

MAYOR CALLS ON CITY TO OBSERVE CLEAN-UP WEEK

Asks That Special Attention Be Given Rubbish on Vacant Lots

Mayor Keister in a proclamation issued last night urged the people of the city to be ready to aid in the official clean-up week, May 6 to 11, as much as possible. He especially requested that attention be given the vacant lots of the city during the clean-up week.

The Mayor's proclamation follows:

Whereas, at this crisis in the affairs of our nation the higher motive of patriotism urgently demands that every effort be made to assist our government in conserving life and safeguarding industry; and

Whereas, the daily walks of life we must take heed every moment of the good we can perform in this great cause, the rubbish heaps which are scattered about our city, and which are a source of danger to the health of the community, and which are a disgrace to our city, and which we must strive to remove from our streets, and which we must strive to remove from our streets, and which we must strive to remove from our streets;

Roosevelt Tells "Blue Devils" Pride in Sons in France Is Paramount

New York, May 2.—Theodore Roosevelt met the "Blue Devils" of France yesterday at the Harvard Club.

"Dee-lighted, certainly dee-lighted," beamed the Colonel.

"Vive l'Amérique! Vive Teddy!" cried the 100 picked poilus from Verdun and the Marne, and the cheers could be heard a block.

The meeting was arranged by Guy Emerson, director of publicity of the Liberty Loan Committee. Roosevelt was lunching with Martin Egan, Finley Peter Dunne and Julian Street when the blue-clad Frenchmen marched in with bayonets fixed to their rifles.

The luncheon was forgotten. The Colonel was introduced to Lieutenant Albert Le Moal, commanding, and to the other officers.

"Nothing could give me more pleasure than this," said the Colonel in French. "Let me speak to the men. Some one translate what I say."

Lieutenant Edouard C. Potevin volunteered.

"Soldiers of France," said the Colonel, "there are no men in all the world who every good American is as glad to welcome as you soldiers of France. I have been President of the United States. I am proud of that, but prouder far am I that I have four sons fighting in France."

The soldiers smiled their appreciation, and the Colonel continued.

"One of them has been wounded and made civilization safe for the rest of the world. There is no possession in my family that I prize more highly. And when we have beaten the Boche and made civilization safe for the nations of mankind we shall owe the greatest possible debt to France."

"There is only one set of men who are supremely to be envied to-day. They are the men to whom the great good fortune has fallen of fighting

Nursery Home Rummage Bags Rapidly Filling

That the 22,000 thrift bags distributed throughout the city by the Nursery Home, are rapidly being filled with salable articles, is the statement made by officials of the Nursery Home to-day. The bags were recently distributed, and people were asked to place in them articles of the kind which would be thrown into the waste basket. These articles are sold by the Home and the money is used for the support of the institution.

Yesterday it was suggested by J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic Association, that the city clean-up week, be given to Nursery Home to assist them in their campaign.

Sproul Predicts His Nomination

"Everything looks favorable to my nomination," said Senator William C. Sproul, on leaving Williamsport to-day for Pittsburgh after having a very busy day yesterday meeting prominent people of Lycoming and adjoining counties. At noon he addressed the 1,500 employees of the Lycoming Foundry and Machine Company, telling them of the development of the gas engine and his experience with one of the earliest type, which he used in his newspaper office at Chester. He was accompanied in his rounds by Bruce C. Keefer, prominent manufacturer and former food administrator for Lycoming county; Joseph W. Cochran, a son of the late Henry Cochran, and former business associate of Senator Sproul at Chester, and C. H. McCauley, Jr., prominent young lumberman.

At noon Senator Sproul was the guest of honor at an informal reception held at the Ross Club, the leading club of the city, where he met many of the foremost business and professional men of Williamsport. From the Ross Club he was escorted to the Young Men's Republican Club, where another reception was held, and where two hundred or more well-known Republicans met him and partook of a buffet luncheon.

Among those who called were all of the members of the Williamsport City Council, Mayor Archibald M. Hoagland, and other members of the city, and did much to make his visit one of the satisfactory stops of his tour.

Last evening C. H. McCauley, Jr., gave a dinner in honor of Senator Sproul at the Williamsport Country Club. Here he met many only from Lycoming, but also from seven or eight of the adjoining counties.

Coca-Cola Gaining in Popularity

Every year sees rapid strides taken by the Coca-Cola people in the manufacture of that popular drink. More and more people are finding out what wonderful properties Coca-Cola has as a thirst quenching medium. 1917, while considered a hard year for most all business, was no exception to the rule for the onward march of Coca-Cola popularity. There was more sold last year than ever before. And 1918 is already taking its place in the race to outdo 1917.

Coca-Cola is a national beverage. It is as well known in the towns and cities of Maine, in Sunny California; in Northern Washington and in the everglades of Florida, as it is right here on the banks of the Susquehanna river. Everywhere people drink Coca-Cola, and no matter where you go, you may rest assured that there you will find the drink that is your favorite, Coca-Cola.

In Harrisburg, Coca-Cola is manufactured and bottled by the Coca-Cola Bottling Works at 1326 Marion street. Modern and up-to-date machinery, machinery capable of bottling thousands of bottles a day, is installed. Sterilizing apparatus for the thorough cleansing of bottles that goes into the Coca-Cola manufacture most sanitary and wholesome is also installed.

Coca-Cola is sold by all soda fountains, a good many grocery stores and many other places. However, if you cannot get it conveniently call the Coca-Cola Bottling Works and have a case delivered right at your home.

Everyone Is Knitting; Very Easy to Learn

Never before has the American woman taken to knitting on such a scale as the present time. Every one of them who did not know how to knit before, is learning now, and those who have not are almost out of date. The Red Cross has been the incentive to many of them, and boys of their own for whom they are knitting.

A great many women thought that knitting was hard, until they tried it and then to their delight they found out how easy it was. Only a few practice makes the average woman proficient in the use of the needles as many of our great-grandmothers. One of the serious questions is knitting in winter. Front Street, at the corner of Pine, has a large stock of hand. He sells the best grades. He also teaches knitting. He has a large trade in stamped goods and all necessities.

Cash and Carry Plan Taking With the People

It is evident that the people everywhere are taking kindly to the "cash and carry plan" as inaugurated by several grocers in the city. Yet two or three years ago these same people looked with horror on the idea of carrying home their groceries. That necessitated large delivery facilities which as a matter of fact cost large sums of money yearly to the consumer, not the grocer, for he has to charge such things to expense. Progressive grocers have seen that with the advance of prices, something had to be done to hold prices down as much as possible so that the consumer would get as much for a dollar as was possible. One of these changes, that of taking off unnecessary overhead expenses has ushered in the "cash and carry plan."

One of these grocers, who has pushed this plan forward is S. S. Etter at 1515 Derry street. Seeing the advantage for the consumer in this plan Mr. Etter has perfected it so that he can give the lowest possible prices for every commodity that he sells. Mr. Etter while long in the grocery business, has just recently opened this store at 1515 Derry street. The entire stock is absolutely fresh and the prices for quality are as low as the market will permit. This store is equipped with all the latest fixtures in the grocery line, a coffee mill of the latest type, a slicing machine, that is right up to date for slicing smoked meats, up to date scales and a good many other appliances for the betterment of the grocery trade.

Another word that is necessary in regards to the "cash and carry plan," some people do not realize just what this means to them. By carrying home your groceries you save the expense of delivery and this is a big item, thereby lowering the price of the groceries that much. With competition as it is to-day the grocer has to make his prices as low as possible. If you are not entirely familiar with this plan see Mr. Etter who will gladly explain it to you and also the advantage of buying your stock for the larder under this plan.

"Simply Marvellous" Results From Tonnal

"Hardly a day passed for years but what I would be tortured by sick headache and stomach trouble," says Robert W. Townshead, of 19 West 10th street, York, Pa. "My stomach gave me so much trouble that I was afraid to eat for fear of the after effects. I was constipated, in fact, days at a time and I would feel as though I could not work."

"I had tried several tonics and laxatives with the same result—momentary relief. I realized my condition was daily growing worse, and my acquaintances also noticed my condition and one of them recommended Tonnal to me."

"I at once bought a bottle and began using it. As a result I will just mention one fact: I have not eaten since the day I started using Tonnal and I was so hungry for it that I thought I would eat a piece as I felt as though my stomach would digest the result which it did. I simply feel that I owe this testimony to the public, as the results I have derived from the use of Tonnal are simply marvellous."

The above testimony was given November 8, 1917.
