STEELTON HIT HARD BY STORM

Streets Damaged and Repair Work Set at Nought by Torrents

Damage that will reach a considerable figure was caused by last evening's electrical storm on properties of Steelton borough, the Harrisburg Railways, the Bell Telephone Company and the Steelton plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company.

Especially heavy losses were suffered by the borough. Blocks of wooden pavements were torn up and layers of gravel placed over them by torrents of water streaming from the upper part of town, at several intersections in Front street.

At Jefferson street, in the vicinity of Gibson, where extensive repairs to pavements damaged by previous storms had just been completed, all repair work of the highway department was entirely undone.

Phone Lines Out of Service

One of the greatest sufferers from the storm in Steelton is the Bell Telephone Company, which had forty-five lines put out of use by the lightning. The Steelton Light and Power Company had all its power cut off by the storm, placing the borough in darkness for sometime until repairs could be made.

At Jefferson street the northbound track of the Harrisburg Railways Company was badly damaged by the storm so that it had to be abandoned. The southbound track was used for both the north and southbound traffic.

Several departments of the local plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company were closed because of damage done by the lightning to wires and electric apparatus throughout the plant in last night's storm. The lightning system of the plant was partly disabled and was not completely repaired until early this morning.

Fire on Athletic Field Only one fire resulted from the unusually severe lightning and that was a small blaze on the Cottage Hill Athletic Field. When the lightning passed over some wires, one of the large poles on the field was set afire. An alarm was sent into five of the fire companies and the blaze was quickly extinguished. The pole burst in flames again later, but the fire was quickly extinguished.

By early this morning the telephone and lighting companies had completed their repairs and the railroads had resumed traffic on both lines through the borough. The borough highway department has already set a large corps of men at work cleaning up the pavements and repairing the damaged sewers and sections of pavement.

STORM DAMAGES SERVICE The electric storm last evening put four telephone lines of Steelton and Highspire out of service, and the overflow of water attendant on the down-pour of rain, tied up street car traffic for some time. Lightning ran along a strand of barbed wire on the fence at the Cottage Hill baseball grounds and set a small section of the fence afire. The blaze was extinguished without occasioning much damage.

READY FOR PICNIC Complete arrangements have been made for the fourth annual picnic of the Junior O. U. A. M., of Shellsville, which will be held on Saturday, at Manada Gap. The trip will be made by automobile. Menographers busy typing the records and licenses of state automobiles to-day discussed the addition of swimming suits and water wings. Their state of mind followed developments last night when the offices in the Donaldson Building were flooded with water and valuable records were destroyed.

The discovery of the deluge was made when the elevatorman found water dripping through the basement ceiling. Upon investigation he found the stream came from the automobile offices. He immediately got into touch with the Captol and G. W. Brewster, register of licenses, hurried to the scene. Official dignity was forgotten and with a Telegraph reporter and an attaché of the telegraph's advertising department as aids, Brewster discarded shoes and socks, forgot creases in his trousers and waded into the pool of water that covered the expensive carpets.

"Just look at that! The Ford license records for the whole year are in that water," exclaimed Brewster, adding that he had taken the cards back so they would not by any chance get dampened by the rain.

About his time, inhabitants of the Donaldson Apartments began to gather and there were a number of bathrobed women as interested spectators within a few moments. Several Hill employees came down to look on and were greeted with "Come in; the water's fine." They rolled up their trousers and joined the crowd. After an hour's hard work by the caretaker and the telegraph reporter and an attaché of the telegraph's advertising department as aids, Brewster discarded shoes and socks, forgot creases in his trousers and waded into the pool of water that covered the expensive carpets.

In the hottest political fight the Republican party of New York state has known for several years, that between Governor Charles S. Whitman and Attorney General Merton E. Cocks, long member of Congress from the colonel's own district, and long his personal friend, is the manager for Whitman. The colonel himself has not taken sides.

Clogged Drain Floods State Auto Records; Must Retype 5,000

Web-footed men and women with Annette Kellerman abilities, if there are any such about, might find work in the automobile license division of the State Highway Department these days. Complaining menographers busy typing the records and licenses of state automobiles to-day discussed the addition of swimming suits and water wings. Their state of mind followed developments last night when the offices in the Donaldson Building were flooded with water and valuable records were destroyed.
