GOVERNOR PLANS TO VETO HIS AX

Early Veto of State Salary Board Bill Expected; Capitol Hill Gossip

An early veto of the State Salary Board bill is believed to be probable by people in the Capitol. It goes down there will also go the $200,000 item in section 34 of the general appropriation bill designed to fill gaps made in the salaries and supply various deficiencies in running expenses. Governor Brumbaugh came to the Capitol today for the first time since last Friday and while he had many visitors he declined to make any statement regarding possible appointments or action on bills.

The Governor will leave here late today for Jefferson county where he is scheduled to make a speech tomorrow. The Governor is expected to read a message to the Legislature to dispose of the direct inheritance tax bill after his return. Chairman James C. McCreary of the House appropriations committee, is here to consult with him about the appropriation bill which he has taken up by the Governor next week. Departments are now sending him information on the subject.

In a message which the Governor starts to reappoint officials rejected by the Senate, he will run into a court action, as Auditor General Snyder has filed a writ to compel the Governor to reappoint officials rejected by the Senate. The latest information is that the Governor is determined to reappoint Commissioner of Fisheries N. R. Buller.

Officials of the State Department of Agriculture are in a quandary about what to do about the farm advisory committee as the appropriation for this work was taken out of the general fund. They are sending letters not only asking that some one be assigned to attend meetings to give advice on agricultural matters, but also asking that the Governor be asked to send letters to the various farm organizations, which have advised them being out of rural districts on the subject of what had happened to them.

The bill providing that four may be bleached in Pennsylvania by the State Board of Public Safety which are now in effect is designed only to eliminate waste. Mr. John W. Rely, chairman of the sub-committee on food conservation, Dauphin County Committee on Public Safety, who is handling the bill, says that the State Agricultural Commission, who was its chief backer, may not be retained on a committee.

Mr. J. M. Frazier, president of the Pennsylvania State Hotel Association, has issued a letter to the hotel proprietors of the State urging them to practice economy. It is deemed of such worth by the Committee of Public Safety that it is also being distributed to clubs, restaurants and boarding-houses.

The letter follows: "No element of our war measures seems to be of graver importance than the conservation of food. At this time the question of the world food supply and it is an individual duty devolving upon every citizen to augment this supply to the greatest extent possible by wise economy."

Hotel and restaurant men and public caterers are urged to do much to aid in this direction by careful planning of menus to cut down the excessive number of different courses. Combining three times a day into essentially one meal, and by reducing portions that are now known by experience as practices to be in excess of the requirements of the average individual and are consequently conducive to extravagance and waste.

"Additional assistance can be rendered the cause of food conservation by the character of foods selected for service.

"Help can be given to the meat supply by refusing to purchase veal, including sweetbreads and calves' liver, baby lamb, suckling pigs, ducklings, quail, etc. (under 1/4 pounds), etc., etc."

Use Sea Food "The use of sea food should be encouraged as far as practicable as a means of curtailing the use of beef."

"The use of perishable articles, such as summer vegetables and fruits in season should also be encouraged as a means of avoiding market waste through spoilage and consequent loss."

"Corn and rye bread in various forms should be offered to the public regularly as a means of saving wheat. Cornbread three times a day."

"Employees should be instructed and urged to co-operate in making the greatest possible saving in every department."

"To the acceptance of such a movement the public is being rapidly educated and in fact some leading establishments are already offering their patrons 'war portions' at a moderate reduction in price and increasing the number of single portions served."

"The further education of the public along these lines can be materially helped by printing at the State Capitol a daily menu legend to read, in effect: "We ask our patrons to aid us in an effort to conserve the country's food supply by a careful avoidance of waste."

"Hotels operating on the American plan should print a request to patrons to exercise care in ordering as a measure of war economy."

"The addition of intelligent carrying out of such plans as here suggested will not only effect a material saving in operation but is a patriotic duty which we should all be glad to perform as a part of our 'bit' in the service that every man owes to his country in the time of its need."

GREAT WAR TAX BILL REDRAFTED

More Changes Scheduled in Senate and in Conference Committee

Washington, July 2.—The war tax bill, redrafted and reduced to $1,570,170,000 by the Senate finance committee, as against the $1,500,000,000 of additional war taxes provided as it came from the House, was completed today.

Vastly increased income taxes and levies upon excess profits resulting from war times, liquor and tobacco form the bulk of the new taxation measure, the largest in the country's history.

Upon incomes the bill would impose $22,700,000 in additional taxes; upon excess profits of corporations, $22,000,000; upon individuals, $23,000,000; upon liquor, $15,500,000 and tobacco, $55,000,000.

The revised bill, which is scheduled for reconsideration in the Senate for next week, is a conference bill and further changes in conference eliminates many objections raised to the House measure by business interests. The Senate committee rejected the 10 per cent general tariff increase, designed to raise $200,000,000, and substituted consumption taxes upon beer, tea, sugar and cocoa, estimated to yield $100,000,000.

Reduction of income taxation to single persons with incomes over $2,000 annually and married persons over $2,000 annually, and tax on a tax of $5,000 subject to a new "normal" tax of two per cent, were House provisions unchanged.

RAILROAD RUMBLES PENNSYLVANIA RECEIPTS TO P. R. R. OFFICIAL

Altoona C. of C. to Get Acquainted With General Superintendent

Officials Expect That Increase in Rates Will Partly Increase Costs

Income statements of the Pennsylvania Railroad and system companies for May again show greater increases in expenses than in revenues. These and other railroad statements will be studied in connection with the advanced freight rates. An average increase of 6.2 per cent in the freight earnings would have cleared that decrease by a small margin.

For May the decreases in railway operating revenue of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Pennsylvania Canal and Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad—the three chief segments of the big system—totalled $1,538,000. An average increase of 6.2 per cent in the freight earnings would have cleared that decrease by a small margin.

In the case of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the freight increase of 4.3 per cent in the freight revenue would have made good the decrease of $682,000 in the company's net income available for dividends. As it was, the net income for May was at a rate of more than 10 per cent per annum on the capital stock outstanding being $2,000,000, or $2,500,000 per month to cover the established dividend.
