Different Version Washington, May 18.—Government operation of the steel mills of the country may be sought if the Joint steel committee appointed yesterday representing the War Industries Board and the American Iron and Steel Institute fails to agree on steps to increase production for government and the Allies' needs and restrict nonwar consumption. Chairman Baruch and his chief aids, J. Leonard Replogle, director of steel supply, and Alexander Leggett, chairman of the requirements division of the War Industries Board, are understood to be prepared to ask President Wilson to take drastic action the moment they are convinced that is the only way to get increased steel production.

Ever Try To Even Things Up? Ever have a loss in business or in your work and try to "make it up" later on? It's pretty tough sledding to do it—and a heap sight harder if there's no makin' up in view! Take those hard winter months with the big snow storms piled up on the tracks! Everything went against us then! Cars were put out of commission, motors went bad, trolley wheels were scarce, car wheels were a rarity—one thing after another added to our worries and expenses mounted up into big sums! And we took our losses feeling like any other business people, that we'd make up at least a part of them when the summer days come along. Well, the summer days are here and with them the jitneys. Where were the jitneys in the winter time? Out of sight! Now, when the street cars are running on schedule time, tracks, clear, weather fine as silk, we had hoped to make up some of the winter losses! The street cars take you to every point of the city and suburbs. Don't you think they should be used! It costs no more to have twenty passengers in a car than to haul fifteen. Everything in the street car business has gone up in price but the fare. We want to give you the service. The street cars should have your patronage. Harrisburg Railways Company CORN FOR MINE EVERY TIME—says Bobby, when it's in the form of POST TOASTIES.
