SURPRISE GIVEN TO PORT ROYAL

Landing of French Aviator on Saturday Unexpected, but Greatly Enjoyed

Port Royal, May 7.—Lieutenant Georges Flachaire, of the French Flying Corps, landed here Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The aviator on leaving Harrisburg expected to reach Pittsburgh Saturday evening, but the fog was so heavy that he decided to land. As the scouting plane neared Port Royal, the aviator after circling over the town, landed on the green within the race track. Enthusiasm ran high when spectators learned that the birdman would remain here until Sunday. The secretary of the fair association immediately arranged for the housing and guarding of the plane. The aviator was entertained at the home of Dr. A. W. Shelley, who has a son, Dr. Penrose Shelley, with the American Army in France. Lieutenant Flachaire addressed a large audience in the high school auditorium on Saturday night, telling some of his thrilling experiences. Two hundred of the visitors drifted into Port Royal all day Sunday from Newport, Lewistown, Millintown and many other nearby towns. At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon the aviator performed some wonderful "stunts" in the air, sailing over the town, climbing, dipping, tumbling. The birdman then came down near the ground and waved good-by to the large crowd of spectators, dashing off and was soon lost to view. And in a short time word came over the line that he was safe at Altoona.

DIABETES

Do not be discouraged if you have diabetes and have failed to find relief—Try DIABETOL, a natural herbal medicine which has benefited many who had despaired of improvement. The effect of DIABETOL is oftentimes realized in the first week's treatment, improvement being noted in a reduction of the percentage of sugar in the urine and in the alleviation of other distressing symptoms of the disease. DIABETOL may be obtained at George A. Gorgas' Drug Store. A booklet containing valuable information on Diabetes and the DIABETOL treatment—free on request. Ames Chemical Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

FRANKLIN CARLISLE, Pa., May 7.—With reports practically all in and tabulated it was announced today that Cumberland county had sent a record of 145 per cent. subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan. In all, about $1,450,000 was pledged by 6,000 of the 40,000 persons in the section, Shippensburg having been cut off and added to Franklin county. Enola secured a high mark with a 100 per cent. of subscription and lower end towns were especially active. The "March the President Club" in the latter days of the drive brought in many subscriptions.

FRANKLIN CO. WAR GARDENS Thousands Will Enter Contest For Prizes Offered to Encourage Good Work

Waynesboro, Pa., May 7.—War gardens by the thousands are to flourish in Waynesboro and the adjoining townships this summer. All the boys and girls are going to get in the game and besides raising lots of good things to list next winter, will come in for some of the pretty and valuable prizes. If they work hard enough. These will consist of silver cups, gold and silver bronze medals, the People's National Bank, this city, has been commissioned to distribute the literature, promote the campaign and hold the prizes for final award.

NO COURT CASES LISTED FOR TRIAL AT CARLISLE

Carlisle, Pa., May 7.—For the first time in years the term of criminal court listed for Monday met and adjourned without a single jury trial. Judge Sadler took occasion to remark that he was glad to commend the work of District Attorney Lloyd in serving the interests of the country-at-large by cutting the court trials to a minimum. This does not mean, however, it was stated, that Cumberland was lax in the administration of the law, for pleas of guilty were entered in thirty-seven cases, the largest list of this kind in years. They will be sentenced tomorrow.

MARRIED IN MARYLAND

Carlisle, Pa., May 7.—That a romance had culminated in marriage became known here to-day when the wedding of Otto Lins and Miss Hazel Garland, of Carlisle, was announced. They graduated from the local school in the class of 1917. The groom is a son of William Lins, a leading local restaurateur, and the bride is prominent socially.

BOY DROWNED AT DAM

Waynesboro, Pa., May 7.—Richard Morningstar, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morningstar, of Halfway, was drowned Sunday afternoon while swimming at the dam one mile north of Kemp's Mill. The drowning was witnessed by a number of Waynesboro people, who had motored to the vicinity of the mills and were seeing their luncheon there at the time.

YOUNG MORNINGSTAR HAD GONE TO THE MILL WITH SEVERAL OTHER LADS, and he was the first to jump into the water, which was about eight feet deep. He had only been in about a minute when he sank from sight. His body was located two hours later. The lad was an expert swimmer.

TWELVE GRADUATE IN TEACHER TRAINING CLASS

Port Royal, Pa., May 7.—Special exercises were held in the St. Paul Lutheran Church of the Port Royal charge, the Rev. John B. Kniesley, pastor, on Sunday, when a class of twelve graduated in teacher training. The pastor was teacher of the class. Thirteen took the fourth examination, but Charles A. Woodward was called for war service before the time for the final examination. Private Woodward, who is stationed at Camp Meade, Md., was home and took part in the exercises. The program of the services included: Opening anthem; scripture reading and prayer by the pastor; address of welcome by Superintendent J. W. Kell; "Duties of Teacher and Pupil," Miss Charlotte Noel; solo, "The Pentecost Prayer," Miss Olive Woodward; reading, "Somewhere They Need You," Mrs. W. L. Woodward; "The Teacher's Encouragement," Mrs. Roy Kelly; duet, "Anchored at the Wharf," Misses Charlotte Noel and Olive Woodward; "The Sunday School, Relation to Church and Opportunities," Miss Olive Woodward; "The Power of Influence," Miss Rachel Woodward; address by the pastor; presentation of diplomas by Professor J. H. Deen, president of the Juniata County Sunday School Association.

Following is the roll of the 1918 graduating class: T. K. Beaver, Miss Edith Crozier, Mrs. Roy Kelley, J. W. Kell, Miss Hazel Millard, Miss Mary Nipple, Miss Charlotte Noel, Miss Olive Woodward, Miss Rachel Woodward, Miss Sue Woodward, Mrs. W. L. Woodward and W. L. Woodward.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY OF SIX MECHANICSBURG MEN CELEBRATED AT MYERS HOME

Mechanicsburg, Pa., May 7.—Yesterday the birthday anniversary of six men, who were celebrating a dinner given by S. Harper Myers at his home in East Main street, at 6 o'clock, and his guests were John Reiser, William Koller and Walter B. Zacharias, of Winding Hill, near town. Two members of the annual party, George Zacharias and John Reiser, were unable to attend, owing to illness. Including Mr. Myers the birthdays of all the men occur on May 6, but the ages range from 23 to 31 years.

Other guests on the happy occasion were: the Rev. B. L. C. Bair, G. E. Myers and Charles L. Martin, of Harrisburg; Carnations and ferns formed the centerpiece of the dining table and following dinner, the evening was spent socially and many witty speeches were made.

An annual event, this birthday celebration was instituted by the late George W. Hauck and has been a regular observance the past twenty years. The original members were George W. Hauck and Dick Charles, both deceased; George Zacharias, John Attick and John C. Reiser. Later William M. Koller joined the list, followed by Zacharias and S. Harper Myers.

Each member in turn as the year comes round entertains with dinner, which is planned in advance and considered of unusual social importance.

Yesterday morning in compliance with another custom, a floral design was placed in the grave of each of the deceased members by the survivors as a silent tribute to love and memory.

TWO ITALIANS ARRESTED AS DRAFT SLACKERS

Anville, Pa., May 7.—Two Italians were arrested by Policemen Forry, of Anville, and Forry, of Palmira, for failing to obey the order of the local draft board, whose headquarters is at Anville, to report for induction into the military service last Friday. Their names are Angelo D'Angelo and Francesco Laudarelli. Angelo had been employed at the limestone quarries west of Anville, while Laudarelli had only recently come here from Montgomery county, having been transferred by the local board there to the Lebanon county board for enrollment.

The two men will be given a hearing by the local board and if found guilty of willful failure to report for military service will be sent to the nearest Army camp as deserters.

BULLET PASSES THROUGH BODY IN ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Dover, Pa., May 7.—Harlan Dentler, aged 30 years, made a desperate attempt to take his life yesterday morning at his home three miles northwest of Dover by shooting himself in the chest with a bullet passing clear through his body between the heart and stomach. The local physicians were called and after temporary treatment he was taken to the West Chester hospital at York, where he is said to be in a critical condition.

He committed the act in the house in the temporary absence of his wife. She was close by when the shot was fired however, and was on the scene a moment later. It is understood that financial difficulties and domestic troubles were the cause.

PHILOKOSMIAN SOCIETY CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

Anville, Pa., May 7.—The Philokosmian Literary Society celebrated its fifty-first anniversary with an attendance that filled Eagle Hall. The society has seventy-two men in the United States service. The program rendered as follows: Invocation, the Rev. J. A. Shettle; overture, Keystone orchestra; president's address, "The American Idea," Paul O. Shettle; vocal solo, "Earth Is Enough," Jesse O. Zeigler; oration, "National Industrial Peace," Mark Wingerd; violin solo, Roy O. McLaughlin; oration, "The Other Side," Clyde A. Lynch; reading, "Foe's Diplomacy," exit march, by Keystone orchestra.
