WAITING IS VERY HARD EXPERIENCE

No Trial Puts Stability to More Terrible Test

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Nothing is so difficult in the world as to wait. There is no trial that puts stability to more terrible test. From the enthusiasm that inspires you to the over-enthusiasm that insists on action at once, prepared or no, is just a tiny step. There is an old proverb which says, "What one wishes for seems at the door." If you wish hard enough you may often feel that you hear the knock of your desire. But when you open the door there is nothing there. The old story of the boy who cried "Wolf" when there was no wolf and who perished miserably when the wolf came, illustrates this. The danger for which we watch with actual impatience becomes negligible through familiarity and when it comes we have no protection against it. Nothing makes a person such a pessimist as the indulgence in unfounded hopes that prove wrong. Nothing makes a person so criminally careless of danger as watching carefully for accidents that need never have been expected, and so hindering himself to the approach of real trouble.

Waiting is one of the most trying experiences in all the world. There is no trial that puts stability of character to a more terrible test. Have you ever waited for a letter that meant life or death, love or indifference to you? You know the position is due at the moment. You wait at it and wonder how you will get through the two long hours until he comes. Somehow you must eat, you must eat your breakfast and do the tasks of the day bridge over the time until quarter to five.

Then you station yourself at the window and watch for the first glimpse of the long-for messenger. Suddenly you see him far down the street. Closer and closer he comes, weaving his path in and out of ways. With beating heart you wait, agonizingly wondering as he comes closer and closer whether he brings what you long for. He seems to have a tremendous mail to distribute and to do it slowly and with tortoise-like progress. Now he is at the door next to your own. He passes your house and goes to the next. You must wait bravely for the noon mail, and the next, perhaps. The letter you long for may come to-morrow. And no blow it deals can hurt you more than did the agony of waiting for what it would tell you.

The impatient man believes that the stars fight against him," says an old proverb. And it is true. In fact, all the world is the bad luck to be weak enough to believe in luck. Luck and chance have very little to do with the periods during which one waits.

You wait for a letter because the person who sent it didn't get it in time. That has nothing to do with luck, but depends entirely on your human relationship with that person and how unselfishly and considerably you think of you. To highly sensitive souls who are nervous and imaginative, waiting a while must be a certain strain, but they can control that strain and let it spell agony. Because a loved one who said he was coming at 8 has not arrived at 9 does not mean he has been murdered by bandits or is never coming at all, it probably indicates nothing more tremendous than that he started later, or was delayed by some trifling circumstance.

When you have conquered your own impatience so that you can endure impatient waiting calmly you have done much to assure yourself of a peaceful life. It is chiefly women who indulge in torments of agony when waiting. Most men know enough to fill in periods of waiting with some activity, so that their minds shall not anxiously dwell on speculating how soon the looked-for event will occur.

A book or a bit of sewing will often serve to tide over a period of waiting. Force yourself to concentrate on something other than the thing toward which you are looking, and if it fails it will find you calmly waiting to receive it, and if it fails to come your conserved energy will train you to go on waiting.

J. J. Thorpe, Street Car Strike Leader, Is Dead at Hot Springs

J. J. Thorpe, vice-president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, who led the unsuccessful street car strike in Harrisburg last summer, died at Hot Springs, Ark., late Sunday night. He had gone to that city for his health.

Thorpe had been identified with street railway labor in Pittsburgh for many years. He headed the representatives of the employees during the negotiations prior to and at the time of their strike there last Spring.

Mr. Thorpe was born in Jackson, Mich., and became member of Division 55, Pittsburgh, on February 24, 1898. On June 8, 1898, he enlisted in Company D, Eleventh Regiment, U. S. V., and at the close of the Spanish-American war, again went to work on the street car lines of Pittsburgh. He was elected president of Division 55 in 1906 and was later elected vice-president of the amalgamated association.

Norway's Champion After Skating Titles

Oscar Mathisen, champion speed ice skater of the world and the holder of many Norwegian championships, is in New York to-day practicing at the St. Nicholas Rink, preparatory to going after the American and Canadian skating titles here at the same time giving skaters here a chance to wrest the world title from him.

Mathisen claims a record of 8 minutes and seven seconds for 5,000 meters, a distance of three miles and one hundred and eighty-eight yards. Some of the speed skaters who are in a position to challenge him are E. R. Morrison, Wood, Edward Lamy, Bobbie McLean, Norvill Bappte, Ren O'Sheav and John P. Davidson.

JIMMY POWERS AND GEORGIA BRYTON IN SCENES FROM "SOMEBODY'S LUGGAGE"

James T. Powers comes to the Orpheum Saturday, matinee and night, in "Somebody's Luggage," a comedy by Mark Swann, based on a novel written by J. F. Randall. Mr. Powers has the role of Algernon Hopper, who is in love with a girl in the Secret Service, and while following her across the English Channel finds himself in possession of the portmanteau of a man who has been blown overboard. Hopper then faces the problem of proving his identity.

Republicans See Little Likelihood of Split in Cal.

San Francisco, Nov. 21. — Little likelihood of a split electoral vote in California was seen here today by Republicans who have checked the unofficial election figures of fifty of the State's fifty-eight counties. The eight missing counties although they include the most populous in the State will not develop any serious discrepancies, according to some of the party leaders who say they have closely followed the trend of the canvass being made by the various county officials.

Dr. Solomon S. Huebner to Address Life Underwriters

Dr. Solomon S. Huebner, instructor in the department of insurance in the University of Pennsylvania Wharton School, will address the Central Pennsylvania Association of Life Underwriters at the Engineers' Club Thursday evening, November 23.

Dr. Huebner's Talk Will Deal With "The Attitude of the Life Insurance Salesman Toward the Institution of Life Insurance."

Other prominent speakers of the evening will be David E. Tracy, president of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce and ex-Postmaster E. J. Stackpole. Dr. Huebner will be met at the Pennsylvania station by the following committee: Albert A. Wert, J. Ralph Morrison and E. R. Eckenrode, secretary of the association.

HIGH COST OF LIVING CAUSES ACCIDENTS ON RAILWAY LINES

S. R. Turner, who was first speaker at the symposium on accident prevention on the Welfare conference this afternoon held that the high cost of living was indirectly the cause of accidents among railroad men. He said that the prices of living were worrying men and took their minds off work. Mr. Turner, a conductor, and other railroad men, suggested that railroads should be fenced in as in England, that all grade crossings should be protected and gradually abolished, that trains be equipped with stronger headlights and automatic bell ringers and that freight trains be held down to half a mile in length. In the passenger service he said there was too much "speeding up" and too many violations of the full crew law.

JUVIANS PREPARE ELECTRICAL SHOW

Country-Wide Celebration Dec. 2 to 9 Will Be Observed by Harrisburg Firms

Harrisburg's celebration of "Electrical Week," December 2-9, will be under the management of the Jovian League, the city's organization of electrical engineers and professional men, and a "show" unique in the history of such things is being planned. 206 Walnut street has been selected for the exhibit and it is expected that the score or more of electrical firms will participate. The show will open Monday evening and a committee consisting of L. L. Ferre, general superintendent of the Harrisburg Light and Power Company; J. C. Thompson, United Electric Company; George L. Bricker, Harrisburg Electrical Supplies Company; and J. W. Ostertag and C. K. Steinmetz, Harrisburg Light and Power Company, has been appointed by President John S. Musser, of the Jovian League, to prepare the program.

OUTLINE NATIONAL WELFARE WORK

Lew R. Palmer Presides at Important Meeting of Safety Council Committee

The executive committee of the National Safety Council, a nation-wide organization, promoting universal safety as well as industrial safety, is meeting in Harrisburg to-day, in conjunction with the sessions of the fourth annual Welfare and Efficiency Conference of the Department of Labor and Industry.

The meetings of the committee will continue through the week. Lew R. Palmer, chief of the Bureau of Inspection of the Labor Department, the president, called the meeting of the executive committee to outline safety work of the national body throughout the United States during the coming year. The council has a membership of approximately 12,000 employers and individuals, bringing under its safety teachings more than 3,500,000 employes in industrial plants alone.

The members of the committee convening in Harrisburg are: R. W. Campbell, Illinois Steel Co.; M. A. Eow, New York Central Lines; J. M. Eaton, Cadillac Motor Car Co.; G. T. Fonda, Bethlehem Steel Co.; H. W. Forster, Independence Inspection Bureau; Dr. F. L. Hoffman, American Museum of Safety; Arthur T. Morey, Commonwealth Steel Co.; L. R. Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.
