RABIES IS FOUND SEVERAL PLACES IN PERRY COUNTY

State Livestock Sanitary Board Orders All Stray Dogs Killed at Once

CAT AND COW AFFLICTED

Three People and Several Dogs Were Scratched, It Is Believed

Rabies was found in several points within a forty-mile radius in Perry county as the result of an outbreak among dogs in Marysville and to-day State Livestock Sanitary Board authorities issued orders for strict enforcement of the act of 1915 for killing of stray dogs and called upon authorities of West Shore towns to open up dogs and cats and co-operate in an effort to check the outbreak. The Board's experts to-day declared that the head of a cat sent to the laboratory by Dr. C. R. Snyder, of Pottsville, showed evidence of rabies. His cat is said to have scratched three people and to have fought several dogs. One of the dogs turned up at Blaine, thirty-five miles away, and a cow of M. T. Hess, who was acting strangely, was killed and an examination showed rabies. Other cattle in the neighborhood which were bitten are said to show the same symptoms. Practically every dog in Marysville and vicinity is penned up and in Duncannon and other towns the animals are being rounded up. Perry county farmers are watching for stray dogs with shot guns.

Pluribus Unum," an eagle in flight, thirteen stars, and the value of the coin.
