"PRUNELLA" GETS BIG RECEPTION

Successful Amateur Production Will Be Repeated This Evening to Large Audience

A delighted audience of several hundred filled the garden south of the Civic Club's home at Front and North streets last evening during the amateur production of "Prunella" by young ladies and girls prominent in Harrisburg's social life. "Love in a Dutch Garden" is the other title of the quaintly entertaining, romantic comedy, in which every member of the cast acquitted herself with credit. The Statue of Love, impersonated by Miss Nell Payne, was the center of the guiding spirit of the play throughout the three acts.

The play, which will be repeated this evening, is worthy of the support given it. The proceeds, both from the sale of tickets and from the coffee, cocoa and cake served after each performance by pretty waitresses, are to be used for furnishing a portion of the new clubhouse recently turned over to the Civic Club. It is expected that over $300 will be realized as a result of the two evening performances.

Acting Under Difficulties

Ideal weather conditions prevailed for the first night, the only unfortunate part being the annoyance caused by motorcycles and other pleasure vehicles passing back and forth with cutouts open. Chief of Police Wetzel has been strongly urged in the interests of a quiet evening to divert traffic between North and State streets in front during the playing of "Prunella." Many of the best lines of the play lost their effect through the deafening roar of motorcycles.

Miss Dora W. Coe as Pierrot and Miss Eleanor N. Clark as Prunella took the leading parts and were enthusiastically received by the audience. Unmistakable signs of histrionic ability and acted their parts most effectively. Ably supported by a well-balanced cast of attractive costumed girls, the leading characters led the way through the difficult portions of the play with the ease of old-timers.

The three gardeners and the gardeners' boy came in for their share of praise, and the prim aunts, against whose restrictions Prunella finally rebelled, were the cause of much favorable comment. Their manners, and their variegated costumes kept things lively and were on the jump every minute, showing a commendable zeal that threatened at one time to precipitate the ladder on which Prunella escaped into the laps of a fearful audience. The sphinx-like Statue of Love and the two busy little maids did their share to entertain an appreciative audience, and another "packed garden" is expected for this evening's performance.

"The Serenade" sung by Mrs. Roy G. Cox in the second act, was one of the best features of the play and was repeatedly encored. The Sara Lerner trio made its first appearance and created a decidedly favorable impression.

Hot Coffee Served

The lighting effects were good and the acoustics satisfactory under the circumstances. Every one who had a share in contributing to the success of the play deserves credit. To these the Civic Club wishes to express its heartfelt appreciation.

The play was produced under the direction of Mrs. Sanford D. Coe, assisted by Mrs. Farley Gannett, Mrs. Elaine W. Riley, Miss Virginia Hargett King, secretary, and Miss Frances Morrison, treasurer.

LISTEN TO TALES IN THE FIRELIGHT

Interesting Session of Local Branch of Story Tellers League Last Night

About thirty members of the Story Tellers League of this city greeted their president, Mrs. Harry G. Kaffer, at her home, 236 Woodbine street, last evening in social session. Plans were discussed for the coming year, several committees appointed and year books given out.

The rooms were bright with cosmos, dahlias and nasturtiums gracefully arranged and after a story telling hour refreshments were served by half a dozen young girls.

A glowing log fire in the living room gave an interesting touch to the vacation tales told by Miss Dolores Segelbaum, who chose the beautiful Japanese story of "The Princess Moonbeam;" Mrs. Charles J. Wood, Jr., an original "Legend of the Blue Ridge" was of thrilling interest; "Virginia Romance" a true story given by Mrs. Kaffer, and "The Home of the Fairies" a Chinese legend narrated by Mrs. Edna Groff Diehl after she had read an exquisite description of a Chinese fairy festival seen from the height of a mountain overlooking the Pacific ocean, and written her by her father, Abram L. Groff, formerly of Old Orchard, who is now residing in Canton, China, with his family.

HARRISBURG INVADDED; FIRE IS THE FOE

The war on fire has been carried to this city. It is a war against man's great enemy. An enemy that lurks in every home, that lies in wait for you every night when you go to bed.

The foe that sneaks about at the factory when the night watchman isn't looking.

The enemy that hides in the daytime in every school, every hospital, every store.

The surest way to fight fire is to get it at the start. The first five minutes in every fire are the vital ones.

Pyrene smotheres fires when they start. It is a hand fire extinguisher, 14 inches long, weighs 6 pounds. A boy of ten can use it.

Pyrene will kill any kind of fire—before it gets big. Over 1,000,000 Pyrenes now protect life and property from fire.

Get one now. Don't put it off another day, for that day may never come.

$7.50—a small price to pay for fire protection. The locks on your windows cost more than that.

Former agency relations having expired, we, the makers of the Pyrene Fire Extinguisher, have opened in Philadelphia a direct factory branch to render better service to the public.
