PERSONAL EFFORT IS THE KEYNOTE

Mrs. Edwin C. Grice, of Philadelphia, Addresses Civic Club on Educating the Foreigner

From the beginning of her talk on "American Citizens" before the Civic Club yesterday afternoon, to the very end, Mrs. Edwin C. Grice, of Philadelphia, held her audience entranced with the nobility of her purpose so beautifully expressed and the charm of her manner.

Mrs. Grice, who is a personal friend of the Governor and Mrs. Brumbaugh, came here at their suggestion to speak of that work in which she is so deeply interested, the education of the foreigners. Mrs. Grice feels that the personal touch is what the work so often lacks, and says that as the first glimpse aliens see of New York harbor, in the great statue of Liberty, a woman, waiting to greet them, so the greater part of their education in the ways of home, school and religion must devolve on the women of this country and the women particularly of the Civic Clubs. That it is not enough to give money and brains, to plan for the education of these people who come here full of ambitions, of hope and dreams for the future, but that they must be taught by personal contact, with American women, especially, that the law of Love and Brotherhood really prevails in the land. The Parent-Teacher associations are the great melting pots where all classes come together for mutual good, and there can be shown the great democracy of the country of which we all love to speak, and many delight to show forth.

Club Receives Flag Mrs. William Henderson, president of the club presided and reports were heard from various departments. Miss Rachel Pollock has been re-elected chairman of the Municipal Department, with Mrs. Solomon Hiney, assistant, to have charge of the fly contests; Mrs. Harry G. Keffer was re-elected chairman of the Educational Department; Mrs. Andrew E. Buchman, vice-chairman and Mrs. Watson, secretary. The club endorses the Saturday afternoon closing movement for the Harrisburg stores as requested by the Chamber of Commerce. Miss Rachel Staples of the Associated Aid Societies gave a resume of the work of the Harrisburg Benevolent Association in city garden plots, asking for money and ground to be devoted to this use. Nominations were received for officers to be elected at the April meeting.

Winter Haven, Florida, March 20.—At a meeting of the Civic League on Thursday, which was unusually well attended, E. J. Stackpole, editor of the HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH, addressed the audience, and gave a highly interesting and instructive talk upon the subject of "Civic Improvements." Mrs. West, of Eagle Lake, read a splendid paper on current events. The Hilda Emery Trio, of Florence Villa, rendered beautiful selections, on violin, violin-cello and piano. Senator Tuston, of Philadelphia, who is at the head of the Recreation Association in that city, then in a forceful way told of the necessity of children's playgrounds in every community, and of the methods employed in their city to bring about desired results in this direction.

Miss Edith Denny, an Irving College student, returned to Mechanicsburg, to-day to resume her studies after a week-end visit with her mother, Mrs. M. C. Denny, of 1515 Derry street.

Miss Marjorie Quay House, a Smith College student, will return home next week to spend the Easter recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan House, of Bellevue Park.

Evan P. Miller, a student at Princeton University, will spend the spring recess at his home, 2117 Cottage Ridge.

POPULARITY OF SPANISH

Last evening prior to the last lecture in the Teachers' Course, Dr. Frederick E. Doyne, superintendent of schools, introduced to the audience Mrs. Melvin Menges, head of the School of Spanish, who told of the great interest taken in the work of this school at the Y. M. C. Miss Marguerite Stucker, of 206 Reilly street, has returned home after spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. William I. Reed, of Palmerton.

Springtime in the Shops

The charm of this season's millinery is its infinite variety, for instead of offering one kind of thing, Dame Fashion has searched the fields of flowers, wings, ribbons, ostrich, fancies and novelties and developed new designs in each. This fact so encourages us to furnish a scale of millinery shops who find it both difficult and expensive to keep a sufficient variety of each, but the Astich Store, Fourth and Market streets, does business on so large a scale that their reserve stock alone looks like a miniature wholesale house, and at this store one may find the newest trimmings in flowers, fancies, ribbons, wings and novelties offered in a profusion of assortment that makes selection easy and pleasant while prices there are delightfully low.

A Charming Assortment Quaint originality combined with a certain whimsical charm make the assortment of new decorated wooden novelties shown by the Woman's Exchange, Third street, at H. P. particularly fascinating and these clever little spool holders, coat hangers, candlesticks, book blocks, etc., are just the thing for inexpensive gifts and prizes. Unique and delightful are the big black cats with arched back and upraised tail on the end of which rests a bright colored candle. Of course they bring luck to the owners and their price is just 50c.

Altogether different from the book ends we have known are these charming wooden ones, attractively decorated, while the little spool holders, needle cases, etc., are as clever as they are pretty in design.

"Noblesse Oblige" A definite standard of fine workmanship, correct design and beauty of last is as much a part of the policy of the manufacturers of Walk-Over Shoes as the selling of these shoes and though prices have advanced steadily on raw materials, the Walk-Over Shoes still maintain their leadership and where necessary profit has been cut rather than diminished in any particular. It is an English walking boot with smart wing tip, perforations at vamp and all of the marks of the most refined and correct models, and sells for just $5.00.

A Bedroom in Rose Tones A bedroom in rose can be the most beautiful—or the most hideous—room depending entirely on the shade used, and the proper blending of color and furnishings, and the safe way is to let the Blake Shop, 225 North Second street, arrange the room, so that you may profit by their artistic experience. They are offering now a wall covering in an exquisite rose tone, like the inside of a seashell, which would make an ideal background for ivory furnishings which need a colorful though delicate background. With a rug of the same tone and hangings of line or cretonne figured in rose colorings a delightful room could be attained.

Superior Quality The penny or two difference between ordinary canned goods and products of highest quality is hardly enough to make it worth while to run the risk of uncleanness or unwholesomeness in packing to say nothing of the quality of the food packed. The Studebaker Grocery Store (Mr. George Barnes), Second street, at the crossing of State, offers canned goods that are packed with perfect cleanliness in model factories, and the cans used are especially lacquered so that the food does not touch ordinary tin. These canned goods are of such high grade that special factories are erected all over the country just where the products are grown so that they are not only the best foods that can be grown, but they are packed when absolutely fresh, retaining all their natural flavor.
