RETURN DEMAREE TO GIANTS FOLD

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Pitcher Al Demaree, of the Chicago Nationals, was traded yesterday to the New York Nationals for Peter Kilduff, a recruit infielder, purchased from Omaha last fall.

In securing Demaree the Giants greatly helped them in winning the National League pennant in 1915. Demaree joined McGraw in 1912 and after his success during 1913 he had a bad year in 1914 and that winter was traded to the Phils along with Stock and Adams for Hans Lobert. Demaree's pitching for Moran in 1915, when he stepped into the breach when Erskine Mayer collapsed, held up Alexander and Rixey and was a big factor in enabling the Phils to win the pennant. Last summer Al pitched in and out of ball and when Manager Mitchell, of the Cubs, offered Lavender for Demaree, the offer was snapped up. It was said that Demaree wanted to play in Chicago and insisted on being traded, but Moran really wanted to swap him and was willing to talk business with Mitchell as soon as he offered Lavender.

LOCAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT STARTS

Popular Annual Event Will Be Big Feature at the Reservoir Park Courts

With favorable weather Harrisburg tennis stars expected to make an auspicious start this afternoon in the patriotic tournament. It is the annual event and held under the direction of the Harrisburg Tennis Association. Every effort is being made to make this contest attractive. All matches will be played on Reservoir courts.

Due to the fact that many local stars have enlisted and others are members of national guard units, the entry list is not as large as during former seasons. Local players have been meeting teams in outside towns and in this way aroused much interest, but enlistments affect other cities.

Among the local stars will be Billy McCreath, who has won several city championships; Charles Pollock, James Jackson, Glenwood Beard, Robert Shreiner, Charles Koons, A. S. Black, John Kunkel and Edward Clark. Miss Katherine Sweeney, Mrs. Chris Sauer, Mrs. John Runkel and Miss Mildred Sheeser will compete for honors in women's events.

From outside of the city W. R. Shearer, of Carlisle, will be one of the contestants. Middletown will have several good players on hand. Announcement was made to-day that preliminary rounds must be played off by to-morrow evening or matches will be forfeited, while the first round in all events must be off by the end of the week, it has been announced.

Contestants are requested to get in communication with each other at once and arrange to play off their matches in accordance with these rules. The tournament committee. During the progress of the tournament match play will have precedence on certain of the courts, as announced by the tournament committee, and an arrangement to this effect has been made with the Park Department. Courts will be assigned by to-morrow evening and must be turned in to Courtkeeper Vogler.

SPORTLIGHT FOR AUGUST 1... THREE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Three years ago to-day A sudden shadow came by land and sea; But all the groping millions went their way; Or smiled and whispered, "It could never be"; And they were right—for who was so insane To think the world could turn to blood and tears, The world that knew the sunlight and the rain And all the golden visions of the years?

Three years ago to-day The shadow was no longer than your hand; And so from all the wondering array How could it be that one might understand? Yes, they were right—the shadow soon must pass, For blood was still too dear a thing to flow Like mighty rivers gushing in one mass To fill vast oceans waiting down below.

Three years ago to-day Five million men were living, where to-night Gray ghosts are groping from the shell-swept way To find their peace beyond the bitter fight; Five million men were living—who have died, And who must bide their time in unknown graves, Because a mad king was not satisfied To sit content with eighty million slaves.

THE NEXT UPHEAVAL Unless we have slipped a calendaric cog, Jess Willard gathered in his title two years ago last April.

Since that time, a matter of nearly two years and a half, the champion has exhibited his wares in exactly and precisely one ten-round affair, lasting exactly and precisely thirty minutes, so far as actual sparring was concerned.

Willard was not a kid, even then. He hasn't grown any younger since. And while there have been various and sundry attempts leading to an outbreak, not even the most thick skinned of all the promoters could quite so far as to-morrow evening or matches will be forfeited, while the first round in all events must be off by the end of the week, it has been announced.

First mention was made of Jack Dillon. Then it was Carpenter; then Fred Fulton and then Carl Morris.

But the expected demand from the public failed to develop. The attitude of the public was one of growing indifference. Mr. Willard would desire at least one more personal encounter at so much per encounter. And there is a hazy rumor afloat that a Mr. Morris and a Mr. Fulton will be booked for one more jamboree, the winner again to test the public demand for a Willard battle.

There were times when it would have worked, and worked with abandon. But just at present there is a fight under way 3,000 miles distant which is occupying most of the public mind and which by a great man is still considered as a trifle more important than a test of Willard's punch. So the heavyweight schedule for the moment stands but little chance of being sent through.

A CALL FOR AN EXPLANATION "Can you explain to me," queries R. R. J., "why football, tennis, golf, etc., have all given so many voluntary recruits to the army and navy where professional baseball has sent only one man?"

We can only give the player's side of it, as outlined by the player himself. A majority of the ball players are married, with dependent families, and no great amount of money saved up. And they know they have only a few years at best to carry on their profession.

Those who play football, tennis, golf, etc., are playing their games for sport. Those who play baseball are playing for a living. Baseball in this respect can't be treated as a sport, but as any other profession.

The average of voluntary enlistments by the younger, unmarried players should be much higher than it is. But there is at least a very good excuse for the married majority.

ARMY LIFE AND SPORTING SKILL How will army life affect sporting skill? No one can tell yet, as no test has been made.

Two or three years' service would undoubtedly lower the average standard heavily. The younger entries might get going again in tennis, golf and even baseball after two or three years' service. But most of them would lose more of their skill than they could ever hope to get back again in a more peaceful age.

GOLF MAXIM He who hooks one out of bounds Will often say far more than "sounds."

"Siam enters war against Germany." Or, in the words of the ancient ditty—"Every little bit helps."

Highspire Shooters Plan Big Event For Saturday

The Highspire Rod and Gun Club will hold a special meeting at the clubhouse to-morrow evening at 7.45 o'clock. All members of the club are urged to be present.

The regular monthly shoot of the club will be held on Saturday afternoon when cups and trophies of the club will be contested for. Interest in these shoots are increasing and the club officers expect to have a large turnout at this shoot. Special prize shoots are also on the program.

German U-Boat Enters Spanish Port For Repairs

Columbus, Spain, Aug. 1.—The German submarine U-23 anchored in the harbor here late yesterday evening. She entered the roadstead with only her periscope emerging from the water.

The submarine had been seriously damaged but the commander and crew refused to tell the causes of the accident. The underwater boat anchored beside the German interned ship Belgrano.

The German submarine U-23 is of the coastal type. She was built in 1915-16, is 108 feet long and carries a crew of 20 men.

WELLY'S CORNER

This was the day set for the opening of the Hasset Boys' Club camp at Marsh Run. Just because it rained was no barrier. These athletes know what bad weather is and they never stop. During the camp there will be some interesting sport.

Under the direction of the tournament committee of the Harrisburg Tennis Association, the annual matches at Reservoir Park courts were scheduled to start this afternoon. Those in charge have been hustling to make this a big success. While there appears to be less interest than a year ago, participants promise interesting competition.

Gettysburg club owners will auction off their franchise to-night at Hagerstown. The players have been showing good form in spite of financial troubles and several of the stars have already been sold to major leagues. This should be an inducement to bidders. The Blue Ridge is one organization that has been showing a fast pace, and it would be a pity to have any team drop out at this stage.

Ruxton A. C. will not give up the county championship without a fight. This team has won a big majority of games and has played many contests out of town and would like to meet some claimants to the championship. Manager Raymond Kohr, 1908 Greenwood street, may be consulted any time on the plans for a series.

If Manager Pat Moran's pitchers get into a winning stride there will be no stopping the Phils until the finish and then they will be at the top. Of course there is that little "it."

Local teams in the race for championship honors must not overlook the Sixth Ward Casino. That team is a Harrisburg organization and the only aggregation of colored stars in the game. They are a clean-cut bunch and play the game according to rules.

made their way to selected positions and were mounted on concrete foundations laid long before. Millions of shells which are to-day turning the German front into an inferno of death and destruction were brought up and stored while the enemy watched with unseeing eyes. Long lines of the straggled tanks took the road and the living monsters crawled clumsily but persistently northward to take their place in the allied battle line.

Clearing stations were established at vantage points and everything possible was done to care for the stream of wounded which was sure to result. The Germans were like a man who waits with tense muscles in the dark for the attack of an unseen foe, knowing the onslaught of colored stars in ignorant of the moment or nature of it.

Thoroughness of preparation is one striking characteristic of the British method and it is safe to say that there is no one man but had rehearsed the part he was to play in the opening stage of the great conflict.

Two Harrisburg Boys Who Are Eager For Active Service in France

The two soldiers pictured above are Harrisburg boys who enlisted in the army early in February and are now training for service in France. The man on the left is Jack Oberholzer, 713 South Twenty-one-and-a-half street, a member of the quartermaster's corps at Fort Slocum, and Quartermaster Sergeant S. G. Enders.

Mr. Oberholzer is training to run an armored tractor in France. He will receive the rank of sergeant. Young Enders is a nephew of former Councilman Robert E. Enders, who is now training for a commission as second lieutenant. Both soldiers were in this city last Sunday for the last time before going into active service.
