SUGAR IS ON WAY TO EAST

City Welcomes News of Shipments Scarce Here; Visits 11 Stores to Get 2 Pounds

The announcement that 100,000,000 pounds of Louisiana sugar will be shipped to New York, Philadelphia and Boston in time to prevent an absolute famine, will be regarded as good news by Harrisburg people.

The situation in this city has not materially changed since the first of the week. At that time Harrisburg wholesalers had in stock scarcely enough sugar to meet the needs of this city for one day. Small lots have been received since that time. Few retailers had an adequate supply, and many merchants do not have a pound of sugar in their establishments to-day.

One of Harrisburg's large department stores is selling only to regular customers, and in limited amounts. Few dealers will sell more than two pounds to any person in one day. There is no actual famine of sugar in the city, for the dealers have wisely adopted a plan which will give every one a little of the precious commodity, but the opportunity to hoard sugar has been removed before the counter and endeavor to persuade the clerks that their cases are not intended to return and argue the matter later in the season. Sugar is scarce. Those who lined up before the counter and succeeded in buying two pounds of sugar is not unusual.

The high level at which sugar is being sold is ten cents. Some dealers have not increased the price above nine and one-half cents a pound. When the big consignment of Louisiana sugar is received here, it is believed that the price will drop to normal.

Wholesalers are not prepared to say when this city will receive the expected supply, but housewives are urged to conserve as much as possible until conditions are different.
