An Escort of Three Belgian Planes Guards King Albert and Queen Elizabeth

London, July 11.—A royal air escort of three Belgian seaplanes guarded King Albert and Queen Elizabeth on their flight over the channel from Belgium to England Saturday morning on a trip which marked the first time in history that any ruler has ever made a flight from one country to another.

King's First Visit During War This is the first time since the war began that King Albert has visited London and virtually the first time since August, 1914, that he has been outside his native land.

Queen Elizabeth was most enthusiastic about the voyage, telling about it wherever she went and whenever any one asked the details of the trip.

Both the king and queen wore aviation costumes which they had previously used, the queen's being of honor and the king's entourage came by boat and rail.

No formalities marked their departure from Belgium, few, with the exception of Belgian officials, being aware they were to take the trip.

Huge Loans Made by Great Corporations to Extend Business

Lynch Pleads For Roosevelt's Aid

Dublin.—Col. Arthur Lynch, Nationalist, who recently accepted a commission in the British Army and has come to Ireland to assist in recruiting, has sent to Col. Roosevelt an eloquent appeal in which he says: "Send me a word of encouragement, or, better still, my great and splendid friend, come yourself in all your prestige and power of influence, and help me win the souls of the young men of Ireland to the Allies' cause."

"There are grave and deep difficulties, lamentable stories of cheated hopes, unrecognized rights and hatreds for wrongs inflicted in the past. But one feature throws these matters into the proper perspective—the fact that the Germans are hammering at the gates of Paris, and if they win it will be needless to make plans for Ireland or dream dreams of liberty. Potsdam will take care of Erin."

"When the Stars and Stripes was raised over the cause, when once 'Old Glory' had blown out her folds, the emblem of liberty, a sign of protection to millions of Irishmen, I had hoped that opposition to the Allies would cease. But ancient wrongs and present resentment proved too strong."

"We must win the souls of these young men. Ireland must and shall fill with great deeds the page of history reserved for her. The western front is the Mecca of true believers in liberty. Therefore, once more, write or come, my illustrious friend, and join your genius and authority to my faith and enthusiasm, and we will do the magic thing and lift the squabble into the atmosphere of deeds that will shine bright in the eye of time."

TELESTORIES OF WAR SERVICE

Charles A Jones, of Newport, Has Been With Ambulance Unit in France

Newport, Pa., July 11.—Charles Avin Jones, native of Newport, is the first native Perry countyman to return from the European battlefield. After serving in France for one year as a member of the Norton-Harjes Ambulance Unit, of Pittsburgh, he has returned to this country for enrollment under the selective draft act.

Jones left with the unit last December to aid Dr. William Charles White, formerly of Pittsburgh and chief of the American Red Cross bureau for the care of prevention and tuberculosis in France.

This returned Perry countyman on Monday evening in the Photoplay Theater addressed Newport people and others. He was introduced by John S. Eby, former Perry county member of House of Representatives.

As somewhat of a "free lance" Mr. Jones had many special opportunities to visit places not open to the average soldier, to be presented some thrilling facts for three hours.

Commenting on his experiences, he said in part: "Upon our journey over the most extreme caution was used to guard against submarine attacks, canvas being stretched high above the deck and the ship being allowed of any description. Even cigars were not allowed to be smoked."

Speaking of the successful French defense at Verdun, he said: "I witnessed the first German bomb attack after my arrival, being called on to render aid to a French major and a wounded soldier in a nearby town."

Jones has an interesting collection of relics from the French fields. He shows a three-pound German helmet secured during the fighting from a German prisoner for a brown hat a green tam-o-shanter with its red band as worn by German prisoners in France; a German army cap, rifle, belt, gas mask, a Blue Devil's cap and his own French helmet.

Dr. von Kuehlmann, the newspaper says, returned to Berlin from army headquarters in the field yesterday morning and appeared in the Reichstag. The deputies were informed by Friedrich von Payer, Imperial Vice Chancellor, that the Foreign Secretary had resigned.
