FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

AMAZING BUT RARELY SUSPECTED TRUTHS ABOUT THE THINGS YOU EAT

By ALFRED W. McCANN

The Appearance of a Squad of Professors at the National Capitol to Testify That Milk Containing 48,000,000 Bacteria Per C. C. Was Good Milk.

Scarcely a week had passed following Governor Glynn's discovery that his milk commission was engaged in an unholy purpose when its members appeared at Washington to defend a dealer accused of selling milk with a bacteria count of 48,000,000 per cubic centimeter.

less of type, either filthy or decomposed. "Bacteriological counts have little or no value for public health improvement. I consider Boston's limit of 500,000 ridiculous, and would consider a 1,000,000 limit in New York ridiculous; 48,000,000 bacteria in milk is not excessive.

"Any milk is legally salable in New York unless chemically adulterated. I work for many milk dealers in New York, and am supervising the new water supply for the city of New York. I have refused to draw conclusions from the presence of B. coli in that water."

proved astonishingly successful until March 18, 1914.

Fortunately through the alertness of Dr. S. S. Goldwater, commissioner of health of New York City, a hint of what was going on was obtained. The New York Milk Committee dispatched Dr. Charles E. North, secretary of the National Commission on Milk Standards, to the scene at once. I accompanied him. His presence in the courtroom stamped the Gregg defense.

A jurymen was "suddenly" taken ill, and although the health officials at Washington were willing to continue the trial with eleven jurymen, the milk men, on account of the interjection of Dr. North into the situation, refused to go on. When Gregg was arrested by the Washington authorities for selling filthy and decomposed milk with a bacteria count of 48,000,000, which is 480 times the maximum number permitted, it was decided to conduct his prosecution under the federal act in order to make the issue national in its scope.

in the employ of the enemies of milk containing low scores of bacteria, and chief engineer of many plans to prevent milk legislation.

Walter Jeffries Carlin, attorney for the National Ice Cream Dealers' Association, these experts filled the minds of the lay jury with such astonishing ideas that they are about to be reported here in order to show just how far bacteria standards are opposed by the milk industry. From the court stenographer's record of the trial the following excerpt indicates the character of the milk out of which the now famous Gregg case grew: "We found Gregg's milk to contain: 48,000,000 bacteria per c. c. 21,000 B. coli per c. c. 10,000 fermenting organisms per c. c. 100 streptococci per c. c. "B. coli are the organisms found in the intestines of all warm-blooded animals.

"Streptococci are the organisms found in the pus discharges of ulcerated sores. Streptococci have been proved to be the cause of septic sore throat, tonsillitis, and a host of secondary inflammations." "We shall now see how the experts treated these facts, so that we may obtain some adequate appreciation of the necessity of looking upon milk for what it is, friend or foe.

For instance, part of Christ's talks and His parables and the wonder of His work will fascinate any child. Some of the Psalms and child stories of the Old Testament delight growing boys and girls.

The Jack of Diamonds Means More to Him Than Life Itself A pal of Ring W. Lardner, newspaper correspondent, editor, and author of "You Know Me All" (the bushy baseball stories which appeared originally in the Post, and are now published in book form by the George H. Doran Company), relates the following anecdote apropos of Lardner's interest in cards: "In company with a group of famous Yale athletes, Lardner was on his way from New Haven to New York and deep in a game of pinochle when the New Haven pulled off one of its characteristic wrecks. Amidst hissing steam, shattered glass and the cries of women and children, the athletes sought egress through the nearest windows.

After half an hour or more of strenuous work with the injured, the group assembled, only to find Lardner missing. Back they went to the Pullman, Bomeister, the famous Yale end, muttering repeatedly, "Where the devil can he be? Where the devil can he be?" A voice suddenly answered from the innerds of the Pullman. "Here I am, but I can't find that damned Jack of Diamonds!" ANCIENT VS. MODERN WARFARE [From E. W. Howe's Monthly.] Hudson Maxim, in his book, "Defenseless America," says modern machinery for human destruction has resulted not in shorter wars, but in longer conflicts, fewer deaths and vastly greater expense. When men fought hand to hand in compact form, with short swords, spears and battle axes, there was usually one great engagement, and that settled it; easily ten times as many were slain in an old-time battle, number of men considered, as at present. If men must go to war, why prolong it, and greatly increase the expense? Why not get a decision as quickly as possible, and let the soldiers return to their neglected homes? Why commit the suffering and devastation to continue for years when months would suffice? At present it costs $15,000 to kill a man in war, as against $2.50 in the time of Hannibal. This difference is too much tribute to pay science and modernism. The Price & Teeple Automatic Music Tracking Device keeps the music in perfect track. Beautiful phrasing and shading effects are easily obtained, enabling the player to feature the musical expression of the world's greatest music masters. Yohn Bros. 8 North Market Square.—Adv.
