

CORPORATION INCOMES TO BE TAXED 18 P. C.

Congress Plans to Treble the Present Six Per Cent. Rate to Prevent Big Surpluses

Washington, July 24.—Normal income taxes to be paid by corporations will probably be three times the taxes now assessed if the Senate and the President adopt the views now held by most members of the ways and means committee.

Chairman Kitchin, of North Carolina, in a statement issued at the close of yesterday's session, said that although no definite decision was reached a majority of the committee apparently favored the proposal that, in the new revenue bill, corporations should be required to pay a normal tax of 18 per cent. upon their net incomes rather than the 6 per cent. demanded at present.

Furthermore, the new taxes will be so graduated that corporations will feel called upon to distribute their profits as dividends instead of retaining them as a surplus. Most of the dividends would be paid to individuals, who would, through the receipt of increased income, become liable to the payment of more surtaxes.

Thus the government would receive a larger proportion of the money than it gets now, when no inducement is offered for corporations to distribute their profits.

Some Rates Suggested
As Mr. Kitchin succinctly described the day's work, the following rates of normal income tax upon corporations were suggested and discussed.

"1. Twenty per cent. on the net income of the corporations, with the proviso that, on the amount distributed to the shareholders, only ten per cent. would be levied.

"2. Eighteen per cent. on the net income of the corporations, with a proviso that, on the amount distributed to shareholders, only twelve per cent. should be levied.

"The following rates were also suggested:
"1. A flat rate of fifteen per cent. on the net income.

"2. A flat rate of twelve per cent. on the net income.
"While no definite decision was reached, it seemed that a majority of the committee favored the proposal to place an eighteen per cent. rate on net income with the reduction to twelve per cent. on the amount distributed to stockholders."

PATROL BOATS SWEEP COAST OF MAINE FOR SUB

All of 23 on Sunken Schooner Accounted For; May Be Two

By Associated Press
Portland, Me., July 24.—All those on the Gloucester fishing schooner Robert and Richard, sunk by a German submarine off the Maine coast Monday, had been accounted for today. There were 23 persons on the vessel. Three men were landed at Kennebecport and eleven at this port last night. Four more were brought in here to-day and four men and a boy were picked up at sea and taken to Boston.

Kennebecport, Me., July 24.—Scores of patrol boats, submarine chasers and private craft were sweeping up and down the coast in this vicinity to-day searching for eight of the crew of the Gloucester fishing schooner Robert and Richard, which was sunk by a German submarine Monday morning, 65 miles off Cape Porpoise.

Other members of the crew, including Captain Robert Wharton, arrived here and at Portland last night. The crew of the Gloucester fishing schooner Robert and Richard, which was sunk by a German submarine Monday morning, 65 miles off Cape Porpoise, were accounted for today. The sea was calm and the missing men were not in danger except from exhaustion.

Boston, July 24.—Officials of the First Naval District made every effort to-day to locate the enemy submarine operating off the New England coast.

Following word of the sinking of the Robert and Richard on Monday, several submarines, submarine chasers and other craft were ordered out to supplement the regular coast patrol and protect shipping.

May Be Two U-Boats
Naval and marine men were inclined to the opinion that only one submarine had been in New England waters, but descriptions given by the crews of the sunken craft would indicate there were two. Men aboard the barges attacked off Cape Cod Sunday report seeing the submarine to be 400 feet long, while the fishermen of the Robert and Richard placed the length of the U-boat at 250 feet.

The barges were attacked without warning but the crew of the fishing schooner was given time to leave the ship.

Penbrook Again Gets A Little Water

After being compelled yesterday to resort to pumps located in the borough for their water supply, citizens of Penbrook are to-day again being supplied with water as usual by the Hummelstown Consolidated Water Company.

A combination of circumstances yesterday caused the 1,000,000-gallon reservoir of the water company to go dry. Only coal of poor grade can be secured and firemen were unable to keep up sufficient steam to keep the pumps working. This, together with three breaks in the main carrying water to the reservoir kept water from being pumped into it and the low height of the water in the creek which feeds the reservoir added to the difficulty.

Workmen are to-day working on the breaks, but officials this morning were unable to say how long it will be before they will be repaired. They are unable to shut off the main because of the urgent need for the water which it carries, and this seriously inconveniences the workmen.

LABOR SHOULD HEED PUBLIC, SAYS M'ADOO

Tells Railroad Shopmen They Must Give Square Deal to People For Raise

Hillyard, Wash., July 24.—Director General McAdoo in a speech here yesterday to railway shop workers announced that he would give his decision Thursday on wages and working conditions for railway shopmen throughout the country. He told the shopmen that their duty was to give a square deal to the American people in return for the square deal the railway administration has promised them.

"I want to give you all just as fair treatment as I know how but we are all servants of the American people, you and I alike, and it depends upon the way in which we discharge our responsibilities whether or not the American people are going to treat us right," said Mr. McAdoo.

"The strength of our position must always rest upon public opinion. What I do for you from time to time must be done with reference to what is just, not alone to you but to the public which has got to pay the bill. I want to give you a square deal and the public wants to give you a square deal, but the public wants you to give it a square deal as well.

"When your wages are raised how do we get the money to pay it? We have to put up the rates on all American people and if we do not treat them fairly they will refuse to sustain me trying to help you. I want you to help me do the square thing for the American people while I am trying to do the square thing for you."

Appeal from disallowance of compensation was denied in the case of Frances Engesser, Erie, vs. the General Steamship Company, the Commission holding that, while Mrs. Engesser lived apart from her husband, Peter Engesser, at the time of his accidental death while in the employ of the company, she was not at the time taking legal steps to compel him to support her, and she is therefore entitled to compensation.

On the ground that a mistake was made in the case of Patrick McGinnis, Scranton, against the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company, the Commission, reviewing the evidence, finds that allowance should be made for total disability and recommends that such an agreement be framed.

Because of the incapacity of Frank Christian, Johnstown, injured while in the employ of the Erie Railroad Company, has increased since the award was made, the Board increases the period of benefits as long as the present disability continues, not exceeding 50 weeks.

The referee is sustained in his refusal to grant compensation in the case of the widow of Mike Polishy, of the resort, who died as the result of an accident while in the employ of the American Vanadium Company, of Pittsburgh.

The case of Guy Robinson, of Athens, against the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, which was exclusively within the jurisdiction of the United States courts and the petition is therefore dismissed.

Fare Complaint Dismissed.—The Public Service Commission has ordered dismissed the complaint of the Merchants Association of Pottsville against the Pottsville Union Traction Company against the restriction of five-cent fare limits. The case was local in its character.

P. and R. Bridge Permission.—Among the petitions approved by the State Water Supply Commission in the list handed down to-day was that of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway for the erection of a double track arch concrete bridge over the Susquehanna at Harrisburg to replace the present single track steel structure. The action of the Commission was a formality required by law. The plans are the same as those presented to city Council some weeks ago. The Pennsylvania Railroad also was granted permission for the rebuilding of bridges along the Kaystown Branch. Most of the other permits related to the western part of the state and cover work approved as necessary by the Government.

Franklin's Road Bonus.—Franklin county will receive $16,847.30 of the 1913 cash road tax bonus, which is being repaid to the townships this year. This money may be spent by the supervisors for various road and bridge improvement purposes. The amounts due to the various township-class townships are: Antrim, $2,283.30; Fannett, $1,032.76; Guilford, $1,875.79; Hamilton, $829.76; Lett, $1,478.86; Southampton, $1,233.53; Warren, $221.19; and Washington, $1,254.13.

Lightner Goes Up.—Jacob Lightner, director of the state employment office of the Department of Labor and Industry, and of the employment division of the Department of civilian service and labor, has been appointed superintendent of all employment offices, both federal and state for Pennsylvania, and has left for Pittsburgh to merge the present existing federal offices and the state employment offices into one.

AUTO RIDE PART OF AGENT'S DUTY

Therefore the Compensation Commission Awards Damages

In an opinion handed down today and signed by three members of the Workmen's Compensation Commission it is decided in the case of Charles Mains, of Beech Creek, that an agent of a company while riding in an automobile while on business for that company is entitled to the benefits of the compensation act. The opinion is rendered in an appeal from the decision of the referee and awards damages to the widow and family. Mains was an agent for the Pennsylvania Railroad in the case of the Beech Creek and was killed while crossing the tracks of the company in an automobile on his way to Beech Creek on company business.

The Commission decides against the claimant, Vincenzo Mastrolanni, in the appeal of the Turner Construction Company, of New York, against the Commission. Mastrolanni, the son of the claimant, contributed from time to time to the father, who made the claim for benefits following the death of the son while in the services of the Turner company, the father was the time that he was dependent upon the son, and that if there was any necessity for such aid it was created by the father sending his own earnings to his family in Italy. Therefore the Commission decides in favor of the company, holding that to do otherwise would be "indirectly awarding compensation to an alien parent."

Appeal from disallowance of compensation was denied in the case of Frances Engesser, Erie, vs. the General Steamship Company, the Commission holding that, while Mrs. Engesser lived apart from her husband, Peter Engesser, at the time of his accidental death while in the employ of the company, she was not at the time taking legal steps to compel him to support her, and she is therefore entitled to compensation.

BAKER PLANS 5,000,000 ARMY FOR THIS YEAR

To Be Trained For Participation in Allied Offensive Next Spring

Washington, July 24.—A program of military expansion to provide for an army of 5,000,000 men as fast as new classes can be called to the colors, equipped and trained, is to be submitted to Congress at the termination of the midsummer recess.

Secretary of War Baker will have ready for Congress immediately after members return to Washington next month an elaborate and ambitious program of largely increased appropriations, recommendations for changes in the draft age and a plan for a more extensive mobilization of forces than any that has been discussed up to this time.

Although Secretary Baker would not discuss to-day the program now nearing completion by the general staff corps, he said it practically had been finished.

It was understood at the War Department the program calls for the mobilization of very large numbers of men under the selective service act. These men, if the War Department is called to the training camps that will begin in September, so that the United States will have them available for service in France next spring.

State Quotas to Be Larger
The number of men to be called under the draft will be much greater than in the past. The War Department intends to utilize every possible resource for the training of those men. There will be substantial increases in the local and states' quotas. Although the number of men in camps may not be very much greater than that of last fall, it was explained the Regular Army and National Guard camps held men not called under the draft. The camps will be full of drafted men, and added to the facilities at the National Army cantonments and the special technical training schools, will provide for approximately 2,000,000 men.

After General Crowder's July quotas of drafted men are filled it is expected approximately 1,000,000 men will be available in Classes 1 and 2. It is Secretary Baker's plan to obtain the additional men through changes in the draft age, instead of going into Classes 3 and 4, which embrace married men with children and essential industrial workers.

Ready For Spring Offensive
The additional troops probably would be sent overseas after a maximum of five or six months' training, and, accordingly, would be available for an allied offensive in the spring, should General Foch elect to strike at that time. The training periods both in this country and in France constantly are being shortened.

War Department officials asserted it will be necessary for the United States to maintain a steady flow of troops to maintain the number of actual fighting forces in the line. Secretary Baker would give no indication of the changes of the draft ages to be recommended, but it was learned he will insist that Congress lower as well as raise the present age limits. There is considerable opposition in both the House and Senate to calling youths of nineteen and twenty years, but it is believed the War Department, if urging such a course as an administrative measure, can overcome that objection.

Army officers are quite confident Congress will yield to reduction to include men of twenty years, but there is a very strong sentiment to insist on a nineteen-year limit. The maximum probably will be forty or forty-five, with the former favored by military authorities.

Washington, July 24.—"I was in the fighting sector when they stormed Vaux, July 1, and I saw them at the business we trained them for. They are the finest group of men I have ever seen, and I am willing to lace up the boots of any one of them."

This tribute was paid to the prowess of American fighting men in action in France by Raymond B. Fosh, chairman of the War and Navy Departments Commissions on Training Camp Activities, who arrived in Washington yesterday to make an official report to Secretary Baker upon American training camp activities in France and England.

"The millions of dollars which the American people have given to the organizations that are making life livable for our fellows 'over there,'" Mr. Fosh said, "constitutes the nearest approach to our paying the unpayable debt we owe them. It is hard to avoid superlatives in speaking of the way the Red Cross has handled the refugee problem or the manner in which, with General Petain's assistance, it is giving aid to the needy families of French soldiers at the front. Indeed, the tears rolled down the cheeks of a French divisional commander as he told me of its electrifying effect upon the morale of his men. I speak with the same enthusiasm of the Young Men's Christian Association, the Knights of Columbus and the Salvation Army which are joining in a combined program to meet the recreation and amusement needs of our soldiers. As for the moral conditions in army abroad, they are excellent. Soldiers and sailors are strong with their minds filled with the purpose of winning the war. It is a question whether they are worthy of us and our traditions, or whether we are worthy of them.

"The interests they take in sports and sports is remarkable. I have long lines of soldiers on the way to the trenches singing as they march, baseball, quills and engage in war line trenches returning to their never forget the athletic traits they receive in America. They sportsmen of the finest caliber and their sportsmanship is manifested everything they do.

"One of the most inspiring things to be noticed in France is the attachment which the American soldiers on French soil have for the home and country. To thousands our troops the Statue of Liberty which they may have seen only in their lives, has come to mean 'The Girl I Left Behind Me.' They yearn for anything which brings them nearer to America. We can well write three times as many letters as we every one of them will be easily snatched up."
