

GOVERNOR PAYS VISIT TO BOYS AT CAMP MEADE

Brumbaugh Party Inspects Cantonment and Delivers Messages to Soldiers

Camp Meade, Md., Nov. 8.—Governor Brumbaugh visited Camp Meade to-day. He reviewed his "boys," explored kitchen, mess hall and barracks room and left after he had given the following enigmatical statement on the political situation in Philadelphia:

"The fifth ward troubles has been so concerned in the political contest in Philadelphia that I prefer to say nothing about it until the courts have passed upon the trouble."
No such reticence marked his attitude toward the cantonment, however. He went everywhere, saw everything, spoke to everybody and then observed:

"It is wonderful, wonderful. I came down here to assure the men of Pennsylvania that I stand by them, and I have simply been overwhelmed by the wonder of it all. It is marvelous."
The Governor and Mrs. Brumbaugh motored from Baltimore where they had passed the night. It was about noon when they arrived, and General Kuhn had been apprised of the coming of the party. He, together with Mrs. Kuhn, was on hand to greet the visitors, who included Colonel Louis D. Kolb, Colonel J. Howell Cummings, Private Secretary William H. Ball and a number of women. Mrs. Kuhn acted as hostess to the latter, while the General showed his guests about the headquarters buildings and adjacent structures. Then he escorted the party to the parade ground. The Governor remarked:

"My, my! but it doesn't seem possible these men came down here only six weeks ago. They are fine, fine, and the state is very proud of them."
The review over, the Governor became "Neighbor" Brumbaugh. He took his leave of General and Mrs. Kuhn, saying:

"I promised several people in Germantown and Harrisburg that I would drop in on their boys, so I guess I'll look them up."
With Mrs. Brumbaugh he went to the barracks and chatted with several of the boys in khaki, gave them the message from their families and left for Camp Lee, where other Pennsylvania soldiers are encamped.
The vote of Camp Meade, which may decide the issue between the Town Meeting and the Vares-Smith parties, will be given out by the County Commissioners in Philadelphia. The judges and inspectors, after they finished the count, sealed the ballots in envelopes and sent them to Philadelphia to be counted. In many instances the boys did not keep their tabulation figures for reference here, so that, except in few companies, it is impossible to learn them. Both sides here claim to have carried the camp, and neither will yield to the other in that respect.

It is stated the building will contain over fifteen apartments of modern type. Other transfers by the Eckels agency are the farm of the Brethren Home in Dickinson township, to George Woodrow, of Penn township, for $3,000 and the Henninger property in South Hanover street, Carlisle, to A. 20,000. By all means, a searching investigation should be instituted and legal proceedings taken to expose and correct the fraudulent returns.
"No methods were too desperate for the contractor-bound to employ to defeat the will of the people at Tuesday's election. Men who deliberately used gunmen and murder to carry the primary would, of course, not stop at anything to avert disaster and defeat at the election."
"An especially careful scrutiny should be given the returns of the soldiers' votes from the camps. These votes were taken by commissioners owing allegiance to the Vares, with apparently wide-open opportunity for juggling. It is significant, not to say suspicious, that these returns

Soldiers Watch Food Conservation Drive With Much Interest in Camp

Soldiers in camp and soldiers at the front are watching with deep interest the enlisting of soldiers in the conservation army. Word came to Philadelphia yesterday that in one camp 25,000 soldiers had signed the pledge card simply as an evidence of their faith in the folks back home. In all of the camps and cantonments the soldiers are studying the figures on the enrollment. Knowing that Pennsylvania led all the states of the Union last July in the preliminary campaign the men are confident that their native state will hold its position at this time.
Major General Kuhn, in command of Camp Meade, which is made up principally of Pennsylvania men, has sent the following telegram to Dr. J. Russell Smith, in charge of the Philadelphia campaign of the Pennsylvania Committee of Public Safety:

"The serious business of war demands personal sacrifice from every member of the nation. Economy in the household is a direct contribution to the winning of the war by setting forth free labor and material for war purposes. Food conservation, which means food economy, is virtually important not only for our own soldiers but for those of our brave allies."

Knitting Is Encouraged by War Department

Despite contradictory reports which have been in circulation, the knitting of sweaters, mitts and other comfort articles for soldiers is encouraged by the War Department. The Pennsylvania Committee of Public Safety is enabled to make this reassuring announcement on official authority to all mothers, wives, sweethearts and friends of men in the service.
No attention should be paid to rumors to the effect that knitted goods are not acceptable and that Army men are not permitted to receive them. There is only one caution issued to the patriotic women who are producing this war apparel: Don't use gaudy yarns. All such articles should be knitted in neutral colors, otherwise the soldiers will not be allowed to use them. The reason for this ruling is plain. Bright colors render soldiers conspicuous and expose them unnecessarily to the enemy's fire.

It is much preferred by the War Department that knitted goods be given to the Red Cross for distribution as that organization knows exactly where there is most need of them. The department, however, does not deny anyone the right to donate such goods to individuals or to regimental units.
