

COCKILL COACH AT BUCKNELL--FANS WANT HIM BACK--WALTER CAMP AT YALE

COCKILL AGAIN BUCKNELL COACH

To Keep in Touch With Baseball Conditions; Changes in Managers Next Season

Manager George Cockill will again coach the Bucknell baseball squad. He will also keep in touch with the baseball conditions on the Farrell circuit. Along with the changes next season will come several new managers. Red Calhoun has quit Binghamton. There is some talk of putting him in Reading. Bill Coughlin will remain at Scranton, but it is said there will be a new manager for Wilkes-Barre.

Local fans will not agree to anything but Cockill and Blair for next season's leaders. This pair has the confidence of the local supporters, and as the season started late and with a tail wind, it is the belief that they will have a profitable season next year. A dispatch from Binghamton to-day says:

Thomas for Binghamton

"With the surprising announcement of O. J. Johnson, millionaire owner of the Binghamton team of the New York State League, to the effect that he did not intend to retain John Calhoun as leader of the Binghamton team for next year came the report that Ira Thomas, one of Connie Mack's lieutenants, will be chosen to lead the team. Thomas has already been engaged to coach the Williams College team for the next five years.

"Mack recently paid a visit to Binghamton and had a long conference with Johnson, as the result of which it is said the two men came to an agreement whereby the Binghamton club will be a farm for the Athletics next year. Johnson said the other day that he did not want a manager who was bent on winning pennants. The kind of a leader he desired was one who would devote most of his time and energy to developing young players."

"Kid" Williams Winner in Bout With Joe O'Donnell

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—"Kid" Williams, bantamweight dictator of the world, outclassed Knockout Joe O'Donnell, of Gloucester, N. J., in six rounds at the Olympia A. A. last night. To say the Jersey lad was outclassed is stating it mildly. Only his remarkable courage kept him on his feet through to the end of the sixth round.

After the second session he never had a chance with the little blonde title holder. The Baltimore lad slammed O'Donnell with rights and lefts, first to the head and then to the body.

At the finish Joe was bleeding from the mouth and nose. His eyes and nose were battered. He was all in at the finish and couldn't possibly have gone much further.

Football Punts

Central starts to-morrow. Coach Pendergast, of Tech, has a busy squad.

Tech candidates had an hour at fall on the ball practice. Coaches Smith and Harris, of Central, promise some new things this season.

The weather is ideal for football practice late in the afternoon. West End A. C. will be in the field this year with a strong amateur eleven.

Coach Taggart will have a promising squad this year notwithstanding last Fall's announcements. Steelton High will be in evidence as usual.

Frank Lawley will manage the Susquehanna eleven of Millersburg. Four new men appeared yesterday in the Lehigh line-up—Johnson, formerly of Ohio Northern; J. M. Straub, of Cannonsburg; T. W. Straub, of Baltimore, and Quits, an end.

There is a rumor that Ducky Yates will make another entry into Yale.

Rutgers has a negro linesman who combines vast physical prowess with rare scholastic ability. Syracuse scribes say that Bill Hollenback is making the fur fur among the Orange gridiron candidates these days.

Whitely Thomas, a Penn State star, will enter Pennsylvania this Fall. He has still one more year of football eligibility.

Dr. Jones has installed all sorts of mechanical appliances at Yale Field. There are automatic tackling dummies, recording forward pass targets, etc.

The ideal forward pass target would be of the moving variety.

Yale Pageant Makes Visit to New York in Paper Boxes

Wrapped in huge paper covered boxes, tied up with miles of string and guarded over by a vigilant sentinel, a portion of the great Yale Pageant visited New York one day last week. New York at large was unaware of the presence of history in its midst, but at the photographers' there was much excitement as medieval ladies in gorgeous hued gowns and helmets nearly four yards across balanced on their heads moved stately and proud, like princess' of old.

The gowns were brought to New York by Mrs. Dennis Clough, Mistress of Robes of the Pageant, to have them officially photographed. They were worn by no ordinary models, these gowns of an ancient princess, but were donned for the occasion by some of the most illustrious stars of the theatrical and motion picture world.

The costume of the Lady Margaret Ionkyn, the most notable figure in the Pageant, was posed in by Gladys Hanson, Virginia Hammond, leading woman for E. N. Sothern, was a "peacock lady" in a gown with a train 42 yards long, while three of the most notable stars of the movie firmament, Claire Whitney, June Clyde and a Valentine Grant were gorgeous "gold ladies."

Giants Trim Phillies; Boston Braves Gain

By defeating the Phils the fourth straight time yesterday the Giants prevented the Morans from creeping within a half game of the pacemaking Robins, who were tripped by the Boston Braves. The champions are still a game and a half in the rear of Brooklyn. In emerging from their long losing streak the Braves gained a full game on the two teams ahead of them. In this morning's two games behind the Phils and three and a half boxscores from the leaders.

The scenes shift to-day, with the Westerners invading the Eastern ball parks. The Phils open a series with the St. Louis Cards, the Braves meet Chicago in a twin bill and Brooklyn crosses bats with Pittsburgh. Winning of the three leaders this morning:

W. L. P. C.
Brooklyn 77 52 597
Phillies 75 53 586
Boston 72 54 571
Detroit turns the tables on Cleveland winning 9 to 1. Daus was a puzzle throughout, while Boehling and Gould were hit hard. Penner, a recruit from Marshalltown, Ia., did the best work of Cleveland's four pitchers.

Hellman, who substituted at first base for Detroit, made three singles, a double and a triple in five times at bat.

CAMP IS ACTIVE WITH YALE TEAM

Anxious to Bring Eli's Back to Winning Stride; Big Squad at Work

Special to the Telegraph
New Haven, Sept. 12.—"Can Yale come back under its new gridiron administration?" This is a question interesting every Yale undergraduate and alumnus at the present time. Certain it is the Elis will be watched closer this year than ever before, mainly because Walter Camp, father of Yale football, member of the rules committee and the man responsible more than any one person for the present open game, is back in coaching harness again. Mr. Camp is chief adviser in everything football at Yale, and his presence as such should go a long way toward reestablishing the sport on a firm basis again in New Haven.

Tad Jones, too As for the active coaching force on hand, Yale football this year will be in good hands. Tad Jones, one of the Blue's best quarterbacks, is here as head coach, and he has as his assistants Olcott, the end; Brides, Marting, Dr. Bull and "Mike" Sweeney.

Captain "Cuppl" Black, one of the most aggressive leaders Yale has ever had, will be surrounded by a fine squad, one of the most likely to report for practice in several years. They are:

One Big Squad

Hutchinson, the fullback; Galt, Kirkpatrick, Braden, Callahan and Saunders, all crackback football players who will likely be eligible this year. Then there are "Bill" Robinson, the quarter on the great Pittsburgh gridiron regatta for two years ago; "Charlie" Taft, son of the one-time President of the United States; Baidridge, Sheldon, Waite, Van Nostrand, Neville, Lynch, Winter, Smith, Gates, Sperry, Oriant, Vays, Stewart, Jacques, Thebold, Carson, Woods, Metcalf, Thomas and Backus and last but not greatest of all, Harry W. Legore, expected to prove this year to be one of the greatest backs that ever represented Yale.

PENN PLAYERS GET BUSY

Special to the Telegraph
Langhorne, Pa., Sept. 12.—The lid's off! The Penn football players are at it again.

The new coach, Bob Fellwell, drove through the opening practice of the season here this afternoon, the Red and Blue aspirants prancing around in light green and gray for two hours. The usual early season stunts were gone through, but they were done in an unusual way, for the new director of Penn football kept his men with their noses to the grindstone throughout the entire practice. Passing and falling on the ball, punting, catching and charging was the order of the day.

POTTSVILLE MEN IN CITY TONIGHT

80 Members of Merchants' Association Will Be C. of C. Guests

Eighty members of the Pottsville Merchants Association will arrive in Harrisburg at 7 o'clock this evening to be guests of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce. Charles W. Burnett and John S. Musser are chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the Chamber's committee.

The Pottsville visitors are due to arrive in motor cars from Sunbury. They will park their cars in Market Square all night and use the Bolton House for headquarters. The Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce reception committee will take dinner with the Pottsville visitors and welcome them to Harrisburg. After dinner the visitors will be escorted to the State Capitol, which will be illuminated in honor of the Pottsville party and the State's weights and measures, the State coroner and the State postmaster's conventions.

To-morrow morning the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce will furnish pilot cars to show the Pottsville visitors the street and park system of Harrisburg, after which they will depart for Reading. The members of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce reception committee are C. W. Burnett, chairman, John S. Musser, vice-chairman, I. H. Douthett, William H. Bennethum, Jr., Ralph W. Dowdell, C. C. Crispin, George H. Jeffers, Patrick Driscoll, Samuel Rambo, D. L. M. Raker, Fred Rowe, W. M. Robison, Herman Tausig, Shirley Watts and Troy B. Wildermuth.

"Bill" Killefer Is Out With Broken Right Wrist

Special to the Telegraph
New York Sept. 12.—It was bad enough for Pat Moran to lose four straight games here to the Giants and the advantage he gained by beating the Dodgers and Braves, but it was like adding salt to a freshly cut wound when to-day he found that "Bill" Killefer would probably be out of harness for several days if not the season with a broken bone in his right wrist.

Killefer, in tagging Heiney Zimmerman out at the plate when the ex-Cub tried to steal home in the first inning, Saturday, gave himself something of a snap in his wrist, but not feeling any pain nor experiencing any trouble in throwing, did not pay any attention to it. His wrist did not bother him on Sunday but yesterday when he went to the Polo grounds and tried to throw a ball he found he could only do so by suffering excruciating pain. He tried several times to throw, after having the wrist massaged, but each time he had to give up and finally had to doff his uniform and keep out of the game.

He is to undergo an X-ray examination and if a bone is broken it will be a severe blow to the Phils. Last year yesterday, for the present and until the lower field is resodded practices will take place on the upper field. There were four new men out in tonight's game to-day. Quist, formerly of Ohio Northern, a tackle; J. M. Straub, of Cannonsburg, and T. W. Straub, of Baltimore, Md., both backfield. Among the veterans were Tate, Richards and Pons.

BATES TO PLEAD GUILTY

Clarence Bates, the Lebanon business man who on Thursday drove the car which crashed into and killed George Donahue, will go today to the Dauphin county courts Monday morning and plead guilty to a charge of unlawful manslaughter. Bates' attorney called at the district attorney's office early this afternoon and made known the intention of his client.

TREMONT VICTORY BOOSTS LEADERS

Lykens Loses Close Game; Cockill Is Star Twirler, Fanning 12 Men

Special to the Telegraph
Tremont Pa., Sept. 12.—Williams-town's right to this season's pennant in the Dauphin-Schuykill League was clinched yesterday. Tremont defeated Lykens in a pitching duel, score 6 to 5. The leaders have two more games to play and cannot be ousted. Cockill pitched a great game, fanning twelve men. The score:

GILL LOST TO PENN STATE

Special to the Telegraph
State College, Pa., Sept. 12.—Word has come to Penn State's football training quarters that Joe Gill, regarded favorably for a varsity berth this season, will be unable to continue the gridiron sport because of parental objections. For two years Head Coach Harlow has groomed Gill for the right guard position to succeed McDowell, who was graduated in June. With the arrival of O'Donnell, Thorpe, Painter, Conover and a batch of freshman material, the training table squad now numbers more than sixty candidates. Field Coach Bud Whitney has squaded.

LEHIGH ARRIVED AT WORK

Special to the Telegraph
South Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 12.—With Resident Coach Keady and "Boss" Reiter on hand, together with about 15 candidates, Lehigh University football season got under way yesterday. Coach Harlow has groomed Gill for the right guard position to succeed McDowell, who was graduated in June. With the arrival of O'Donnell, Thorpe, Painter, Conover and a batch of freshman material, the training table squad now numbers more than sixty candidates. Field Coach Bud Whitney has squaded.

In addition to the regular program, at the Colonial to-day, pictures of the Elis' parade at Reading. Pictures of showing the Harrisburg Elks' Parade Lodge in the line-up, will at Colonial be shown. The feature attraction is "Hell-to-Pay Austin," a love drama of the great Northwest, with a human interest appeal that is irresistible. The story has to do with the boss of a lumber camp, who adopts a little orphan, whom she later reforms. Chas. Murray, an all-star Keystone cast, will be on the same program in a new two-reel Keystone comedy called "Pills of Peril." Wednesday and Thursday, William Fox will present June Caprice, his latest find. The name of the picture in which she is making her initial appearance, is called "Captive of the Mountains." A delightful love drama, staged in a manner most beautiful. Harry Hillard will play the opposite role. The sixth episode of the series will be shown at the Colonial to-day.

WELLY'S CORNER

The annual Fall tennis tournament of the Colonial Country Club starts Saturday. Entries to date number 40. Winners will receive prizes and there will be a trophy for the runners-up.

"Ike" McCord is just planning for the season's basketball offering. He will again have a strong five and it is expected that all Eastern and Central League teams will play here this season.

Members of the Reservoir Park Tennis Club will meet Friday night to elect officers and adopt a constitution and rules. The meeting will be held in the office of the Park Commissioner in the Calder building.

Elmira has signed up Joe Byrne, a third sacker, who succeeded J. Franklin Baker, of the Upland club. Byrne is said to be a fast man and a good sticker.

AMUSEMENTS

"Katinka" comes to the Orpheum to-morrow, matinee and night. It is a musical comedy of comic-opera style introduced into America by the American Viennese operetta, but of a standard of excellence little below that of the light grand operas. The plot of "Katinka" is so arranged as to carry the personages through three scenes of widely-varying picturesqueness. The story opens in Russia, just before the present war, then jumps to Turkey, and winds up in Vienna, a course impossible of pursuit in the present state of these belligerent localities. Seats are now on sale.

"The Yoke," dramatized from Hubert White's book by Charles M. Jeffell, and the revised by Frank Hatch, is announced for an engagement at the Orpheum, Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee. The theme is a problem of to-day. It is said to excel in the clever-cut mastery of mystery, love and laughter, and it's especially interesting to ladies.

Selwyn and Company will bring their greatest success, "Fair and Warmer," to the Orpheum beginning next Tuesday, with a matinee Wednesday. This is the farce of Avery Hopwood, which took New York by the ears for a run of one year at the Eltinge Theater, and which broke all the popularity records along Broadway. "Fair and Warmer" sold out steadily for six months and has the distinct honor of making even more money than "Within the Law" had done, though "Within the Law" was the Eltinge Theater champion.

Toots Paka and her Hawaiian native singers and instrumentalists carries off the honors, closely followed by every other act on the bill. Toots herself could sing and also dance—the "hula hula tangi," and her accompanists with their strumming ukuleles played the familiar Hawaiian melodies for repeated encores. "On the Beach at Waikiki" proved especially popular. "Sassy Little" and "Jonathan Boston Beans," a little fluffy-haired imp and a sedate bespectacled youngster, afforded plenty of entertainment, and two girls sang and danced to a responsive audience. Ireland and England were contrasted in a clever detective sketch, and a harp and violin, manned by skilled players, hurried times till the house was all chuckled out. It was a good bill.

WELLY'S CORNER

The Phillies are in hard luck. Losing four straight games to the Giants and then the services of their star catcher, Killifer, is a hard blow at this time. Fans who have been boosting for Philadelphia are in the dumps. It looks very much as if Pat Moran's chances are growing slim. However, the Philadelphia leader is a fighter and he is going to get back into the winning stride if possible and stay there.

Elmira has signed up Joe Byrne, a third sacker, who succeeded J. Franklin Baker, of the Upland club. Byrne is said to be a fast man and a good sticker.
