Local Guardemen MAY NOT COME HOME

There are a number of possibilities relating to the possible disposition of the local troops. They may be kept at the Mexican border indefinitely to guard against any Mexican trouble that may arise in view of the trouble with Germany; they may be used to prevent any possible German-American movement; and they might possibly be used by the War Department for any possible fighting against the Germans themselves.

News of the breaking of diplomatic relations caused excitement throughout the city such as has not been seen since the Mexican war. The Spanish-American war. Newspapers and phones kept ringing throughout the morning, hundreds of people wanting to see the latest developments; bulletin boards were the means of scores of pedestrians who stood despite the bitter weather to learn the news hot off the wire; mothers, wives and sweethearts of the men at the border waited anxiously to learn the orders of the homecoming of the troops had been changed; and already talk of possible raising of volunteers was heard on all sides.

The storm of public opinion which has been steadily growing against the Kaiser for his final repudiation of all pledges to President Wilson and the American people reached its height when the final word came that relations had been broken off. Everywhere were heard only the words of patriotic support from every corner.

Already factional difference and party lines are falling and in this city as elsewhere throughout the country a wave of patriotic fervor has swept the all bickering and fault finding. The general opinion seems to be that the time has arrived when Americanism must be the keynote of the day.

COLLEGE DANCE IN WINTERDALE

Wharton School Students Give Second Annual Dance Last Evening

One of the prettiest of dances arranged by the students of the Wharton School was held last evening in Winterdale. This is the second of the annual dances given by the students this year and was an unusual success.

The hall, resplendent with college pennants, red and blue streamers, the University of Pennsylvania colors, and clusters of smilax made a most inviting retreat for the dancers in contrast with the wintry wind outside. A general subdued effect was given by the vari-colored electric lights which shed a soft glow over the dancers.

A unique feature was the elimination dances between the first and second halves of the twenty-four piece dance program. The winner of the first elimination was Miss Dorothea Dickert, who was presented with a U. of P. cushion, the second was won by James Fitzpatrick, who was given a U. of P. banner.

The patronesses included, Mr. and Mrs. C. Harry Kahn and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Morton. Professor Wendell P. Haine, member of the Wharton School Faculty, represented the University.

RAILROAD NEWS HOLDS RECORD IN POINT OF SERVICE

Tom Beaver Gives Interesting History About Late David T. Cramer

David Tate Cramer, whose funeral took place at Millin Thursday, was probably the oldest railroad man in point of division, and in later years with the Pennsylvania railroad. Tom Beaver, a special writer on the Lewis-ton Sentinel, who knows many pioneers of the railroad writes an interesting history about Mr. Cramer's life, and the following to say:

Remarkable Family "The Cramers were a remarkable family in their railroad careers as the aggregate of brothers' service reaches 265 years, and that of the progeny more than 600 years. There were James and William, both of whom held lucrative positions in the service at Altoona at the time of their retirement; Daniel, who was a train dispatcher at Millin; David T., foreman of the Millin Coal Wharves; Wilson D., as local freight train master, with full control of train movement and his headquarters at Millin; and George, who was at one time superintendent of the Philadelphia Terminal division, and in later years librarian at Broad Street Station.

Lived Over Sixty Years "Not one of the six brothers died under sixty years and the subject of this sketch, the youngest of the family, had reached the ripe age of eighty-one years when he succumbed to an attack of la grippe, after an illness of only eight days.

Burning Itching Pimples On Back

And Limbs Large, Red and Hard. Scratched and Made Sore. Could Hardly Work. Cuticura Completely Healed in Little Over a Week.

"I was troubled with pimples all over my back and limbs. They were large, red, and hard, and at night they burned and itched something awful. I scratched them open making them sore, and I could hardly work. "I was taking medicine for my blood but got no relief, and the pimples lasted a couple of months. Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I was completely healed in a little over a week. I still use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I would not do without both." (Signed) Melvin L. Gilbert, 444 E. Prospect St., York, Pa., Sept. 1, 1916.

A little care, a little patience, the use of Cuticura Soap for every-day toilet purposes, with touches of Cuticura Ointment, to any pimples, rashes or dandruff often means a clear, healthy skin, clean scalp and good hair.
