen Sea with Storke S. Storke and Ole Anderson, the explorer traced about two hundred miles of its shore line, and found high mountains upon it.

The Alaska brings about thirty tons of specimens gathered during the years spent in the north, in addition to a mass of data of great value from a scientific viewpoint. They have the unadvised and will later be shipped to Ottawa where the final results of the expedition will be completed. Most of the Alaska party will proceed to the States, but Dr. Anderson may return north to continue his investigations.

USING UP VITALITY

The struggle for success uses up vitality in America at a greater rate than any other thing. Fighting to keep away from the poor-house we shorten the distance to the grave. Especially in middle age, at forty or thereabouts, do we become impressed with the necessity of laying up a competence and with that feeling in time comes worry, nervous breakdown, neurasthenia. The entire system feels the result of the nervous strain. The digestion resents things that it accepted before, the heart palpitates on slight exertion, the muscles of the back ache after a day's work. Your blood is thinner and not so bright a red. When these things occur, whether you are fourteen or forty, you need a tonic. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills suit most people's need because they are non-alcoholic and they really build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. They are useful for growing children and for men and women whose nervous energy has been overtaxed. Your druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Baby Covered With Sores

Physician said Perfumed Powders Caused It. Healed by

"I am sending you a picture of my little niece, Edith White. When only ten days old she was completely covered with little festers or sores and our physician said it was caused by a perfumed powder they were using and told them to stop using this powder and use Comfort Powder, which we did. It quickly healed the sores and her skin does not show a blemish. I have been a nurse for a number of years and can highly recommend Sykes' Comfort Powder."

Margaret E. Farley, Lowell, Mass. Not a plain talcum powder, but a highly medicated preparation unequalled for nursing and sickroom uses, to heal and prevent chafing, itching, all skin sores. At Drug and Dept. Stores, 25c. THE COMFORT POWDER CO., Boston, Mass.

$11,500,000 SPENT ON POOR ROADS

the only permanent part of which maintenance is the construction of culverts and small bridges. The State Highway Department in 1916 is spending $3,000,000. The commissioners of Pennsylvania's sixty-seven counties are spending $2,500,000 for roads in 1916. In one year, according to these figures, the different road maintaining units spent $11,500,000. In four years they spent almost the same sum of money for which it was proposed several years ago to bond Pennsylvania for road purposes. Of the State Highway Department's $3,000,000 for 1916 only $400,000 could be put into new permanent construction, so great were the demands on the appropriation because the department must maintain 10,200 miles of highway added upon it by the Legislature of 1911 and 1913.

In ten years at the present rate, according to figures given the postmasters, Pennsylvania will spend on mere "maintenance" a sum of money sufficient to build 6,763 miles of 16-foot concrete road at $17,000 a mile, or 5,750 miles of 16-foot brick highway at $20,000 a mile. These figures do not include the $25,000,000 spent in the same period by the county commissioners, nor the several millions spent by the boroughs of Pennsylvania. The statement was made by the William Penn secretary that some of Pennsylvania's worst roads are within the limits of boroughs. Of 1,004 miles of main highway within the boroughs 378 miles are absolutely unimproved, 507 are hard surfaced, and the balance are of shale, cinder or gravel.

The ninth annual convention of the third and fourth class postmasters was opened in the tabernacle of the Methodist Episcopal congregation with an invocation by the Rev. J. H. Daugherty, pastor of that church. Prof. I. C. M. Ellenberger, principal of the city schools, made the address of welcome.

Postmaster H. L. Purdy, of this city, responded to Prof. Ellenberger's address of welcome and wished the postmasters success in their work. State President J. S. Wertz, of Washington Borough, made the annual presidential address. State Secretary Dr. Charles B. Lewis read his annual report, which showed an increase of 1000 per cent. in the membership since the convention in 1915 at Lancaster. Papers were read and suggestions for discussions were made by State Assistant Secretary C. T. Nixdorf and Postmasters John G. Mendos and C. A. Benner.

Soldiers' Orphans to Hold Annual Reunion Here

George W. Givler of Tyrone, secretary of the Society of the McAlisterville Soldiers' Orphan School, is sending out the announcement of the ninth annual reunion of the students of the McAlisterville school, which will be held in this city, August 23, 24 and 25. The students of this famous school, which accomplished a remarkable work for soldiers' orphans in the quarter century from 1864 to 1889, are intensely loyal to the institution, and they gather in large numbers each year. Francis A. Fry of Newport is president of the graduate association.

On the same dates in this city students of the soldiers' orphan schools of the State will gather in the second annual reunion of the Pennsylvania Sixteens. The morning of the first day will be devoted to registration and renewing acquaintanceships. In the afternoon the McAlisterville students will hold their business meeting in a local hall, and the White Hall students will have a meeting and entertainment at Camp Hill. In the evening there will be a general get-together meeting.

The second day will be given to the business sessions of the Sixteens' convention. In the evening there will be a banquet given under the auspices of the Central Pennsylvania Sixteens. On the third day the Curtin memorial, in honor of the Pennsylvania's war governor, will be decorated by the orphan-students to "Our fathers and mothers." Much interest is attached to this ceremony.
