

NEW PROFESSORS AT GETTYSBURG

Heads of Civil Engineering and Romance Language Departments Chosen

Gettysburg, Pa., June 25.—Names of two of the men who were recently elected professors in Gettysburg College have been announced, and are Dr. Francis H. Clutz, who will be the Burton F. Blough professor of civil engineering, to succeed Prof. Chester Allen, and Prof. George E. Funderberg, who takes the place of Dr. W. S. Barney in the department of Romance Languages. Dr. Frank H. Clutz is a son of Dr. J. A. Clutz, professor at the seminary, and prepared for college in Baltimore City College, where he won the Peabody prize. He was graduated from Maryland College in 1892 with the degree of A. B. and in 1897 received the degree of Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins University. He has been employed by the Union Pacific Railway, the American Bridge Company, the T. M. Nelson Bridge Company of Chambersburg, and while at that place served one year as borough engineer. After serving as examiner in civil engineering of the Philadelphia civil service commission he entered the employ of the Bethlehem Steel Company as assistant engineer. Prof. Funderberg, the new professor of Romance Languages, is a son of Dr. Walter Funderberg, one of the leading citizens of Pittsburgh, where he is now located in the Philadelphia Academy. Pittsburgh, entered Princeton and received there in 1916 the degree of A. B. and high final special honors in Romance Languages. He pursued graduate work at Princeton and Columbia Universities, and will receive the degree of Ph. D. from the latter institution in October. He has been a substitute instructor both in Columbia and Princeton.

Miss Harriet Stuart Bride of Samuel F. Mohler

Carlisle, Pa., June 25.—A wedding of much interest occurred here on Saturday evening, when Miss Harriet Stuart, a daughter of Mr. L. B. Stuart, Carlisle, and Samuel F. Mohler, son of Professor and Mrs. J. F. Mohler, of Dickinson College, were married. The ceremony was performed in the Second Presbyterian Church by the Rev. Glenn M. Shar, who wore white, her veil being 150 years old and worn first by her great-grandmother. Miss Harriet Stuart is a graduate of Dickinson College. The bridesmaids were Miss Nora Mohler, Miss Margaret Morgan and Miss Naomi Long, of Carlisle, and Mrs. Donald Hosie, of Brooklyn, and the ushers, Carl Hartell, Edward Whistler, Gilbert Sadtler, Hugh Morgan, college friends of the groom. They will live at Swans Island, Maine, for the summer. Both are graduates of Dickinson College. Mrs. Mohler has been a teacher in the Carlisle high school.

Buying and Selling

That's the street car business pure and simple.

But it's not being done to-day in Harrisburg along the lines that will guarantee continued service indefinitely.

Why? Because it costs more to operate the cars than we are taking in in fares and when more is going out than is coming in, it means a decided loss.

Business cannot be continued at a loss.

Street car lines all over the country have encountered the same war conditions that we face here. The railroads have encountered them, too. The railroad rates have been increased to cover the added burdens.

In some cities the street car fare has been increased to help shoulder the extra costs of operation.

But the fare has not been increased in Harrisburg.

It is only natural that this condition cannot go on for any definite length of time, because the costs of operation are steadily increasing.

It is better for the people to help keep the street cars running, than to let the service go backward for lack of funds.

The government wants the street cars to keep up a high state of efficient service in order to help win the war. The street cars directly help win the war, because they take the people to and from work.

Isn't it better to pay more for car fare than to reduce the number of cars or adopt some other form of saving to cut out loss?

You cannot buy a dozen eggs for 40c and sell them for 35c. It won't work very long.

CUMBERLAND VALLEY

Coroner Decides Indian's Death Case of Suicide

Carlisle, Pa., June 25.—Coroner Deardorff arrived here last evening to conduct a view and investigate the death of Isaac Longshore, an Indian, on a visit to the Carlisle Indian School, who shot himself in a spectacular manner on a street corner here shortly before noon yesterday. He decided that it was pure suicide and that no inquest was necessary. The body is being held here pending communication with relatives in the West. Longshore was 22 years old, a Sac and Fox from Oklahoma, and had been to the school before. He arrived here on Sunday on a visit. He appeared to be suffering from a religious mania, statements given to Coroner Deardorff show. Yesterday morning in East Louthier street, he walked past a group of young girls. He turned to them, said "Good-by" and pulled a revolver from his pocket, firing one shot in his head just above the temple. He was taken to the Carlisle Hospital, where he died a short time later.

Mechanicsburg Boy Tells of Experience on Line

Ray H. Kumlir, Company D, Second Battalion, 117th Regiment Engineers, whose home is at Mechanicsburg, is right in the thick of activities on the French front, but as yet his company has escaped without any fatalities. Several injuries, however, have been suffered by members of the company. Kumlir had a narrow escape following a recent artillery engagement with the Hun. A shell, after plowing over the heads of several men and tearing the calf of one man's leg, embedded itself in the ground only a few feet from the Mechanicsburg lad, but luckily the shell was defective and no less than eight members of the company escaped "going west" by a narrow margin. Kumlir has been in some "daredevil" expeditions in the "land that belongs to no man," as he terms it, but he is fully confident of the ultimate downfall of the Hun. He says he will feel decidedly proud when he is able to return to "the states" with a dozen wound bars on his right arm, two or more service stripes on the left, with a bar or two on his shoulder.

SOLDIERS UNDER AIR RAID

Carlisle, Pa., June 25.—How soldiers from this section in camp in England were victims of a German air raid, is shown in a letter from L. C. McBride, formerly of Carlisle, now with the One Hundred and Ninth Machine Gun Company, in a letter to friends here. He speaks merely of the camp being raided, but gives no details.

Owen Funeral Services at Mechanicsburg Thursday

Mechanicsburg, Pa., June 25.—George Willard Owen, a prominent businessman of this place, who died suddenly of heart failure yesterday afternoon at his home in East Main street, was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Owen and was manager of the Good Road Machinery Company, and owner of the Eastern Supply Company. On March 27, he was married to Miss Lois Lilley, of Towanda, who survives. Mrs. A. Carson Stamm, of Harrisburg, is a sister. He was aged 57 years and was born in St. Cloud, Minn., moving here with his parents when 15 years old from Salem, Ohio.

He was a member of the board of governors of the Motor Club of Harrisburg, and the Hagerstown Driving Club, also the Business Men's League and the Washington Fire Company, of Mechanicsburg. Funeral services, conducted by the Rev. Dr. T. J. Ferguson, of the Silver Spring Presbyterian Church, will be held on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at his late home. Burial will be made in Chestnut Hill Cemetery.

HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Waynesboro, Pa., June 25.—A five-passenger touring car, owned by William C. Bardenhour, and driven by him, overturned at the Cumberland Valley Railroad bridge, near Greencastle, on Sunday evening. The other occupants of the car, Mrs. William C. Bardenhour, the Misses Crystabelle Lindgren and Glad Lindgren and Mr. Jensky, of Waynesboro, except slight bruises, escaped unhurt, but Mr. Bardenhour had his right arm broken between the wrist and elbow and received a badly sprained wrist. E. E. Lindgren, who was in another car, went to the rescue of the auto party and removed the car from on top of them.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN BURIED

Mechanicsburg, Pa., June 25.—Samuel D. Hess, a former resident of Mechanicsburg, and a veteran of the Civil War, died at the Soldiers' Home, in Erie, and was brought here for burial in the Mechanicsburg Cemetery this afternoon.

He was aged 73 years and for many years conducted a flour and feed store here. Later he lived with a daughter at Wormleysburg and about a year ago became an inmate in the Soldiers' Home. He was a member of the local Methodist Episcopal Church. Funeral services were held this afternoon in Wormleysburg at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. E. Lindgren, Mrs. Farence, of Mechanicsburg, is also a daughter.

CHAUTAQUA'S BIG PROGRAM

Full Week's Entertainment Prepared For Mid-Summer Meet at Mechanicsburg

Mechanicsburg, Pa., June 25.—"Carry On," the words made famous by Covingsby Dawson in his book on the world's war, will be the program for this year's Chautauqua. Mechanicsburg guarantors realize that even in strenuous war times a little diversion will be well received, and the zest in the war drives to the people as well as bring before them some of the best patriotic lecturers of the country. The program will open here on July 10 and continue for one week with one of the best programs ever presented, which includes the following entertainers: Dr. Carolyn E. Geisel, who will lecture on "Miss Columbia, M. D.," the Conrad Concert Company, led by Charles E. Lovejoy, "Children in War Time," McDonough-Baird Concert Company drama, "The Fortune Hunter," by Winchell Smith, a four-act comedy; concert by the Ongawags; lecture, "Humanity's Last Reserves," by Judge Marcus A. Kavanagh, of Chicago; concert by the Berkeley Sextet; opera, "Pinafore," pageant, "Liberty's Torch," presented by the Junior Chautauqua; concert by the "Belling-King" quartet, led by Captain Leslie N. Vickers, of the Royal Scotch Fusiliers, on "Life in the Trenches."

New Board of Health Appointed at Gettysburg

Gettysburg, Pa., June 25.—A new board of health has been appointed by the town council. The town has been without such a board for a year following the taking over by the State Board of Health matters here last summer, when it was felt that the higher authorities should attend to the subject. The main bone of contention at that time seemed to be the right of the citizens of the town to elect a health officer, borough limits, the town council agreeing with the state board on every question, but in this they practically refused to take any action, hence the ousting of the local board, and a representative of the state was sent here as the health officer. The matter seems now to be amicably adjusted and a new board of health appointed, which consists of Dr. H. M. Hartman, C. S. Speese, F. Mark Bream, the Rev. W. R. Glen and Dr. C. G. Crist.

Sergt. William H. Ziegler, Spanish War Veteran, Dies

Columbus, Pa., June 25.—William H. Ziegler, Sr., a veteran of the Spanish-American War, former chief engineer of the borough fire department, and top sergeant of Company C, of the old National Guard, when that company served on the Mexican border, died at his home on Sunday morning, aged 46 years. He was a member of Iron Molders' Union, No. 146, and the Vigilant Fire Company, and was credited with being the originator of the motor truck fire apparatus in Columbia. He was also a member of Salome United Brethren Church. He leaves a mother, wife, one son, and a brother and sister survive. He will be buried at Wrightsville on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Barbara Clinton, wife of the late George Clinton, who was killed some years ago on the railroad, at Marietta, died at her home in Columbia, June 25. She is survived by two sons. Augustus H. Weis, proprietor of the Shawnee House here, died at his home on Sunday.
