

ARRIVAL OF HUNS STIRS PETROGRAD

hold the ministries of the interior, justice, posts and national affairs. Trials Are Listed The trial of persons who have been arrested by the Bolshevik authorities was to have begun yesterday before a military revolutionary court, according to delayed dispatches from Petrograd. The first person to be tried, these reports said, would be Countess Pannin, former assistant minister of education, who was arrested for refusing to turn over to the Bolsheviks the funds of her department. The Council of Petrograd University on Friday elected the countess an honorary member in recognition of her educational work. A dispatch from Tashkent, capital of Turkestan, describes the lynching under horrible circumstances of General Korovitchenko, who was Kerensky's military commander in the province. The Italian embassy has made a formal protest against the pillaging by armed men of the apartment of the ambassador's first secretary. It is reported the Germans are moving troops from the Russian northern and western fronts to the southwestern and Rumanian fronts. Many news dispatches from Petrograd speak of the supposed impending arrival of the Germans there which is said to be the universal topic of discussion in the city, but everyone seems to have a different version. Many of these stories center around the reported concentration near the capital of a large force of released German war prisoners to whom arms are being handed over, according to some of the reports. Referring to these rumors the Petrograd correspondent of the Post says unquestionably thousands of German war prisoners are flocking toward Petrograd from all parts of Russia, but he believes that at present a more important phase of the situation is the active and thorough manner in which the Germans have been pushing trade with Russia since the frontier was opened. He reports they are making the most of a commercial opportunity such as the world has never seen before, inasmuch as Russian industries are nearly dead and the Germans have no competition. The Germans have refused to admit M. Zinovief, close associate of Nikolai Lenin and other Bolsheviks, whom the soldiers and workers' delegates wished to send in to spread their doctrine in the German army. They also declined to admit Trotsky's newspaper printed in German for army propaganda. The Bolsheviks are negotiating with the Social revolutionists of the Left for the formation of a coalition government wherein the latter will

WEST SHORE NEWS

Calves Become Wild Animals Running at Large For Half Year Hunters Shoot Them For Owner Marysville, Pa., Dec. 24.—Starting on a hunt for deer in the mountains near Covalen, a party of young men of that place returned with a pair of calves as their only booty. The calves, belonging to Charles Liddick, had been lost last summer while Liddick's herd of cattle had been pasturing on the Cove Mountains. Every effort had been made to find the cattle and nothing could be done until the snow came, when the hunters were able to follow their tracks. Absent from civilization for over half a year, they were so like wild animals that the hunters were unable to capture them alive, and were compelled to shoot them to secure them for their owner.

York Co. Drys Gain; Four Less Applications

York, Pa., Dec. 24.—Liquor license applications in York county for 1918 number four less than for 1917. The temperance forces are already lining up to wage fight to prevent the granting of a number of licenses. Remonstrances must be filed before January 14, the session of the license court falling on January 21. There are no new applications filed, this being the first year in many years that an effort was not made to open additional hotels or other liquor places. Three of the 1917 applications were for hotels in the county which the court refused to issue last January and for which no application was made this year for licenses. The refusals were for violations of the liquor laws. The hotels in question were the Hotel Auditorium and the Delta Hotel, in Delta borough, and the Jack Tavern in Lower Chanceford township. The Jack Tavern was purchased by residents of Lower Chanceford township to prevent it from ever again being opened as a licensed hotel. It will be conducted as a temperance house.

FAMOUS DANCERS ARRIVE IN CITY

Pantomime to Tell Whimsical Story, "After the War" Madama Olive Roshanara, the beautiful Anglo-Indian dancer who, with her company of thirty people, will be the attraction at the Orpheum to-morrow, matinee and evening, arrived in Harrisburg last evening and in the day of the distinguished entertainer roamed about our "busy burg" comparing it with Rangoon, Mandalay and London. Roshanara wound up her tour of the metropolis on the invasion of a lunch room where you "wait on yourself," and much to the amazement and curiosity of a couple dozen regulars she finally gave up the task in consternation. When they found out that she was one of the premier dancers of the world everybody hurried to lend her a hand and Madame thinks well of Harrisburg's geniality.

McCaleb to Direct Coal Distribution in State To prevent hoarding of coal and to equalize the distribution of the task of William B. McCaleb, formerly superintendent of the Philadelphia Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and now superintendent of water lines of that road, who has just been appointed to the position of State Fuel Administrator William Potter, of Philadelphia. Mr. Potter found that the coal scarcity was becoming so critical a problem that it was necessary to have some one thoroughly acquainted with the line of transportation, appealing to the Pennsylvania Railroad, George D. McCaleb, vice-president, recommended. As the situation stands now, some places are practically in the grip of coal famine, while other places are well supplied. Again, it is a notorious fact that many dealers and heavy consumers have hoarded stores of coal, to the misfortune of others, who could not afford to lay in supplies. Mr. McCaleb's particular work will be confined to directing the transportation of coal, getting it shipped promptly when promptly when the director ascertains where the need is keenest. AID POOR FAMILIES At the annual Christmas giving service yesterday at the Stevens Memorial Methodist Church, every class in school pledged itself to give groceries to the poor of the city. Both men, wealthy citizens of Peoria, and well-to-do quarreled a good deal lately, as each considered the other a rival for the supremacy of the bank. According to the police, Strause would make no statement except that he had trouble with Road and "was compelled to shoot him." The directors of the bank, after they had been called in a hurried conference, issued the following statement: "The bank's resources are intact. The shooting resulted from a personal grievance between the two men."
