GAY MASQUERADE VETERAN GUARDS AT HOWARD HOME HAVE HAPPY DAY

Young Girls in Fancy Dress Enjoy Contests; Dancing and Buffet Supper

Interesting Church Organization Includes 35 Members Over Seventy Years

Miss Elizabeth Howard and Miss Winifred Snyder, of Chicago, issued clever little invitations ten days ago for a masquerade party held last evening at the Howard residence, 1007 North Second street. Decorations of yellow and tall candles brightened the rooms, and the guests all in fancy dress, enjoyed contests, dancing and a buffet supper. The favors were tiny kites with fortunes attached to the tails.
A feature of pleasure was the appearance of Professor Hello, of Ohio, a gifted musician and dancer whose mandolin numbers were much appreciated by the guests, some of whom also had the pleasure of dancing with him to Victrola music.

An interesting celebration was held yesterday in the Ridge Avenue Methodist Church when the second anniversary of the Veteran Guard, an association of thirty-five members aged over seventy, was happily celebrated. A committee headed by Mrs. Harry Leonard arranged a delightful day beginning at 10 a. m. when there was an automobile ride through the city and suburbs for members of the Guard. Returning at noon a chicken and waffle dinner was served in the social hall, followed by an informal program of familiar songs, a vocal duet by Dr. and Mrs. Silas C. Swallow, several addresses and a vocal solo "The Old House at Home," by Mrs. Emily E. Miller. A letter of "salutation and felicitation" was read from the Rev. A. G. Boyles, whose class entertained the Guard last year, and then Dr. Swallow directed reminiscences and a memory test of former superintendents, pastors and members of Ridge Avenue who have passed on. A picture of the organization was taken later with every one present.

The oldest member, Hiram Helleman who is in his 83rd year and Isalah Reese the second oldest were both on hand for the celebration. It was also found that Mrs. Edwin Panckake, Mrs. M. J. Bishop and David E. Walters, members, were having birthdays at this time and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gault were celebrating their golden wedding.

Officers elected for the coming year are: President, Dr. Silas C. Swallow; vice-president, J. H. Santo; secretary, A. C. Swope. The pastor of the Church, the Rev. W. W. Hartman, will preach a special sermon to the Veteran Guard on Sunday morning.

A number of the committee and contributors were unable to be present last evening but those present assisting W. W. Hartman were the Rev. and Mrs. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Shetter, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Stimer, Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. DeWald, Mrs. M. Le Horton, Mrs. Cora Mary George, Mrs. H. Guy Kluch, Mrs. Samuel Hertzler, Mrs. James Buck, Miss Josephine Koser, Miss Laura Sloat and Miss Edith Willoughby, of Philadelphia; Charles W. Montgomery, and Emory Hartman.

"Fun, Friendship and Education" Is Slogan Adopted by Y. W. C. A. Clubs

Every Wednesday evening at the Y. W. C. A., Fourth and Walnut streets, there is something special for the members of the Industrial Clubs. No other meetings are scheduled for that time and the entire association is given over to these club girls.

There are classes in Bible study, sewing, first aid, home making, etiquette, millinery, choral, gymnasium work, English, penmanship and cooking, followed by a social time and games. The members are most enthusiastic over the work and pleasure promised for this year by the association.

Thirty factories and mills of this city employ women and girls and it is hoped that everyone of these will have a club representation in the near future. Those already organized and in flourishing condition are the R. F. O. M., the T. M. T. M., Laetus, Monito and Bachelor Girls.
Miss Sylvia Nagle is the new industrial secretary, Mrs. Mabel Cronise Jones, chairman of the industrial committee, and Miss Caroline Weiss arranges the classes. Clever folders are just issued to be distributed by the workers.
