Philadelphia.—United States Marshal Charles E. Hays, in his desk and saw two boyish faces peering over the top at him. Thinking they were messengers, he said "Well, boys, what's your name?"

CREST NEGROES TOOK WAS 370 FEET HIGH
London, June 12.—Among the notable feats of arms during Monday night, says Reuter's correspondent at French headquarters, was the magnificent counterattack of native African troops, supported by tanks, which enabled the French to retake La Porte Farm on a crest 370 feet high, just west of the Compiegne road, together with the high ground north of it.

BIGGER PROVING GROUNDS
Washington, June 13.—To enlarge the naval proving grounds at Indian Head, Md., and the auxiliary proving grounds just across the Potomac river in Virginia, President Wilson today authorized a strong effort being made just now to secure the adoption of a constructive policy toward Russia.

Nurses Who Loaf at Home When Army Calls Scored

Rich Who Engage Trained Women and Keep Them at Home Are Said to Be Not Patriotic

"Women of Harrisburg, wake up! This is the plea from the Harrisburg Red Cross, voiced to-day by Mrs. Jean B. Chamberlain, chairman of the local chapter committee for extension of the Red Cross nursing service, and supplemented mightily by Miss Frances Scott, superintendent of the Harrisburg Hospital Training School for Nurses. It did not need the forceful utterance of William Howard Taft saying that nurses are as necessary as infantry and artillery to win the war to call forth this message from Harrisburg workers. Since the very start of hostilities they have done everything in their power to stir up the women to the necessity of sacrifice in this activity."

Harrisburg has been no laggard so far in furnishing help of this sort and the Telegram is able to-day to print a roster of the roll of honor up-to-date. First come the women who went out in earlier days of the war and these include: Miss I. Kelchner, Blanche Plester, Anna Falk, Luella Davis, Adelaide Salzman, Molly Thompson, Dessa Fry, Mrs. R. A. Wood, Dessa Kiesel, Esther Laubenstein, Mrs. Graybill, Miss Miller, Miss Fanny Ogelsky, Miss Backenstoss, Harrisburg; Ella Brown, Clearfield; Olive Reed, Newcastle.

Next on the honor roll are those nurses who volunteered and were assigned by the Red Cross to service here: Miss Dora Josephson, Eve-lyn Davis, Minerva Martin, Mary Shamenan, M. Verdier, Miss Clausen, Polychio, and Miss Scott herself. These are all efficient teachers and will be ready to instruct the new volunteers who are expected to respond when the needs of the Red Cross are understood. It may be said here that Miss Scott was instrumental in getting the Hickok and Dr. Parks residences in front street for a nurses home and that now a volunteer nurse who intends to take the three-year course and thus release a qualified nurse for immediate service, will have real home surroundings.

When the recent call came for help for the Red Cross nursing equipment, training of high school girls in the service, thus continuing their technical education and acquiring a splendid profession with comparatively no expense; the urgency of sending American women to take care of American soldiers in French hospitals, especially nurses who can speak some French; the need for girls to help in Red Cross canteens which are being rapidly established at railroad junctures and at reconstructed villages. Attention is called to the important feature that the Red Cross is ready to finance any volunteer who has not the means herself.

Many Opportunities Opened
If any girl believes that she will be wasting her time in this patriotic service, Miss Scott can disillusionize her very promptly. "The opportunities for an expert nurse with three years training after the war will be unlimited," she pointed out to-day. "There will be many jobs in public health activities, in school nursing, in tuberculosis control, in visiting nurses, in teaching work, in instructing and in industrial work. An efficient nurse need have no fear of making a good living."

At the present time 8,000 Red Cross nurses are on active military duty and 25,000 will be needed by January 1. The minimum salary for service is $50 at home and $60 abroad with all maintenance, and special salaries for special service. Miss Scott points out, as emphasized in the letter received from Luella Davis, who is at Camp Lee, that the hours in camp work are only eight, while a private nurse frequently works twenty out of the twenty-four. Four big Philadelphia hospitals have offered their schooling to volunteer nurses from this district and Harrisburg hospital can take care, right now, of fifteen. The campaign for nurses' aids is almost as important, and any girl who is inspired to help save her nation in this death struggle should communicate with Mrs. Chamberlain, at Red Cross headquarters.

Prisoners Appeal to President for Place in Battle on Germany

Philadelphia, June 13.—Anxious to get out and fight for their country, inmates of the Eastern State Penitentiary have sent a letter of appeal to President Wilson. It was handed Mrs. John M. Gates, of 2039 Locust street, on one of her weekly visits to the prison. She did not know the men had decided to make this plea to the President, but she gladly promised to take it to Washington and present it to him, in person, if possible.

The inmate leading the movement will be free in August, but he said yesterday he is making this effort for the benefit of the other men. Several hundred of them were drilling in the yard, all looking to the time when they, too, can be "allowed to take their places on the firing line," as one man puts it, "to wipe out in blood if need be their dishonor of the past."

Warden Robert J. McKenty is heartily behind the movement to give the right sort of prisoners a chance to help Uncle Sam, and hopes the bill, which will be presented to the Legislature at its next session, providing for the giving of conditional pardons, may go through. The inmates of his penitentiary recently contributed nearly $4,000 to the War Chest, all earned from work done while serving their term.

We beg leave to tender to you, by the hand of a most faithful and sincere friend, Mrs. Jane Gates, our humble petition that you do exert your undoubted great powers in the securing for us of some part and parcel in the world's battle for human rights and freedom.

A War-Time Request from "Information"
THOUSANDS of times each day our "Information" operators are asked for telephone numbers which are listed correctly in the telephone directory. Calls to "Information" require greater service on the part of the operator, more time, and a more extended general use of telephone equipment, than any other form of local calls. Great activity in business has brought about tremendously enlarged volumes of telephone calling and demands for telephone service; telephone users will assist in handling this war-time load if they will ask for "Information" only after they have looked carefully in the directory for the number. Then the facilities required in handling the unnecessary information calls may be applied to care for the increasing volumes of important messages. Telephone service and communication are vital today; don't call "Information" unless you absolutely have to and thus help us as we serve!
