

LOAN'S PASSING PLEASES ALL

City at Last Can Give Proper Educational Advantages to Children

Both A. Carson Stamm, president of the School Board, and J. Horace McFarland, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee which conducted the propaganda for boosting the new high school loan, to-day expressed keen satisfaction at the way Harrisburg solved the high school problem.

"The School Board construes the vote as an expression of confidence," declared President Stamm. "The money will be borrowed only as needed and the board will expect to spend it as wisely and economically as any business man would spend it in his own personal enterprise."

"The success of the loan is a great thing for the girls and boys of Harrisburg. The Chamber of Commerce and its special committee having charge of the propaganda for the loan deserve great credit and high congratulation. The Rotary Club, the Civic Club, the Municipal League, the newspapers, the newsboys, the street all the newspapers—well, I shan't try to name all who helped, but I hope someday even those who couldn't see their way clear to vote 'Yes' will be glad the loan has been authorized."

From Mr. McFarland

J. Horace McFarland, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee which conducted the school loan campaign, expressed his keen satisfaction at the passage of the school loan in a brief interview just before his departure for Pittsburgh. Said Mr. McFarland:

"The result of the school loan campaign is just another evidence of the intelligence and discrimination of Harrisburg's voting population. The voters were supplied with the actual, plain truth, and they voted right in consequence."

Campaign of Education

"It was a campaign of education, surely. The newspapers did everything to set forth the facts. Many of the pupils of the city justified anew the city's support of the churches in their renunciation of the schools preached."

"The business men, particularly those of the Rotary Club and the Chamber of Commerce, were active missionaries of truth."

Comments Pupils

"The high school pupils did great work for their fellow-pupils of the lower schools and much of the majority is due to their parade and their individual efforts."

"But most of all do I see satisfaction in the steady march of the city. We have been doing things for ourselves, advanced things, for fifteen years, and now we add school advance to our parks and filtration, to our sewers and paving and water front. Probably few voters have realized that old Harrisburg is far ahead of any city in Pennsylvania in her economical, intelligent and successful attention to the best living conditions."

Not Pleased

"What a triumph the loan vote is for the idea of expansion of the city for the money! We have asked those who know what we ought to do for our boys and girls, and now we are going to do it. We have the price, and we're not picaresque or piffing—the best is good for us!"

"The School Board has had a vote of confidence to which I am sure it will react. A new day in education is dawning for Harrisburg. The people are welcomed in the councils of the school directors. An advisory committee of able men will sit with our elected representatives. We will get hundred cents worth of better school facilities for every dollar of that loan."

NOTHING IS SO BAD FOR A COUGH AS COUGHING

Coughing is like scratching a wound; as long as it is done it will not heal. When tempted to cough, draw a long breath through the nostrils; hold it until it warms the air cells. The nitrogen thus refined allays the desire to cough and gives the throat and lungs a chance to heal. The use of Wonderrail will aid nature in her efforts to throw off the cough or cold.

Note: Wonderrail, referred to in the above article is the famous old physician's prescription that is proving so successful in keeping down grippe, catarrh, coughs, colds, bronchitis and similar ills. It is dispensed at the drug store, or by mail, at a price suggested by George A. Gorgas and other good druggists.

A Question of Beauty is always a question of complexion. With a perfect complexion you overcome nature's deficiencies.

Gouraud's Oriental Cream renders the skin clear, refined, pearly-white appearance—the perfect beauty. Healing and refreshing—Non-greasy.

What Is Vocational Education?

Vocational education means a chance for the underdog. It means a better place in the sun for the man in the street, the man in overalls. It means beefsteak instead of beef-stew. How? By making the schools serve the majority of our children as efficiently as they now serve the minority. Vocational education recognizes that there are rich and poor, that there are classes in America, and pleads for better educational facilities for the children of the masses.

The advocate of vocational education believes that the boy who leaves school at fourteen to go to work is entitled to get help from the State to find himself both as a worker and a citizen. The State, the community helps the boy who wants to become a physician or a lawyer or a minister. That boy is in the minority. It has institutions where such a boy can get the training at the expense of the community as large as the expense of the community. Now, why should not the child of the laborer, who is in the great majority, and whose calling is to be a mason, a carpenter, or a baker, get the help of the State in the mastering of his occupation? If the State trains doctors,

PIG IRON MAKES SHARP ADVANCES

Increase in Cost Did Not Check but Stimulated Buying; Prices Are Confusing

The pig iron market shows a continuance of the excited conditions of the past two weeks, with further sharp advances in price. At the same time the action of steel products has confirmed the predictions of higher prices and of full occupation of the mills throughout 1917. October pig iron output exceeded expectations. Many records were broken.

In summarizing the situation, the Iron Age of to-day, says: "In the present condition of the pig iron market the great production last month was highly opportune. Nothing like it is to be looked for as winter comes on and capacity increases. Our estimate of November in capacity, based on average furnace performance, is 108,622 tons a day for 226 furnaces, against 106,578 tons a day for 223 furnaces on October 1. Allowing 400,000 tons a year for charcoal iron, the October output represents a yearly rate of no less than 41,700,000 tons."

"The political tension of the week and the closeness of the election have apparently had no effect on the buying of iron and steel. Probably no week before a national election has shown more activity in these markets. 'Last week's sensational advances in pig iron did not check but rather stimulated buying, but the market is in confusion over wide variations in prices and the withdrawal of a good many sellers, particularly on business for the second half of 1917.'"

"Car orders are growing as prices rise. In the past three weeks fully 36,000 cars have been placed and builders are now beginning to choose between offers, being well booked for the first half of next year and on tank cars for all of 1917."

"There is nothing new as to shell steel contracts for the second half of 1917. Two large steel companies are believed to have closed recently for considerable amounts, and the situation is that on some hundreds of thousands of tons of rounds and forging billets that must be bought there will be no particular higgings over the price."

"In cast iron pipe an advance of $3 to $4 a ton is imminent, following the upward movement in pig iron. Cast iron is about to contract for 18,000 tons."

Elm Trees Along River in Need of Attention

Quite a number of property owners along the east side of Front street between Harris and Division have had their attention called to the need of giving the elm trees in front of their properties immediate attention. These trees have continued to grow in spite of neglect, but there should be trimming and attention to the ground about the roots before cold weather. Tree experts now at work in the city point out the danger of these and other trees dying from want of proper nourishment. It is also necessary in several places to replace a few of the trees which have died. It will be remembered that this line of elms was planted two years ago under a general agreement of the property owners and the Perryhill Nursery Company has agreed to give all the trees attention for a nominal consideration, and owners who are interested have been urged to get into touch with the nursery company before it is too late.
