

BETHLEHEM GETS LABOR RIGHTS

Steel Company's Employees May Organize Unions, Board Rules

Washington, Aug. 5.—Workers in the Bethlehem plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company may organize to bargain collectively with their employers the national labor board held on Saturday. This is the most far-reaching decision of this board since it was empowered by President Wilson to adjust all labor difficulties during the continuance of the war. Many war work industries will be affected by this decision.

The Bethlehem Company, through President Eugene C. Grace, expressed the strongest opposition to the organization of its employees. Every possible means were resorted to, but workers seek to prevent them from affiliating with unions. Other provisions of the findings of the board provide for the entire removal or elimination of the plant's bonus system and that the men shall be compensated at the rate of one and one-half time for all overtime work and at double wages for Sunday work. Women employed by the company must be compensated at the rate for which men are paid for the same work; a scale of wages for electrical workers was sent forth and the revision of the wage scale shall not operate to reduce wages.

KEYSTONE MEN WIN HONORS IN GREAT BATTLE

Officers of 112th Regiment Cited For Bravery Under Fire

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—Two more Pennsylvania regiments are winning honors in the great offensive that is surely but slowly driving back the Hun in France. Mention of four commissioned officers as heroes of the fighting in the dispatch from Raymond G. Carroll, the war correspondent with the American expeditionary forces shows the 11th and 112th Infantry are now in action.

The 11th United States Infantry is composed of the old 18th and 6th Pennsylvania Infantry Regiments. The new unit is commanded by Colonel Edward C. Shannon, of Columbia, who was given that command when his old regiment, the old 18th Pennsylvania Infantry, was broken up and scattered through new units which were formed to complete the 28th or Keystone Division, the former National Guardsmen from this state are known.

In combining these regiments two colonels of the old National Guard were retained. The 11th is commanded by Colonel Edward L. Kearns, of Pittsburgh, while the former 6th Infantry had been under command of Colonel Thomas Biddle Ellis, of this city.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 5.—Major Allen Donnelly, and Lieutenant William H. Allen, Jr., members of the old 18th Regiment, N. G. P., have been cited for bravery in France according to a dispatch received in this city last night. Both served in the 18th Regiment on the Mexican border and accompanied the regiment to France in April, 1918.

Major Donnelly is a son of Captain Charles Donnelly, a Civil War veteran, who died in 1916. Major Donnelly is 38 years old. He joined the 18th Regiment seven or eight years ago.

Lieutenant Allen is a son of W. H. Allen, and a grandson of the late Senator Charles F. Smith.

The findings of the board become effective on August 1 for the duration of the war. Either party may reopen the case at intervals of three months for such adjustments as changed conditions may render necessary.

"Wish I Could Get Out," Says Ford, of Politics

Chicago, Aug. 5.—"Other politicians, office holders and party leaders may deliver all sorts of speeches on the subject of the war, but I don't want the senatorship, unless there is a wide demand for me. I wish I could get out."

"And I won't spend a red cent or utter a single word to be elected senator," he said in a waiting automobile, because I think everybody who is in politics has an axe to grind. I have not.

"I shall never move a hand in the senatorship business. If I am elected I shall do all I can for the people. I will have the welfare of them in mind all the time."

"If the people think I would be a good senator, they can have me. If they don't, I won't touch the office. There won't be any politics with me at any stage of the game."

"We're going to raise 60,000 bushels of wheat raised on my grounds," he added.

"No, right in Detroit, between the lake and my manufacturing plant. I'll raise some wheat," Mr. Ford beamed.

Last night's service was the fifth in a series of being held by the St. Matthew's Lutheran, St. John's Reformed, Sixth Street United Brethren and Cap City Memorial Methodist Church, during the summer months. The Rev. G. W. Hartman was scheduled to give the closing night's service but he left last week for overseas. Y. M. C. A. service.

NEW DRAFT LAW MAKES 26,000,000 'WORK OR FIGHT'

Crowder to Have Greatest Power in History Over Human Destinies

Washington, Aug. 5.—It is predicted there will be opposition in the lower branch of Congress to the proposal to take boys under twenty-one, but as the proposed legislation will be backed by President Wilson and Secretary of War Baker there is little doubt it will be enacted after a certain period of time has been allowed for debate.

Under the amended law 26,000,000 men of the class one year under will be given a powerful choice between "work-or-fight" regulations of the military authorities, and Enoch H. Crowder, provost marshal general, will be given a power over human destinies greater perhaps than any other one man in the world has ever had.

Such an army will be twice the size of the maximum Great Britain has maintained in France and ought to be sufficient to turn the tide for all time against the Germans.

An army of 5,000,000, however, is not the ultimate maximum if shipbuilding is maintained at the present pace. Ships alone can limit the manpower effort the United States will put forth against Germany.

There naturally is no intention of calling immediately to the colors even all the class one year under the extended age limits. There are not sufficient facilities to take care of such an inflow.

The plan is to call out the men by age "classes" as they are needed, and the very first step may be to draft all single men up to thirty-three or thirty-six years of age. It is proposed, however, to send such men into the firing line, but to put them in noncombatant and supply services behind the lines. The military authorities are anxious to hold the age of the fighting men at thirty and below if they can possibly do so, for men above thirty cannot stand the hardships of trench work. They are drafted under a strain which younger men laugh at and often become a hospital burden rather than a fighting asset.

There is no likelihood either that 200,000 men of the class one year under will be called immediately into the army. It is proposed, however, that they shall be mobilized at once for military training in the United States.

Thus in effect the new bill will put into practice a scheme of universal military training.

O'Neill Is Manager of Central Coal District

Altoona, Aug. 5.—Fuel Administrator Garfield has appointed Charles O'Neill manager of the Central Pennsylvania district, with supervision over Cambria, Somerset, Indiana, Clearfield, Westmoreland, Cameron, Armstrong, Elk, Huntingdon, Jefferson, Bedford, Tioga, Blair, Lycoming, Centre and Clinton counties. O'Neill is secretary of the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers' Association.

O'Neill has been in the Central Pennsylvania field for the week ending July 20 totaling 1,282,000 tons, 89,390 tons less than the estimated full-time tonnage for the mines reported. The loss attributed to car shortage was 20,821 tons, and the loss due to labor shortage was 51,890 tons. The week's production was 75,000 tons less than the week before.

771 Men From City and 497 From County Enlisted

Seven hundred and seventy-one men from Harrisburg, and 497 from Dauphin county, making a total of 1,268 from the city and county, have been enlisted through the office of the United States Army Recruiting Station at Market street from April 1, 1917, until July 31, 1918. It was announced this morning.

This number does not include the recruits for the navy, marines, officers' training camps, or the National Guards before the units left the city.

The local station leads the country in enlistments, and has led with more enlistments than any other district in the country, almost steadily since the outbreak of the war. In the newly compiled figures, Lieutenant Robert W. Lesher, commanding the party, has seen occasion to congratulate his men on the work they have accomplished.

To Use Six Semaphores in Business District

Thompson who is in charge of the traffic squad, will go to New York later in the week to arrange for the use of the semaphores.

FIRST LADY OF LAND SPONSORS THE QUSTCONCK

President at Launching of Cargo-Carrying Vessel at Hog Island Today

Philadelphia, Aug. 5.—With a hearty godspeed from the President of the United States and Mrs. Wilson, the cargo carrier Quistconck, the first ship built at the Hog Island plant was successfully launched at 12:38 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Wilson with the President standing at her side christened the ship as nearly 50,000 persons standing in the broiling sun wildly cheered.

The President made no speech, but in response to the urgent appeal of the crowd he waved his hat and shouted "Good luck to you." Mrs. Wilson smilingly repeated this sentiment.

The presidential party returned to Washington after remaining in the yard less than thirty minutes.

HUN HORDES ARE THROWN ON DEFENSIVE

for the purpose of holding the allies from breaking through and also to prevent them from getting between the Vesle and the Aisne before he can get his troops to the northern stream. The heights of the Chemin des Dames offer the most suitable defensive position, but even this would be precarious if the French can move forward from north of the Aisne in the Soissons region. A strong movement here sufficient to carry the French to Fort de Malmaison, the western end of the Chemin des Dames ridge, would have to be on a more extended front.

This also would threaten seriously the enemy positions in the salient about Montdidier and the line further north in Picardy and probably accounts for the withdrawals north and south of the Somme.

Recent British retrograde movement already has averaged two miles on a seven-mile front. The French hold Braches, have penetrated into Harcourt and are on the outskirts of Courtenanche.

The movements to the eastern bank of the Aisne before British defensive in character. The German holdings west of the rivers were not very large but large enough to have served as "jumping off" places in future operations. The British control the heights west of each stream. Military experts have called the Aisne the path to Amiens and the enemy positions on the west bank were most important if the drive for Amiens was to be continued with success.

More Prisoners Taken
Great quantities of ammunition and guns have been taken by the French, American and British troops south of the Vesle and all indications are that the German retreat was hasty and due to the strong allied pressure all along the front which now has been shortened to thirty-two miles between Soissons and Rheims. No additional report on total of prisoners has been made since the middle of last week, but to Paris it is declared that when the counting was done 223 Market street is made known it "will thrill the allied world." General Pershing reports that American troops alone have captured 4,400 men and 143 guns.

Prison Inspectors Say Jail Is Crowded With Short-Term Prisoners
Prison inspectors at a recent meeting passed a resolution in which it was decided to confer with Mayor Keister on an arrangement which would prevent overcrowding the prison with men and women who are serving short sentences because of their inability to pay a fine of $25 to $50. According to the prison officials during July the daily average number of prisoners at the jail was more than 500; a large number of them serving sentences ranging from 20 to 30 days because they could not pay fines. No definite arrangement has been made to employ these prisoners on road work or at other labor with the result that the jail is filled with scores of able-bodied men who are needed for all kinds of work. It is likely some of the prison inspectors and the Mayor will confer on the question.
