URGES COMMISSION TO CONSIDER DISPUTES

Crucial Stage To-morrow. Definite assurance that the threatened general railway strike would be averted was not apparent this morning, but it was reported that President Wilson had obtained from the managers a qualified concession of the eight-hour day principle on which further negotiations might be conducted. It was the third day of the conferences and indications were that the crucial stage would not be reached before to-morrow, when 640 additional employee representatives will be here.

WANT RAILWAYS STOCK INQUIRY

Quinn Wants Fare to Rockville Reduced; to File Petition Soon

Charles F. Quinn, secretary of the State Federation of Labor, announced to-day that he will ask the Public Service Commission within the next few days to investigate and determine the actual value of the Harrisburg Railways Company stock issue, and to demand that the company reduce its fare to Rockville to 5 cents. Other similar fare reductions will probably be asked, Secretary Quinn said. Recently he declared in a statement that the Railways company carried "watered" stock.

Ten Strikers Given Hearing Before Alderman Deshong

Ten of the striking carmen arrested on charges of being implicated in the attack on a Third street car, at Third and State streets, last Wednesday night, were given hearings this afternoon before Alderman James B. Deshong.

Yesterday afternoon Herman Long, charged with operating a jitney without a license, was fined $5 and costs. The case will be appealed. Other hearings of men arrested on charges of driving jitneys without licenses were held this afternoon.

John J. Thorpe, strike leader and organizer of the carmen, in a statement thoroughly rapped the city officials. He again appealed to people not to ride on the cars, and extended an invitation to workers, desiring to organize, to send their names to J. A. Roach, organizer American Federation of Labor, care of Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, rear Commonwealth Trust building.

Employees indicate they have declined this proposal before and decline to accept it unless it is put in definite form by the railroads.

Arbitration of all issues had been rejected flatly. Speculative efforts are being made to ascertain the opinion of both sides on the kind of a commission which would inquire into the collection of the eight-hour day principle, providing the railroad brotherhoods demand for time and a half pay for overtime work and other collateral issues be investigated thoroughly by the Interstate Commerce Commission or some other body.

Men Accept Invitation. The invitation of the President to the 640 general railroad employees to meet him in Washington to consider his proposals for settlement of the threatened rail strike was accepted by the men here to-day, an announcement made that they would leave early this afternoon on special trains for the National Capital.

President Wilson's invitation was conveyed to the men by W. S. Carter, head of the firemen's brotherhood, who addressed them at a fully attended meeting.

No organization can afford to ignore an invitation from the President of the United States, were the words used by the man who moved to accept the invitation and the motion was carried unanimously.

The engineers and conductors were to leave over the Baltimore and Ohio soon after 1 o'clock and the firemen and trainmen over the Pennsylvania at about the same time.

Mr. Carter said he had not been authorized to disclose the nature of the President's proposals to the men, but it having been understood that the President himself should be the first to lay his plan before them. It was understood here that the meeting with the President was to take place to-morrow afternoon.

visit was kept a secret and there was no display or big review as on the occasion of his visit last Fall. The King simply went about seeing all sections of the army at work and the fields it had won. The butter of a bit of bunting bearing the royal coat of arms as a motor car sped along the road in clouds of dust and motortruck drivers and passing battalions started and looked around, exclaiming "The King."

The Prince of Wales was with the King in the train. Neither wore any decorations and but for their features, which were immediately recognized everywhere, they might have been taken for two of a party of officers on an inspection.

Czar Paves Way For Swarm Into Hungary by Taking Jablonitz. London, Aug. 15.—The Russian advance in Galicia is continuing at the average rate of two or three miles a day along the whole 100-mile front. In the Sereth region and west of Upper Stripa Sakharoff is pressing forward with greater rapidity than before the Stripa line fell to the Russians.

The offensive of Letchitzky, on both sides of the Dniester, is developing swiftly. It has extended now both to the north and south. The mile the Ziotta Lipa line is falling into Russian hands and Von Bothmer's weakened army, not yet free from the peril to which it was exposed by its long delay, retired desperately to stave off flank and rear assaults and prevent the capture of masses of troops.

Letchitzky's extreme left wing has swung southward and struck a terrific blow at the smaller part of Pfanner's army, cut off from the main group by the Russian cavalry and the Russian outposts of the Jablonitz Pass, for weeks the scene of desperate fighting.

The most important of the southeast gateways to the Hungarian plains, had never before fell entirely into the hands of the Czar's troops. Several times cavalry detachments have penetrated into the mountains and cleared out the enemy's positions, but counter attacks were inevitably successful in driving them out. The Russians are now in sufficient force in this region, it is believed, to hold the pass and begin a drive in Maramarossziget, the first position of importance on the mountain that pierces the mountain wall at Jablonitz on its way from Kolomea to the heart of Hungary.

Two other towns fell to the Russians in this section, and Pfanner's army was further weakened by the capture of about 1,500 men.

MRS. KEINER GETS 36 DAY PAROLE. [Continued From First Page] family of Sunbury, Pa. She is 42 years old and boards with her husband at the home of Mrs. William Burns in New Cumberland.

On July 29 Mr. Keiner suggested to his wife that she take a motor trip with Mrs. Burns to see the latter's niece in the Carlisle hospital. She left in an automobile with a chauffeur and Mrs. Burns.

Instead of going to the Carlisle Hospital, as Mrs. Keiner had planned, she drew up in front of the county hospital for the insane, outside of Carlisle. Mrs. Burns left the car and went into the hospital.

"I have this woman out here in the automobile," she told Steward Frehn. "The chauffeur will bring her in."

Mrs. Keiner and the chauffeur followed her into the hospital. Then the door slammed. Mrs. Burns and the chauffeur left the building by another way and drove away.

Says Woman Is Sane. Immediately Mrs. Keiner wrote a note to her husband asking for an explanation. Doctor Ruch, the nurse at the hospital, Steward Frehn, the entire board of poor directors and all the attendants had had her under careful observation ever since.

that the commission heard two witnesses, William Emery and Thomas Ogletong. Their testimony is not given in the commitment.

Mr. Keiner, the husband, was notified at noon to-day of Judge Sadler's action by Attorney G. H. Reif, of New Cumberland, who, with Philip S. Moyer of Harrisburg, have been retained by Mr. Keiner as his counsel.

"When asked if he had anything to say, the husband said: "I have been advised by my attorneys to make no statement at this time. I acted under instructions of my physicians and attorneys. A commission was appointed, and a report made to the Cumberland county court. My wife was sent to the institution at Carlisle by an order of the court. If she is sane, she will certainly not keep her there. What my future course will be I cannot say. It is private matter and should not have any publicity, and I assure you I will not say anything until I am told to do so. If my wife is insane then I will provide treatment for her and do everything the law requires. If she is sane, I will take her to the court to say what I shall do."

Mrs. Burns, of New Cumberland, who has been mentioned in the case said, when seen: "I do not want my name published in the newspapers. I am respected in this community and do not wish to be mixed up in anything like this. If there is any statement to make, Mr. Keiner will do the talking. I will not say anything."

"Do you think Mrs. Keiner is insane?" was asked Mrs. Burns. "Time will tell; you won't get me to say anything about her now," was the answer.

"Were you authorized to take Mrs. Keiner to the Insane Hospital at Carlisle?" was another question asked Mrs. Burns. "I have nothing to tell you, I said, and I will not talk about this case," she replied.

When asked how long Mrs. Keiner was at her home, Mrs. Burns said: "Mr. and Mrs. Keiner came here in March and went to the rooms. The wife came from Philadelphia. Her home is in Sunbury, I am told. I did not pry into their private matters. They paid me the rent for the room. It was a very nice room, and I went to consult with Mrs. Keiner, as I went to know anything about that trip see Mr. Keiner. My conscience is clear and I will have nothing to worry about. I will tell whether I acted right, and whether Mrs. Keiner has been treated unjustly. I can give you no information regarding Mr. and Mrs. Keiner's troubles. He must tell you everything."
