"Bud" Weiser's Perfect Day at Bat Beats Hazleton, 7-0

"BUDD" WEISER

We have with us to-day Mr. "Bud" Weiser, the Shamokin slugger, who will jogle along down the corridors of history for some ages by reason of having a perfect day at the Bethlehem League. In five times to bat yesterday afternoon at Cottage Hill where Steleton decimated Hazleton 7-0, he smote the horsehide pellet precisely five determined smites, a rare feat in fast company, so say the performers. Mr. "Bud" Weiser, who in no way suggests this once alluring fluid, is no novice at the game, having imbibed baseball in the Southern League, with the Phillies and the New York State League. Manager Cockill had great confidence in him, likewise the Steleton fans, and yesterday he proved that he is a six-cylinder, king-row proposition who will do his little part toward winning the rag.

A good sized crowd saw this exhibition, which of course, does not count in the league contest, and they were fairly hypnotized with the skill and precision manifested. "If they only play like that next Saturday against Lebanon," sighed the rooters hopefully.

The pitching was first class, even Dougherty, the visiting twirler having plenty of stuff, but poor support. "Buck" Ramsey, the reliable guy, started for Cockill, and went along for five innings like a Yankee tank guard, a field of spaghetti. Lefty Pierce finished the game, allowing a couple trifling smacks.

In the aggressive "Bud" Weiser had every one faded, although Hunter's triple smash in the fourth started the day's scoring. Weiser had no regular debauch at bat. They could not stop him and he hung up a record that will stand at Cottage Hill for many a day—two singles, one double, one triple and one home run.

SHOOP WINS DOUBLE TITLE

Bags 41 Birds Out of a Possible 50, Defeating Stewart

Henry Brewster Shoop, the Harrisburg rifleman, who has never missed a state shoot, won more honors yesterday at the Lancaster tournament, capturing the state doubles championship for 1918 from his teammate, M. B. Stewart.

The Philadelphia captured the high average honor for residents of the state with 167 out of 175 targets and also won the shoot-off for the State Sportsmen's Association watch.

The morning program of seventy-five targets for the Stevens House gold watch trophy resulted in a tie at seventy-three between Fred Plum and H. P. Herrman.

His score of ninety-six only gave him a shoot-off opportunity, however, as J. B. Keyler, S. H. Croft, W. A. Miller, Paul Burger and J. K. Herr, the secretary of the club here, finished with the same score.

The class trophies on the day's program were won in Class A by F. Tomlin, 163; Fred Plum, 168; William Wolstencroft, 167, after a shoot-off with B. P. Herrman; Class B, Ray Walters, 164; T. W. Kelly, 164; J. K. Herr, 163; Class C, S. H. Croft, 162; A. A. Williams, 159; S. S. Hoffman, 156; Class D, J. A. Dewey, 153; A. M. Hellman, 153; L. W. Quinn, 152.

William Wolstencroft, of Philadelphia, tied with H. P. Herrman for resident high average and the Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Association gold watch.

The two-man team race was won by J. Stallings and G. L. Howder, of Pottsville, with 255 breaks at 100 single targets and twenty-five pairs doubles per man. There were more than 150 entries to shoot the entire program and, as the state championship will be at stake to-day, the entry should be much greater.
