Drives Chalmers Through Heavy Traffic in Economy Contest

Expert testimony is always given great weight in a court of law and therefore the findings of an admitted expert in driving should be real evidence in motor tests of any kind.

Using a Chalmers car with no special adjustment, McNamara submitted it to a test of 154 miles, every mile of which was through congested city traffic in Detroit.

ALLIED ARMY TO FIGHT GERMANS IN NORTH RUSSIA

More Men Landed on Murman Coast; U. S. Troops For Siberia

London, July 13. — "Considerable entente forces" have been landed on the Murman coast and are guarding the railway to Petrograd, it was learned last night.

More entente forces are enroute for the Murman coast. As a result of this landing, which has been expected for some time, it will be impossible for the Germans to occupy the ports of Murmansk and Petchenga, which are ice-free throughout the year.

If the Germans aim to bring about such an isolation, they will have to fight for it, and the Murman coast will be the extreme northern wing of a new "eastern front."

Washington, July 13. — President Wilson has sanctioned a detailed plan for allied aid to Russia, and is ready to order United States soldiers to join allied forces to be sent to Siberia.

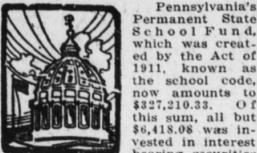

That an economic mission from the United States will sail for Siberia within a short time and that the mission will be supported by United States troops was definitely established to-day, when it was disclosed that entente diplomats within the last twenty-four hours had informed their governments of President Wilson's decision.

For military reasons, America officials refuse to sanction any reference to the number of troops to be sent to Russia's aid by Great Britain, France, Japan and the United States.

Willys-Knight Motor Fools Owner; Thought Starter Was Broken

A man in Davenport, Iowa, who drives a Willys-Knight car, had occasion to call at the service station of a rival automobile dealer, with whom he had business to transact. Finishing his business, he got into his car and stepped on the starter button.

Seemingly, the motor refused to start. He summoned a mechanic to give him assistance.

"No wonder the starter won't engage," said the mechanic. "Your motor is already running."

GIRL ABLAZE IN RAILROAD TOWER; FLAMES WARNING

Runs 200 Yards For Help and Sends Warning Preventing Possible Train Wreck

Greensburg, Pa., July 13.—Painfully burned about the face and body, her clothing in flames, Miss Pearl S. Kippel, 28 years old, 845 Pearl street, in a tower near Hermit, 12 miles from here on the Pennsylvania railroad, ran 200 yards for help to save the tower and prevent a possible accident.

The tower was completely wrecked, the telegraph and telephone wires burned and traffic tied up for several hours as a result of the fire, which occurred early yesterday morning. But for the prompt action of Miss Kippel in giving warning a more serious accident might have resulted to traffic.

Alone in the isolated tower at 1.50 o'clock in the morning, Miss Kippel was startled by a crash, when an oil lamp swinging over her desk dropped the oil bowl breaking and spilling the burning fluid over her desk and clothing. Unmindful of her perilous position, Miss Kippel attempted to reach the telegraph key to call for help, but the flaming oil drove her back.

Picking up the lamp she threw it through the window, but in doing so spread the burning oil about the tower and enveloped it in flames. By that time her clothing was in a mass of flames, and, realizing that her only safety was in procuring help, she dashed from the tower to a house 200 yards away. The occupants of the house extinguished her blazing clothing and followed her instructions for calling the Greensburg office for help. Before help could arrive, however, the tower burned to the ground, causing a loss of $1,725. The interlocking switch system was also badly damaged. Physicians attending Miss Kippel say she is in no great danger.

At least 40 girls will be taken to the McCormick's Island summer camp next week, according to Supervisor J. K. Staples, who has received applications from youngsters at Reservoir, Emerald, Mackay, Kelly, Hamilton and Boas playgrounds.

The Cleveland Tractor

There's not another tractor like the CLEVELAND—either in design, construction, performance or stability. The CLEVELAND travels on its own tracks and can go almost anywhere. It travels through gullies and over ditches—through wet clay and loose sand. The power of this little machine is tremendous in proportion to its size—20 horsepower at the pulley belt and 12 at the bar. Its great capacity and small size are combined with a degree of economy, both in upkeep and operation, that is truly remarkable. Today, more than ever before, THE CLEVELAND TRACTOR is a real necessity. It is needed on every farm in America. Write for catalogue and further information.
