

COAL SHORT IN PERRY COUNTY

Administrator D. H. Meck To Name Men in Every Town to Assist Him

Marysville, Pa., Dec. 3.—Coal shortage in many Perry county towns has reached an acute stage. D. H. Meck, of New Bloomfield, county fuel administrator, is now conducting an examination of conditions in various sections of the county. Every effort is being made to secure a sufficient supply of fuel for industries.

The shortage has reached such stages in many sections of the county that immediate help must be secured. Mr. Meck expects to appoint within a day or so local committees in every town and district of the county, who will report to him. This is expected to help relieve conditions.

In Marysville the shortage is as pronounced as in any town or district of the county. Many storekeepers and many more householders do not have any coal in their bins and many more have only a few pounds.

Local dealers do not have any coal at all in their bins and not even the "coal cards" in use in some cities would help conditions here.

SENIOR CLASS BAZAR

Camp Hill Fire Company Asks for Motor Apparatus

Camp Hill, Pa., Dec. 3.—Tomorrow evening the Camp Hill Fire company will hold its annual election of officers. Interest has been revived and a large number have pledged themselves to be present. Many new applications for membership have been received. These applications will be acted upon in the first order of business and the new members given the right to participate. The matter of transferring the company building, worth $4,000, to the borough has not been determined. Should the council take the building over it might virtually mean the borough would be obliged to equip and maintain a paid department. Many do not think Camp Hill is in a position to do this. The bonded indebtedness on the building is $2,000. It is expected the company will continue to carry the burden of the indebtedness and maintenance, and ask the incoming council to purchase a new chemical motor truck. In either event, it is likely that a slight increase in tax millage will be necessary, if Camp Hill is to have fire protection. The borough is without even water plugs.

Men's Furnishing Departments—Gilbert Day, Manager

To the Public:

It is certainly gratifying to me to be permitted to have a word of my own printed in our advertisement.

I am very desirous of having the young men of this city come in to see us and give the boys who help me the opportunity to show what really fine Christmas stocks we've gathered for you.

Mr. Strouse has always made it very clear to me that whatever I select for stock, whether it be a shirt or tie or underwear, or any bit of haberdashery at all, to be sure to get the best and price it fairly, so that I will uphold the policy of the store which he has outlined.

I am sure that my friends (for they are the ones who know me best) will vouch for the accuracy of my statement that Mr. Strouse's store is without question a fine store for any fellow to deal with.

Gilbert O. Day.

A Man's Gift From a Man's Store

New Facts About Teeth

Which Supplant All Former Theories

By Wm. M. Ruthrauff, A. B., A. M.

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

The Source of All Tooth Troubles

Is a Slimy, Albuminous Film

Now it is known that a film on the teeth is the basic cause of all tooth troubles.

That discovery has upset many former theories. Now it is known that tooth preservation demands that film's removal.

You can feel the film with your tongue—a slimy film—even after brushing. But you cannot see it, for the film, unless stained, is transparent. That is why teeth look clean.

It absorbs stains—nicotine stains in particular. That is why teeth discolor.

That film is albuminous. Therefore it forms a perfect breeding place for germs. And germs are a cause of pyorrhea.

It clings to the teeth, grows thicker and firmer, and finally hardens into tartar. And tartar is another cause of pyorrhea.

It holds food particles which shortly ferment, forming lactic acid. And that's the cause of tooth decay.

So that film causes all tooth troubles. The most common is tooth decay. That is caused by an acid which that film holds in contact with the tooth. The film protects it where it can't be reached by neutralizing alkalies.

The most dreaded is pyorrhea. That is a disease caused by tartar and germs. Both are the result of that film.

Tartar is hardened film. Stains and discolorments are in the film.

Thus clean teeth mean filmless teeth.

Brush them as often as you will. Use any dentifrice you choose. While that film exists your teeth remain unclean. They remain unsafe. Germs are bound to breed around them. Decay cannot be avoided. Teeth will not long stay white. New-day dentistry is founded on this fact.

Feel your teeth now. That film is there, no matter when you cleaned them. Your dentist will assure you that it must be kept away.

Brushing Does Not Remove It

Soapy Applications Harden It

That film resists the tooth brush, and in crevices escapes it. So ordinary brushing does not clean the teeth.

Every soapy application has alkali in it. And alkali hardens albumin.

That is why our old methods proved ineffective. That is why tartar formed. That is why teeth discolored and decayed. That is why they bred germs, despite all our attention.

We brushed them, but did not dislodge all the film. A stain like iodine will prove this.

Three years ago a way was found to keep rid of this film by the aid of a digestant. Five governments already have granted patents on it.

The way is called Pepsodent. The basis is pepsin, the digestant of albumin.

But pepsin alone won't do it. It must be activated by an acid. And the usual acid—hydrochloric—is destructive to the teeth.

The solution was found in an acid salt—a neutralized acid which will activate pepsin. That discovery made Pepsodent possible. And with it came this revolution in the use of dentifrice.

Pepsodent brings activated pepsin in contact with that film. The object is to digest and dissolve it, so brushing can remove it. Two or three applications will show its amazing results. Your teeth will feel as though just cleaned by a dentist's polisher. You will know that the film has met a dentifrice which it can't resist.

Exchange this coupon for a One-Week Tube to prove this. It is free. Use it, and let the clear results argue for themselves. You will never go back to a dentifrice which leaves your teeth coated with film. Please act today. Clean, white, filmless teeth are too important to delay. Cut out the coupon now.
