DISCUSS DETAILS OF CHARITY BALL

Committee Chairman to Confer on "Black and White" Dance Arrangements

Further details of the plans for that brilliant affair that is to have a place all its own on Harrisburg's social calendar, January 30—the first "black and white" charity ball—will be discussed to-morrow afternoon when the executive committee meets.

The decoration contemplated for Chestnut street auditorium on the big night was outlined in a general way last evening when Albert Kelsey, the architectural expert who designed the scheme of adornment for last year's ball, conferred with members of the executive committee.

That the "color" scheme is to be in black and white is generally understood; that the conventional evening dress of the masculine contingent and that the duotone effects in the dress of many of the feminine guests will give a suitable setting for the decorative background is also understood.

The wearing of black and white is NOT obligatory.

Announce Sub-Chairmen Announcement of the various committee chairmen was made to-day in connection with the call for to-morrow's conference.

Decorations—Mrs. Francis Jordan Hall, if you care to help, committee make the paper flowers for the decorations write or phone her.

Supper—Henderson Gilbert. Refreshments will be served again in the smaller hall adjoining the auditorium and the decorative scheme there will be well worth while.

Boxes—John Fox Weiss and Vance C. McCormick. As usual there will be a tier of boxes around the floor and these will be sold at auction.

Police and Traffic—Ross A. Hickok. Mr. Hickok will have charge of the automobiles, policing regulations, and so on.

Dives, Pomeroy & Stewart Buys Carpet Store Stock

Announcement was made by the management of the Dives, Pomeroy & Stewart Store to-day that the entire stock of the Harrisburg Carpet Company had been purchased by that firm.

The Harrisburg Carpet Store, one of the oldest carpet stores in Central Pennsylvania, was conducted by Henry G. Heyd, who died recently. In order to settle up the estate it was decided to sell out the entire stock of the store and discontinue the business, and negotiations were started at once by the Dives, Pomeroy and Stewart store, which were brought to final completion this morning and by which they acquire the entire stock of the carpet company.

The work of removing the stock to the big department store will be pushed forward rapidly, and the merchandise arranged and marked for a special selling event, particulars regarding which will be announced in a few days in the Dives, Pomeroy and Stewart advertisements.

SUPPER is served" comes the welcome call from the dining room. It's one of those long, pleasant Winter evenings "at home;" there's a keen edge to the appetite that is only whetted by the odor of steaming hot 'pone muffins and maple syrup, and the faint aroma of a well-spiced mince pie.

THEN comes the house-coat, comfy slippers, the faithful ol' pipe jammed full of your favorite mixture, your big arm chair and — your evening newspaper! Solid comfort!

YOUR paper, if it's the TELEGRAPH, is brimming with the day's news of home and abroad; the markets; social doings; well-written editorials; a story by your favorite author, and cleverly composed ads, telling you where—and when—and how to buy best to make life more comfortable for yourself and your family.

IF you are not a "regular" Telegraph reader; if you're buying it haphazardly on your way home o' evenings—insure regular deliveries to your door each evening, on time—at 6c the week!
