FARMERS SOLVE LABOR PROBLEM

Join Forces and Work in Fields of Neighbors on Different Days

Marysville, Pa., July 9.—Perry county farmers have not escaped the acute labor shortage that has been visited upon farmers of other counties and various means are being adopted by the tillers of the soil to harvest their crops with the highest degree of efficiency.

One plan being largely followed out in the rural sections of the county is that of several farmers working together. On one day the party will work in the fields of one member and the following day in those of another.

In this way they are able, they say, to accomplish more than if the one man, with his single team, was to work his fields alone.

ADAMS FARMERS SELLING WHEAT

Bringing New Crop of Grain to Warehouses and Receive in $2.12 Per Bushel

Gettysburg, Pa., July 9.—Adams county farmers have commenced to haul their new wheat to the warehouse and put it on the market for immediate use. Two dollars and twelve cents is being received, but this is higher than the price paid at this time last year and it is entirely uncertain as a gauge of what may be expected later on.

The first of the 1918 wheat was brought in on Friday, when Edward Eiker hauled some of his own wheat and some for his neighbor, George Wolf. The figure paid is six cents past for the 1917 crop is not based on much else than mere rumors concerning the probable rise in the administration's prices.

Larkin Bucher and Charles Toot are also among the farmers who are hauling wheat to-day and taking no chances. The selling of grain immediately after it is threshed is a policy followed by many who say that losses in shrinkage make up for any small gains in price. Reports from all over the county tell of a satisfactory yield.

Conditions for harvesting are as good as possible so far as reaching the threshing machines is concerned. The program was being rendered the machine was stolen from in front of the church. The machine was a Buick six, and bore Maryland license No. 62776.

and there was a general scramble to take advantage of the privilege. Coming so soon after pay day, which was on Wednesday, most of the men were financially able to avail themselves of the opportunity and a large percentage left soon after dinner.

Taxi drivers were busy, and the afternoon trains and busses conveyed many. Quite a number of the men immediately saw the opportunity of going to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, and left as soon as possible so as to reach their destinations before evening.

There are many New York City boys in camp and they saw a chance to spend Sunday at their homes.
