

MOVING PICTURES AT INSTITUTES

New Ideas For the Series of Farmers' Meeting Through-out the Commonwealth

Plans for systematic use of moving pictures as an adjunct to practical talks on ways to increase food production are being worked out by the State Department of Agriculture in conjunction with the State Defense Commission. The institute will start on November 13 and run until about March 15 and the whole course of lectures will be of the horse sense and speed up variety. The State Defense Commission, which has kept the farm counselors at work since the adjournment of the Legislature as a means of stimulating raising of foodstuffs, has arranged to give extensive aid through the counselors and to provide some additional speakers. The questions asked by farmers the last year will be studied in order to afford the greatest amount of information. Special lectures in potato culture, raising poultry husbandry and soils will be a feature in the five sections in which the State has been divided for the carrying on of the institutes. In addition there will be instructions on apiculture work in the bee sections or in the sections where much fruit is grown and the bee is needed for pollination. There will be a new move in the introduction of the various phases of successful farming and beekeeping. At the various institutes the Pennsylvania Commission on Public Safety and Defense will have speakers to talk on food production and conservation and it is likely that the United States government will have speakers to talk on matters which are now being worked out in Washington. A large corps of speakers are now being trained in Washington to assist in the Farmers' Institute work. The section leaders will be William H. Patton, in the southeastern counties; Sheldon W. Funk, in the western and southwestern districts; J. T. Campbell, in the northern section; D. H. Watts in the eastern section and J. Stuart Grouse in the central and southwestern section. Mr. Grouse is a new section leader succeeding E. B. Dorsett. All of the section leaders and the majority of the institute lecturers are practical and successful farmers and will talk on subjects which cover their successful practice on their own farms. CHAPLAIN BASSLER PREACHES LAST SERMON AT HIS CHURCH

Will Go With Eighth Regiment to Camp Hancock; Says Soldiers Need Him More Than Congregation; 14 Years Pastor of Second Reformed

The Rev. Harry Nelson Bassler, chaplain of the Eighth Regiment, National Guard, of Pennsylvania, which leaves for Georgia this evening, finished his pastorate at Second Reformed Church yesterday. At both services he referred to the work of the fourteen years he had labored with the congregation and at the morning service spoke of the call to service among the soldiers as the greatest that could come to him. He thanked God that he was able to take up the work.

It was during the reading of the 23d Psalm that his voice, breaking under the thought of parting with his people, showed the depth of his feeling in taking leave of them. Again at the evening service, during his sermon as he told of his effort, in the fourteen years of his pastorate, to do a kind deed every day, his voice broke and it was apparent that his words, which he did not desire to be a farewell he said, were moving his people to tears. In his parting message the Eighth Regiment Chaplain pointed to the words of John, the Baptist, that he had performed no miracle, but that he had spoken for a living Christ and had thus preached the gospel. In the four- teen years we have worked together we have been a busy people," he said. "I have tried to do a kind deed daily; I have tried to disperse the gloom in saddened homes; I have endeavored to preach the love of Jesus. Too often," the preacher said "we depend on the dramatic. We place too much stress on oratory and the architectural beauty of our house of worship to attract the people. Believe me, dear friends, the most effective way to work for Christ is to tell the story of his love and saving power in simple fashion so that all may understand. When in the years to come other voices are heard in this pulpit, may it be said that all we have uttered concerning Jesus in these fourteen years was true. In order to further the kingdom it is not necessary that our field be large, nor is it to be expected that the effects of our sermons and service will immediately be known." In concluding the preacher referred to the epitaph on the tombstone of a factory girl in the city of Glasgow, who had borne testimony as a Sunday school teacher to the saving power of Christ: "She performed no miracle, but through her words others believed on Jesus." There was special music at both services by the choir under the leadership of George T. Hutman. At the morning service the choir sang "Break Forth Into Joy," by Greenish and in the evening, "I Will Praise Thy Name, O Lord," by Solly. At the close of the evening service many of the large congregation waited to say good-by to Pastor Bassler, who leaves with the Eighth Regiment for Camp Hancock this evening.

Next Sunday the pulpit will be filled by the Rev. Dr. H. M. J. Klein, of the Theological Seminary at Lancaster. The Rev. Dr. Bassler advised his congregation to choose a pastor and continue activity in its work in all departments of church activity.

Will You Make a "Hussiff" For Marines?

Washington, D. C.—Will you make a "hussiff" for the Marines? The Navy League has issued a call for "hussiffs" for the Marines now training for service in France.

"Hussiff" is the marine's way of saying "housewife" and a "housewife" in the Marine Corps means the sewing kit. It is made of cloth, thread and scissors, that makes it possible for the U. S. Marine to be the smartest looking soldier in the world.

The sewing kit wanted by the Navy League is made of cotton khaki, sewed with red thread—the khaki is made of cotton, and the thread is thirteen inches long and seven and a half inches wide, and has five pockets three and a half inches deep by two inches high, and is made of top flap folds over the pockets and covers the contents of the kit. A red tape twenty inches long, sewed one inch back of the center pocket, ties the kit when rolled up.

A pair of blunt pointed scissors four inches long; number one needle and thread; a hair pin; a comb; a safety razor; cards holding heavy khaki, black and white thread, and the two safetypins strung with khaki thread, comprise the contents of the kit.

These kits cannot be purchased by the government, and in order to provide the men going to the firing line with these useful comforts, workmen throughout the country must make them. Local sections of the Navy League, and all other workers who are urged to begin this work. The Comforts Committee of the Navy League at Washington will furnish explicit directions as to how to make the sewing kit. It will secure the distribution of them to the sailors and marines through individual channels in accordance with the instructions of the Secretary of the Navy.

Other Medicines Did Me No Good, Sanpan Did

says Mrs. Mary Parker, 1230 Monroe street, Harrisburg. "I had a bad stomach for a long while, after meals I would bloat with gas and had intense pains in my stomach and under ribs.

"In the morning when I awoke, had a nasty taste in my mouth and my stomach was sore. I felt stiff and hardly had enough ambition to get up. "I was troubled a lot with headaches, and felt worn out and miserable all the time. "Medicine did me no good, I read of Sanpan, and gave it a try, with the result that I am well, the result was simply wonderful. "I awake feeling fresh and strong, stomach is great, have no headaches, and feel better than for years. "Sanpan is being introduced at Ketter's Drug Store, 405 Market street, Harrisburg, and give it a try. Sanpan man is meeting the people—Adv.

OFFER PRAYER FOR SCHOOLS

Ministers of City Plead For More Extensive Use of Bible

Yesterday was the National Day of Prayer for Public Schools and was observed by Harrisburg ministers with special sermons. Dr. William N. Yates, pastor of the Fourth Street Church of God, and a former member of the Harrisburg School Board, stated in his sermon yesterday morning that, "The biggest need of Harrisburg as a city is men with backbone enough to do and stand by the right regardless of the threats of the political bosses and rings; men who would rather see a political party broken to pieces than to back down on a question that is right."

At his evening service Dr. Yates preached a powerful sermon against the liquor traffic and its supporters, using for his subject, "Worse Than Germany."

Schools Responsible The Rev. A. E. Hansen, pastor of the Park Street Evangelical Church, observed the National Day of Prayer for the Public Schools, by addressing his congregation on "Why the Bible Should Be in Our Schools."

MISSION ASSISTS DOWN-AND-OUTS

James W. Barker Tells Rotarians Those Bethesda Helped Earned $2,500 in One Month

Members of the Harrisburg Rotary Club heard the Bethesda Mission campaign explained at luncheon today by James W. Barker, member of the club and prominently identified with the mission since its foundation.

"The material worth of this mission," said Mr. Barker, "is well illustrated by the work it has done in putting men and women on their feet. The 'down and outers' report to the mission shows that during one month alone these persons, now self-respecting residents of Harrisburg, earned a total of $2,500. When it is remembered that they were penniless, homeless and a charge on the community when the mission took them in hand, the benefits of the mission to the community may be well realized. This aside from the inestimable benefit to the individuals themselves and to the community in a moral and spiritual way."

Mr. Barker said the mission is in sore need of funds, the fact that work is plentiful having no great effect on the number who find themselves in misfortune and temporarily in need of assistance.

Plan Outlined At the meeting of the club to-day the Rotarians made plans for the outing at Paxtang on Wednesday when Lancaster, Reading and York clubs will be here to participate in outing events. Luncheon will be served at the park at 5 o'clock. The club is also making preparations to take the Rotary women on an afternoon automobile trip with dinner in the evening. The club turned out this afternoon in the farewell parade.

Next Tuesday evening the Rotarians will meet at the Harrisburg Public Library to hear State Librarian Thomas Lynch Montgomery speak on the campaign to equip soldiers' camps with books. The club will lend its aid to this effort.

BUSY MEETING WILL BE HELD

Negro Protective Association to Instruct Southern Men in Voting

The hall of the colored Knights of Pythias will be the scene of an important meeting of the Negro Protective Association this evening. All the colored men of this city who are entitled to vote was asked to be present at 8 o'clock in order that the meeting might start on schedule time.

The meeting will be of importance from the fact that the Association which was formed some time ago by the leading colored citizens of this city has for its aim the political independence of the negro.

The influx of the Southern negro is the cause of the speedy work on the part of the Association as many of these men have never before been able to vote. These men are especially invited to be present and to become affiliated with the association.

Girls Who Come Here to See Soldiers Sent Back

Edna Knaub, aged 16, and Carrie Oberlander, 17, two York girls, were sent back home by the police of this city yesterday. They came here to see their soldier boyfriends. Victor Smith, a young private of Company H, Seventh Regiment, stationed at Gettysburg, had been attentive to the older girl, and, it is said, attempted to procure a marriage license, but neither party was old enough and the parents would not give their consent to the match.

The Knaub girls' sweetheart failed to show up, and a youth named Sprangle, of New York, filled in for the occasion. Railroad detectives noticed the couples and found that the girls had run away from home. After talking over the wires with relatives in York the girls were sent home.
