BEAUTIFUL TALES ILLUSTRATE TALK

Reciprocity Tea at Civic Club This Afternoon With Story Tellers League

The Harrisburg Civic Club invited the Story Tellers League of the city to be their guests this afternoon in the new clubhouse, at the last of a series of "Reciprocity Teas."

Mrs. William Henderson cordially welcomed the guests of honor and Mrs. Harry G. Keffer responded, afterward giving a little talk on how young children can best be taught the virtues, morals and the arts by the story. Showing how the story of a great picture may be told, Mrs. Keffer gave "The Story of the Madonna del Sedia," illustrating how loyalty may be taught, Miss Mary M. Snyder gave the exquisite Greek myth, "Hyacinthus," Mrs. Anna Hamilton Wood, showed how Handwriting is taught by Vesta Sharp's tale, "The Story of a Pup," "The Rainbow Quest of Runkle Deer," an original story written and told by Miss Lois K. Booker was the mythical tale of an Indian boy on a dream rainbow with his mother's spirit.

The teaching of courage was illustrated by Mrs. W. C. Entenriem with a gem from the "Story Tell Lib" series, "Boy-a-skert o' Dvin" and the program closed with unusual selection from Spanish Folk Lore, given by Miss Ella Yost. The Story Tellers League is doing much to cultivate story telling in both homes and schools and gives free story hours, several times a year to the school-children of the city.

After the program, tea was served with Mrs. Keffer and Mrs. Charles J. Wood, Jr., presiding at the prettily-decorated table. Assisting were Mrs. Roy P. M. Dugene, Eugene L. Hoeyer, Mrs. Chris A. Hibler, Miss Lorene Shelly, Mrs. James Newell Moore and Miss Martha Snavely. Prior to the tea, Lewis Buddy spoke most interestingly of the Boy Scout movement over which many of the women are enthusiastic and which is beginning an active campaign in this city.

EIGHTY-THIRD BIRTHDAY OF TWINS

John Elder and David R. Elder who have a wide relationship and acquaintance in this city celebrated their eighty-third birthday on Friday, April 27. There was no formal celebration because they were not together, David R. Elder having returned home to Philadelphia after visiting here early in April. The brothers who were born at Ellersie, the old "Parson Elder Farm," are in excellent health and keenly interested in the events of the day.

Returns From Florida Where He Planted Grove

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brown, of Lewisburg, Pa., are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Swengel, at 219 South Thirteenth street on their way home from Florida, where they spent the winter at Arcadia, DeSoto county. Mr. and Mrs. Brown have spent five winters in Florida at various places, including Gainesville, DeLand, Daytona Beach and Clear Water, but they feel that Arcadia and vicinity is the best place they have seen for citrus growing and trucking. Mr. Brown superintended the clearing and planting of a fine citrus grove near Arcadia for a number of Harrisburg men. He expects to return to Florida next fall when he will superintend the planting of another ten-acre grove for other Harrisburg people.

Hear Brilliant Pianist in Informal Program

Some of the more personal musical friends of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Sanders had the pleasure of attending the informal recital at their Cottage Ridge residence, Saturday evening, given by Edwin Hughes, the gifted American pianist.

Mr. Hughes who was an assistant to Leschetizky in his celebrated recital in Vienna, met with assured success as a concert pianist in Europe. He has recently returned to this country, where large audiences greet his appearance.

Mr. Hughes played a program of classics Saturday evening, closing with a transcription of his own of the "Wagner Waltz" by Strauss, playing this most difficult number with brilliancy and beautiful interpretation. Mrs. Roy G. Cox, contralto, sang three pleasing selections with Newell Albright at the piano. Refreshments were served following the music.

Federal Reserve Board Plans Method For Floating War Bonds

Washington, April 30.—The Federal Reserve Board has recommended to Secretary McAdoo that funds to be raised under the $2,000,000,000 war finance law be obtained gradually by offering to the banks of the country blocks of certificates to be retired later with bonds every two weeks.

Under this plan a bank whose depositors subscribe to the bonds would not have to forward cash but could forward certificates thus strengthening its financial position and avoiding the risk of disturbance in the money market by large withdrawal of moneys in payment for bonds.
