

SMOKES NEEDED IN TRENCHES TO KEEP MEN HAPPY

Contributions to Telegraph Fund Means Much to Many a Yank

"You know what the Governor of South Carolina said to the Governor of North Carolina, don't you, old man?" begins one of Uncle Sam's boys, sitting from the trenches to a friend.

Well don't bother about passing on anything in the liquid shape. Boose doesn't go over here. A swallow of French claret the first week we landed is all I have ever seen in the line of intoxicants, and you would call that deadly. But smokes—oh, Bill, that's what you get hungry for. Real smokes; American smokes. Say, you would not know whether you were inhaling tobacco or burning carpet rags when you puff this French tobacco. I don't know where they ever get it. It cuts our throat and makes you feel soopy that everything seems blue. Just to show you what a chap will go for even a butt of a cigar when it is made of good old Davyback brand of a fellow in another command. New York lad, who was laying out on the line watching some luns in a dugout. He had a hook for protection, but the Huns had his range so close that he didn't dare show an inch of him without getting plugged. He was there nearly an hour and would have been reeved without injury if he had not tucked out his hand to cop half a cigar which he had dropped in hiding behind the rock. As it was the Huns drove a bullet through the very middle of his right hand. And our can't blame him."

If the contributions keep up as they have been coming in to the telegraph many a Sam will have a happy good, fragrant smoke of tobacco and not be compelled to take such chances. For 25 cents sent in the soldier receives two sacks of Lucky Strike cigars, three sacks of Bull Durham and a tin of Tuxedo. This, through the generosity of the American Tobacco Company, which gives 45 cents worth for every quarter dollar contributed. Previously acknowledged... $742.28 Lee W. Fisher, Hummelstown, 1.00 J. ### HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the air passages, relieves congestion, loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Reduce Your Fat Without Dieting

Years ago the formula for fat reduction was "diet"—"exercise." Today it is "Take Marmola prescription tablets." Friends tell friends—doctors tell their patients, until thousands know and use this convenient, harmless method. They eat what they like, live as they like, and still lose their two, three or four pounds of fat each week. Simple, effective, harmless Marmola prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists—a large case for 75c. If you prefer you may write direct to the Marmola Company, 864 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.—Advertisement.

THEY GAVE UP FOOTBALL TO PRACTICE THIS DRILL

This introduces Messrs. Parry and Thrus, better known as Harrisburgers as William H. (Bill) Bennett and Corporal Paul Weaver, of Steelton. As star guard on the Harrisburg Academy football team for three years, most every one has heard of Soldier 'Bill.' And, by the way, 'Bill' says that the team representing his company which he coached has not lost a game since August 1917. Both Bennett and Weaver, the lat-

The Philadelphia District, with over two million population, sent 516 men. Pittsburgh, with two and a half million population, sent 297, and Scranton, with 1,800,000 population, sent 251. These are the September figures. To-day Sergeant Blake will address a mass meeting at York. Wednesday he will address a similar meeting at Hanover and Friday he will address the Chamber of Commerce and the Defense Committee at Allentown.

CAMP MEADE IS BETTER FOR WORK DONE BY Y.M.C.A.

Home Touch Added Through Tireless Efforts in Cantonment

Camp Meade, Nov. 13.—Ten days is a sufficient acquaintance with the Y. M. C. A. in an Army cantonment to reveal the splendid work this organization is doing to supplement the training which the selected men are receiving in the life military. To say the Y. M. C. A. is supplying helpful influences to the youths in khaki is to speak the truth tritely and without the proper perspective. The Y. M. C. A. takes men on the basis that they are men and treats them as such, with every consideration for the qualities of real manhood. Six weeks in a theater of the activities of this organization makes the writer declare that it is an essential to the Army. Far from being polite reasoners of dilettantes, the Y. M. C. A. workers is the apostle of virility and a force at work without which the Army would not have half of its present splendid morale. It levels all class distinctions in the broad-mindedness of its outlook and the general appeal that it makes to innate manhood and to no special class.

In Camp Meade the Y. M. C. A. has expended $100,000. It has spent this sum without beating any tom-toms of publicity, or trying to hierdial the expenditure as anything tremendous. It has put every dollar where it would do the most good, and it is their home, their fire, their association in which each of them holds a personal interest. Its activities are manifold. It teaches men the strength of continence and the value physically of clean living. It has its meetings where the boys are told of the dangers of the wrong paths of dissipation. The men sing the grand old hymns and they read their Bibles. But the objective of the Y. M. C. A. is to force no Bible in an unwilling hand.

Auditorium Seats Thousands
Its principal structure here is the auditorium, which was recently dedicated on Prayer Sunday. It has a capacity for at least 3,000 to 4,000 soldiers. It is the club of the cantonment, with no dues, but a decent regard for the ordinary amenities of life. Here the homesick youngster goes to write to mother, father, or perhaps to sweetheart. He finds plenty of other lads doing the same and when they finish they naturally fall into conversation. Thus the road is easy toward cultivating one another and there grows between them a bond of sentiment that is stronger than ordinary friendship. Stamps, envelopes, everything of that nature is furnished to the boys. The interior of the building is large enough for basketball, and here the interregimental contests are staged, with seats enough for the spectators. Often there is a ring placed inside the building and boxing bouts are staged.

Nearly forty thousand soldiers are here. They come from every station in life; they have every racial and religious difference possible in this nation. Some of them are struggling to talk the language of the country for whom they may have to give their lives. Others are getting out from the upper strata of society and meeting the submerged tenth for the first time. Some of them have been college men and others have had their diplomas from the university of "hard knocks." But twice they meet on a common level. Once is when Uncle Sam sends them into his armies. The other is when the Y. M. C. A. throws its protecting arms about them. Meade is one of the melting pots of the United States, but the Y. M. C. A. is the puddler with seats enough for the spectators. Often there is a ring placed inside the building and boxing bouts are staged.

An army might exist without the Y. M. C. A. But let one who knows whereof he speaks say that it had better not. The general will tell you, and every private knows it.

How War Tax Operates on Your Theater Tickets

Much interest has been manifested as to why a tax of six cents is charged when two twenty-five cent theater tickets are purchased. The war tax is one cent for every ten cents, and most of the patrons of the boxoffice think that for two twenty-five cent seats the war tax should be five cents. The man in the boxoffice, however, asks for six cents. The ruling of the tax bill is that for every ticket transaction there must be a tax of ten per cent, and every ticket bought is a separate transaction. Therefore in buying a twenty-five cent seat, the purchaser must pay a tax of three cents, and buying two twenty-five cent seats, a tax of six cents.
