Americans Hold Positions Berlin Reported Captured; Yanks Take Empty Trench

With the American Army in France, April 18.—The American troops northwest of Toul again took possession of No Man's Land, near Apremont forest, last night, after a week in which the shell-torn land between the trenches was virtually deserted, except during the long series of attacks, because of the violence of the fighting.

The American patrols went out last night seeking a machine gun nest, which was reported in front of the German trenches. They found it empty. The patrols went up to the barbed wire in front of the enemy first line, but encountered no Germans.

The enemy apparently has given up, temporarily at least, his attempt to penetrate to the American third line, after the crushing blow they sustained in their attempts with specially trained shock troops last week.

The two German aviators shot down by Lieutenant A. S. Winslow, of Chicago, and Lieutenant Douglas Campbell, of California, Sunday, mistook the aviation field, where they encountered the American aviators, for a German camp, according to information to-day.

Winslow and Campbell were playing cards in an aviation shed, when they received the report that two enemy aviators were headed in their direction at a height of about 6,000 feet. Both men who were on duty and fully dressed in aviation costume, ran on the field, jumped into their machines and mounted into the air to repel the invaders. Later they were modest in giving a recital of their experience. Lieutenant Winslow said:

Captive Gets Honor by Mistake "When we got up in the air, we saw the Germans approaching. Campbell picked out one and started for him and I started for the other. I got on to the trail of my man and shot a round of machine gun bullets into the machine. He looped around my machine, but I found it for position and again shot a round at him. His machine quivered for an instant then nosed downward, landing almost in my hands. I circled around to make sure that his machine was out of commission, then arose to help Campbell, but he had already mastered his adversary."

Lieutenant Campbell said: "My man saw me first and fired a round at me. Some of the bullets punctured my machine, but did little damage. I finally got over him and let fly. His machine caught fire and started to fall. I followed it to the ground."

Campbell's adversary was badly burned about the face but will recover. Winslow's opponent was unhurt. Both of the enemy airmen were less than 20 years of age. Both Winslow and Campbell were excited and nervous after landing. Winslow walked up to his German adversary and handed him a cigarette then remounted his machine and climbed in the air to escape the crowd of persons who had congregated about him.

As each month rolls around bringing with it its-ups and downs, it is becoming evident that the West Shore Bakery is gaining in popularity. For the past few years ago, it has now grown to be one of the largest bakeries in Central Pennsylvania. Not so very long ago a new plant was built and every modern appliance known to the bakery trade was installed to facilitate the work and to produce a quality of bread that would maintain its reputation every day in the week.

A large part of the success of this firm is attributed to L. M. Bricker, the superintendent and general manager. Mr. Bricker has a large experience in the baking business and is an aggressive businessman. In introducing to the people of central Pennsylvania O. K. bread, he has given them a standard that is hard to beat.

Central Pennsylvania Dairies Among the Best in the Country

There is a good bit to say in regard to the kind of stock that a dairyman has as to the kind of milk he sells to his customers. Take the model dairy farm for instance and you will see usually well contented cows. They are well taken care of, the milk is regularly and sure to produce the best kind of milk.

Central Pennsylvania is one of the best dairy centers in the country. The milk produced is the best there is. The people of this city are in a position to get rich milk and cream. Another thing is that the majority of milkmen are conscientious in respect to their dairy farms.

Ryder Bros., of Lemoyne, have one of the model creameries of this section. All the modern appliances for the betterment of the milk is installed in this dairy. The proprietor has a long experience in the milk and cream business and takes extra pains to produce milk and cream under the most sanitary conditions.

They maintain a delivery service and deliver to every city. They can be reached with the Dial phone.

Spring Housecleaning Time Is In Full Swing Buy Your Supplies Now

The regular spring housecleaning time is now in full swing. The past week delayed this work to a certain extent, but more seasonable weather is now almost an assured fact and the usual best conditions of homes is now the order of the day. Hubby will usually be very busy at the office or on a business trip of great necessity and therefore can't be at home to help, or else will be at the office late at night when returning home (with the sofa out of its place and a rocking chair where it shouldn't be, etc.) will be like a derelict on the high seas.

But that shouldn't worry the missus any for with the up-to-date appliances, and the abundance of good cleanser at hand, housecleaning is soon over. B. B. Drum, the uptown grocer, has announced a sale of soaps and cleansers for the coming week. This is real money-saver to the housewife. Besides soap and cleansers, he also carries a full stock of buckets, brooms, scrub brushes, etc.

Among the supplies carried are all kinds of chandelier fixtures. Estimates are gladly given and when you are contemplating having electricity installed in your home, think about the being out of the high rent district and have Mr. Ross give you an estimate on your work. He is located at New Cumberland and can be reached by telephone.

When figuring out the cost of doing business, rent, wages, usual running expenses, and other items are all added in. Those firms that are out of the high rent district of course have less rent to pay and naturally their running expenses are lower. They can sell their goods at a reduced rate from that of the merchant in the business center.

Elwood D. C. Ross, the New Cumberland electrician, is one of those merchants who conducts his business out of the high rent district. He carries a complete line of all kinds of electrical supplies and does all kinds of repair work.

One of Mr. Ross' specialties is wiring homes, both old and new. There are no jobs too complex that they cannot be wired. Mr. Ross says, "you phone me and I'll wire you."
