

EXPECTS TO LEAD CAMP MEADE MEN ON TO BERLIN

General Kuhn Reviews Division For First Time; Buy Liberty Loan Bonds

Camp Meade, Md., Oct. 12.—Major General Joseph E. Kuhn, commander of the Seventy-ninth Division of the National Army, has already selected the hotel in Berlin in which he will establish his headquarters when he leads the selected men from Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia into the German capital. General Kuhn is, perhaps, more anxious to "get there" than any man in the Army to-day. It was he whom the Kaiser characterized as a spy when Kuhn was a military observer for the United States, and the General has a few scores he is quite anxious to even up with the future "Mr." Hohenzollern.

General Kuhn reviewed his division for the first time yesterday and he was proud of the showing made by the men who will blaze the way for democracy under him. Turning to a friend, he asked what he thought of it as the men were assembled in mass formation about a stand on which he stood.

"It is wonderful, General," said the friend, "and if these lads continue to be as interested and as enthusiastic as they are now, there is little doubt about them getting to Berlin."

Chooses Lorenzo's Hotel "They will," was the quick reply. "You know I know the way. It will not be difficult for me to lead them from Potsdam to Berlin, and when we get there I'm going to eat dinner at 'Tony' Lorenzo's hotel. It's one of the best in the world, and I'll take it over for my headquarters." "Suppose 'Tony' objects?" asked the friend. "He will not, I am sure, because he knows me," said the commandant. General Kuhn was proud of his men as he watched them. They were assembled so that the opening guns of the Liberty Loan campaign could be fired. It was the first time they had ever been assembled as a division and they acted like veterans of many wars rather than like men who held places in all the walks of civil life only a few weeks ago. After he had talked to them about the Liberty Bonds, the General congratulated them on the spirit and the enthusiasm which they had displayed.

SHEEP TO BE SENT MANTOBA Toronto, Ont.—Acting upon the recommendation of W. J. Hanna, the Manitoba government will spend $125,000 for the purchase of Ontario sheep, which will be sold to the farmers in that province at cost. Sheep are being sold in large numbers in Ontario, and the Food Controller thought it would be a good opportunity to buy at reasonable prices and stock up the farms of the West.

TRAINING FOR ALL YOUTHS IS TO BE URGED

Congress Will Be Asked to Consider Military Measure This Winter

By George Garner Washington, Oct. 12.—Its time entirely occupied in belated preparations for the long inevitable entry of the United States into the world war, Congress has adjourned without action on the subject of obligatory and universal training, as provided in a bill by Senator George E. Chamberlain, of Oregon, a leading Democrat and chairman of the committee on military affairs. Expectation prevails, though, that the measure will be brought up soon after the reassembling of Congress in December.

Since the entry of the United States in the war, voluntary training of this kind has been instituted in many schools and colleges in America, and it is possible that the plan for training boys may be incorporated in Senator Chamberlain's bill affecting older youths and men. In Germany before the war the military training of schoolboys was voluntary and without arms, but now all boys of 16 years and over are obliged to undergo military training. England has had only voluntary military training for schoolboys, but Australia has made such training compulsory for all boys of 12 to 18 years, and New Zealand for boys over 14.

Twenty Nations The following summary of the policies of twenty nations will be of interest and value in consideration of the subject of military training for boys and youths in the United States:

Great Britain—Strictly voluntary work, carried on by private agencies.

Australia—Military instruction compulsory for all boys of 12 to 18. New Zealand—Compulsory military instruction for boys over 14 years.

Canada—Voluntary military instruction in all public schools.

France—Prescribed military instruction without arms, and rifle practice in elementary and higher secondary schools for ages 9 to 13 years, rifle practice limited to boys over 10 years, with specially trained instructors. Also, strong organizations carry on the work of military preparation among older boys.

Germany's Plan Voluntary organizations of older public school pupils and pupils of secondary schools, training without arms. Decrees issued during the war provide for preparatory military training of all boys over 10 years.

Austria—Voluntary organizations for military training of pupils in secondary schools, under government protection; optional rifle practice in the last two years of secondary schools.

Hungary—Voluntary organizations in elementary, secondary and higher schools, while in many districts military instruction is obligatory in secondary schools.

Switzerland—Instruction in military gymnastics in elementary schools obligatory throughout the school age. Conducted by specially trained instructors. Voluntary rifle practice and military drill both with and without arms.

Sweden—Compulsory rifle practice in public secondary schools for boys from 15 to 18 years of age. Given by special instructors.

Norway—Voluntary rifle practice. Bull For Boys Italy—Military training given as obligatory subject in "national colleges." Private agencies provide for simple military drill for younger boys.

Spain—No distinct military training is given. Some simple drill is included in the program of physical training.

Portugal—No military training is given in schools. The subject of "physical culture," which is taught generally, includes simple drill with-out arms. Boy Scout organizations are numerous.

Russia—Prescribed military gymnastics in elementary and secondary schools.

Netherlands—Military training given in voluntary organizations for boys over 15 years of age.

Single Drills Greece—Very intensive military instruction is given in gymnasia, under the patronage of the king. Simple drill obtains in all public schools in connection with physical training.

Japan—Military gymnastics obligatory in elementary, secondary and normal schools.

Mexico—Obligatory military drill with arms in all primary and secondary schools. Regulated by state laws.

Argentina—Obligatory military training in the last two years of secondary schools. Specially trained instructors.

Bolivia—Simple drill in connection with gymnastics.

The universal training proposed by the Chamberlain bill and supported by the American Defense Society, is a democratic measure which would apply to all sorts and conditions of men and would bring the rich and poor together on the common ground of preparedness "against" war in the future, rather than preparedness "for" war.

Mrs. Havemeyer Asks Suffrage Not to Aid Liberty Loan Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer, the suffrage leader, who, according to dispatches from Baltimore, is credited with having called on suffragists to oppose the second Liberty Loan, or at least to do nothing to aid its flotation. Mrs. Havemeyer is said to have given as her reason the fact that "We who demand true democracy are thrown into jail for doing so." Many New York suffrage leaders have expressed their resentment at such sentiment.
