Bethlehem Interests Now Control Big Steel Plants; Brock Made Manager

Lebanon, Pa., March 1.—Many changes in the management of local plants and industries of the Bethlehem Steel Company were announced here to-day, when C. M. Schwab, steel magnate, of South Bethlehem, took over the various plants, nut and bolt works, blast furnaces and steel plant, recently acquired from the American Iron and Steel Company, Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company and Pennsylvania Steel Company.

John Penn Brock, vice-president of the old American Iron and Steel Company, became the general manager of Schwab's interests in this city and county to-day. James Lord, founder of the American Iron and Steel Company, also retired, as did the directors, including Edward Bailey, of Harrisburg. There have already been many changes in the management of the local plants, and more are to follow.

"Can't Cut Off My Leg," Says Railroad Engineer

"I am a railroad engineer; about 20 years ago my leg was seriously injured in an accident out West. Upon my refusing to allow the doctor to amputate it I was told it would be impossible to heal the wound. I have tried all kinds of salves and had many doctors in the past 20 years, but to no avail. Finally I resolved to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT on my leg. You cannot imagine my astonishment when I found it was doing what over 100 things had failed to do. My leg is now completely cured."

—Gus Hauff, 799 Myrtle Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"It makes me feel proud to be able to produce an ointment like that," says Peterson. "Not only do I guarantee Peterson's Ointment for old sores and wounds, but for Eczema, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Itching Skin and Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles, and I put up a big box for 25 cents, a price all can afford to pay and money back from your druggist if not satisfied."

What Is Sun-Glo Coal?

AGES ago coal was a form of heat. Before that it was a luxuriant tropical form of vegetable growth that died down and decomposed. Earthquakes and other geographical changes covered these bogs sometimes with hundreds and thousands feet of earth.

Here under tremendous pressure the mass changed into coal, a flinty hard substance made up mostly of carbon.

It's the carbon that burns and produces the heat that insures your health and comfort.

Sun-Glo Coal

comes directly from some of the oldest mines in Pennsylvania where coal was first discovered over a century ago.

Its high percentage of carbon, practically clinkerless ash, and steady burning qualities make it the choice of discriminating buyers.

PALL OF DARKNESS OVER PHILA.

Philadelphia, March 1.—The darkness of midnight hung over Philadelphia for several hours to-day. It was so dark that the city officials deemed it advisable to turn on all the city lamps at noon. Many places not provided with illumination were forced to suspend work. The Weather Bureau said the phenomenon was due to low-hanging clouds heavily laden with moisture and the absence of wind to blow them away. The air was so heavy and still that smoke and steam barely rose above the tops of buildings.

JAPANESE WARNS US

Warning that there may be trouble between the United States and Japan if this country does not change its attitude toward the Japanese, was uttered at a Washington's Birthday dinner in New York by Dr. T. Referring to prejudiced and acts against his countrymen here, the speaker said: "If this kind of pinpricking is often repeated, I fear the time may come when Japanese rulers cannot restrain the people."

NATION'S CAPITAL IS VOTED DRY

Congress Passes Bill Making District of Columbia Saloonless Nov. 1

Washington, March 1.—The National Capital was voted "dry" to-night, when the House, by a vote of 237 to 137, passed the Sheppard bill in exactly the same form as it came from the Senate. It prohibits the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia as of November 1, and abolishes 300 saloons. Importation for personal use is permitted.

Consideration of the bill began at noon and continued until 9 o'clock, but during all that time there was no discussion of its provisions except in a few brief speeches. The proposals to make the measure "bone dry" or to submit the question of prohibition to a referendum of the people of the District of Columbia were not debated. The time required for the passage of the bill was consumed, almost in its entirety, by the calling of the roll of the members, a procedure requiring forty minutes each time. A filibuster started by "wet" members, led by Tammany men, was cut short through the adoption of a rule which cut off all debate on the Senate bill, prohibiting all amendments except one, and knocked out every proposition put into the bill by the House committee on the District of Columbia.

"Vote" members were in a fair way to prolong their filibuster into an all-night session under the provisions of the rule presented by Representative Markley, of Kentucky, who has championed the Sheppard bill in the House. When the more drastic bill was brought in members shouted "they are not Cannonizing Joe Cannon." Chairman Henry, of the rules committee, declared he wished that the three of the seven Democratic members of rules committee who voted with the four Republican members for the rule had not done so, and invited the Democratic party to ask pardon of Mr. Cannon for criticisms of him. Many members insisted that the rule made "Uncle Joe's" steam-roller resemble a rolling pin.

The bill as adopted does not make the District of Columbia "bone dry," as there are no restrictions on "personal use." Ever since the Reeder amendment became a law, it is held that it does not apply to the District, as this territory is not mentioned, and members of the House who voted for the Sheppard bill were accused by "wet" members of having voted to make the States "bone dry," yet retained the "personal use" privilege for themselves in Washington.

A motion to recommit the bill was offered by Representative Gallivan, of Massachusetts, which provided for a vote by the people of the District of Columbia on the question. The vote was 232 to 171 against the referendum.

Big Hotels Will Soon Line Main State Roads

Approval by Governor Brumbaugh to-day, of the charter for the Fort Loudon Hotel Company, in which Pittsburgh capital is interested, calls attention to the big things that are going to be done in the way of accommodations along the State's highways when the roads are completed.

It is proposed to erect a first-class hotel at that historic spot on the State highway traversing the Cumberland valley. This hotel will be on the Lincoln highway and the William Penn and Penn Lin will have similar establishments soon.

Ever since he has been in office Governor Brumbaugh has urged the building of such hotels. "I am glad to see this enterprise started," said he, "it is my hope that along the highways there will be provided good hotels for the traveling public, so that people can go about our State, seeing our splendid scenery and visit historic places. Ultimately people will realize the value of such investments and the accommodations they give the public."
