PLAN GOOD ROADS AT CONVENTION

County Supervisors Hold Annual Session in Court-house

The importance of good roads in the county districts to improve market conditions need of signposts at crossroads, and maintenance of highways for heavy vehicles were some of the points emphasized by speakers at the annual session of Dauphin County Road Supervisors, held in courtroom No. 1, to-day. Adam Palmer, of Wiconisco, president of the supervisors' association, presided at the session. H. G. Niesley, county farm agent, was the first speaker on the program. Mr. Niesley spoke at length to the supervisors on the need of good roads because of the markets and declared much cheaper prices would prevail if farmers were afforded better facilities for reaching cities and boroughs. Wesley A. Wynn, engineer in the Bureau of Township Highways of the State Highway Department, was the other speaker. In his address he gave a review of labor conditions and the difficulties existing all over the state because of labor shortages. He urged the county men to see that signposts were provided for all crossroads.

Following the addresses many of the supervisors told of the road conditions because of the heavy snow-storms during the winter. In a number of townships some of the roads are still unopened, while in other localities hundreds of dollars have been spent to organize gangs of men to shovel open the main highways. The business session of the association was held this afternoon.

HUNS MEET LITTLE OPPOSITION IN DRIVE

Continued from First Page. tured by the Teutons. The occupation of Dvinsk on Monday was a complete surprise to the civilian and military population. The Germans met with hardly any resistance and took artillery and much ammunition. The German advance probably will continue until an authenticated copy of the message of surrender is received from the Bolshevik government in Petrograd. This is now on its way. Foreign Minister von Kuehlmann told the German Reichstag that he believed the new war would bring peace in the east. The treaty with Russia was made for the purpose of forcing the Bolsheviks to accept the German terms. Germany, he declared, wanted a peace with Russia that corresponded to German interests. In announcing that the German invasion of Esthonia was in answer to appeals for help, Dr. von Seydlitz, the Austrian premier, declared that Austria-Hungary will not aid Germany in her renewal of the war on Russia. French Troops Successful In a brilliant attack in Lorraine French troops have gone through the German first line on a lengthy front and captured more than 400 prisoners. This was the first of a large number of successes in the west. In 1918, was carried out north of Bures and east of Moncel, virtually on the Franco-German border south of Chateau-Salms. Complete details of the successful effort are lacking. There have been many raiding enterprises by both sides in this section of Lorraine recently and this front has been looked upon by French military leaders as one where the Germans might make their headlong drive to the northeast of Luneville and east-northeast of Nancy. German Attack Repulsed A German attack at Four de Paris, in the Aronne, has been repulsed with losses by the French. On the British front in France there has been increase in the raiding and artillery activity. Americans Check Raid American troops in their sector northwest of Toul have checked another German raid, the enemy being driven back by artillery fire. German airmen are reported to control the air over the American sector and Wednesday evening twenty German machines and British airmen have carried out raids into Germany. On the Italian front Italian and British airmen bombed airfields and other targets.

London, Feb. 21.—Further advances of three and one-half miles on a front of seven and three-quarter miles has been made by the British forces in Palestine. The War Office announces. The British also advanced northwest of Jerusalem to a maximum depth of one mile on a front of four miles.

Compensation Rate High, Says Congressman Esch

Washington, Feb. 21.—Opposition to the House draft of the administration's railroad bill, particularly its provisions for compensating the period of government retention after the war was voiced to-day by Representative Esch, speaking for the minority of the committee. He said the proposed rate of compensation is too high. The power to initiate rates should rest with the Interstate Commerce Commission rather than with the President, and that the roads should be returned to their owners as soon as possible. The proclamation of peace, instead of two years as proposed by the House bill. "Owners of our railroads should be content to receive a guarantee of payment of all fixed charges. Representative Esch said, "including operating expenses and interest and regular dividends on outstanding stock. Any surplus above such payment ought either to go to the government to aid it in meeting the guarantee, or be equally divided between the owners and the government."

RAILROAD BILL IS FORERUNNER

Continued from First Page. takes over the railroads, it will take the telegraph and telephone privileges and then the products for fuel, particularly the lands of coal and oil and put these under government direction. "All agencies of this nature in this republic, necessary to the public welfare of man, will be taken by the government as a necessary protection of the republic." Railroads Surrender The railroads, Senator Lewis declared, confessed their inability to meet the situation and by surrendering to the government admitted that the one power capable to carry on the work under the existing conditions was the government itself. "The government now conducts the roads and directs them as the proof of its power and ability to do so," he asserted. "Private ownership of railroads failed us for the purpose of sending supplies to ships or for transport of soldiers for foreign service. What would be the calamity under private ownership if enemies were at our gates and in possession of our country? "Let us announce that the United States is a government and shall assume governmental responsibility in protecting all public agencies of human welfare from being a monopoly of private pillage." If this is done, Senator Lewis said, any Bolshevik uprising in the United States will be avoided.
