CHANGES IN LAWS BEING STUDIED

Important Matters Will Be Considered When the General Assembly Meets

Changes in state laws relative to inspection of weights and measures, especially in regard to prosecutions, extending authority of building and loan and other concerns to invest in national securities of various forms and apportioning state appropriations in aid of school districts are forecast by inquiries being made at the Capitol by persons interested in obtaining information the last few days.

Sealers of weights and measures will hold a convention before very long to discuss proposed changes in laws and to overcome some conditions, especially those causing dissatisfaction. The chief to be suggested will be a stiffening of the provisions relative to criminal prosecutions.

The school appropriation subject is now being studied by the State Board of Education and various suggestions will be made at the meeting of the State Educational Association to be held here in December.

Going Right Up.—The $50,000 mark will be reached in the issuance of state automobile licenses within a few days. While there have been numerous issues for transfers of ownership many new cars are being registered by the State Highway Department. The great bulk of them are of the smaller cars with a fair percentage of trucks.

The Maple Trouble.—State inspectors are making investigations into the pest which has been damaging maple trees in many sections of the state, especially the lower tiers of counties. Energetic steps for local control have been urged.

Prisoners to Work.—Reports coming here indicate that in a number of counties in the central part of the state, prisoners are to be put to work on county farms this fall. The plan was adopted here almost immediately after suggested by the State Public Charities.

More "Wet" Butter.—Over a dozen arrests have been made in Philadelphia for the sale of butter containing too much moisture. In some instances it had 25 per cent.

Wilson Visits.—Edward Wilson, agent of the State Board of Public Charities, has been making a series of inspections in the central counties.

More Guns Taken.—State game protectors made another raid on the homes of foreigners in the Carbon county region and confiscated a number of guns and other weapons. The foreigners did not make any resistance.

Potter's Quick Change.—Daniel G. Potter, a colored resident of this city, handed back a state job at the Capitol and connected with a city place in record time to-day. Potter had a row with one of the men in the Department of Public Grounds and Buildings who differed with him on some politics and telephoned to the office that he had quit. He then turned up in charge of one of the city Highway Department wagons and the whole Hill grinned. It reported that another man named to place in the recent gubernatorial primary days found it too onerous and left.

Attended Launch.—Adjutant General Reary, who attended the launching at Hog Island to-day, will likely announce some Reserve Militia appointments when he returns to the city to-morrow.

Discussed Plans.—George A. Shreiner, superintendent of public grounds and buildings, has returned from New York where he went to discuss plans for Capitol Park extension. He will shortly name H. H. McHenry, of Punxsutawney, as chief of the Capitol guides bureau of information.

Albee Gets Peace.—Henry T. Albee, of Galeton, member of the Legislature from Potter county, has been appointed a clerk in the State Treasury to succeed John T. Carpenter, of Potter county.

Increase Field.—The Philadelphia Electric Company, has filed formal notice with the Public Service Commission that it will increase its steam heating rates September 1. The Northwestern Pennsylvania Railway Company, Scranton, Electric Company, Susquehanna County Light and Power Company and Pennsylvania Utilities Company, Easton, have also filed notices of advances in rates effective September 1.

Ruling on Records.—"It is true, as a general principle, that the records of a public office are public property, but that does not mean that they are to be indiscriminately submitted to public inspection," rules Deputy Attorney General Hargest in an opinion to Dr. B. F. Royer, acting commissioner of health, in regard to records of births filed at the Capitol for which there have been many applications for copying from newspapers, advertisers, merchants and others. "The officer in charge of such records has large discretion as to when and by whom they may be examined or to whom copies thereof may be given, and such officer may refuse access to, or copies of, such records when, in his judgment, it is for the best interests of the public so to do." Mr. Hargest says that it "would be inconceivable" that corporation records in the Auditor General's, Public Service, Insurance and other departments could be examined at will by rival corporation's men "merely because they are public property."

Object to Rates.—The Pennsylvania Saw Company, Frackville, has filed complaint against the new rates of the Eastern Pennsylvania Light, Heat and Power Company, and complaints have been filed by Fayette county jitney men who have state certificates against men ordered to stop operations, but who continue to do so in defiance of the commission. The Commission will meet in executive session to-morrow.

State to Build Road Through Borough

A decision which may be of interest to Paxtang and Camp Hill and other boroughs which have found it impossible to contribute, according to their borough authorities, to the permanent improvement of borough streets which are on the line of state highways, has just been made in Western Pennsylvania. In this instance an Allegheny county borough on the Lincoln Highway is to be improved with money given by the State Defense Commission to the State Highway Department. The place was inspected by Lieutenant-Governor McClain and State Highway Commissioner O'Neil.

The Pittsburgh Gazette-Times says regarding the matter: "The stretch of Lincoln Highway running through Osborne borough is to be remanufactured and kept in repair by the state. The trucks of the Army and Marine Corps, trucks that have been traversing the road for months have condemned the road every time they tried to get over it without stalling or breaking something. The borough of Osborne, which contains about twenty families, is financially unable to repave the road, which extends for a mile through the town. It is not a state or a state-aid road, therefore the state highway commissioner has no legal right to spend any money on it. But the Legislature appropriated $2,000,000, at its last session, for year work, and the Pennsylvania Public Safety Committee is in charge of the spending of the money."

Few Sugar Cards Returned to Food Administration

Only half of the grocers who registered their sugar statements for sugar purchase certificates had returned the survey cards to the Dauphin county food administration this morning. Five hundred and eighty-two grocers in the city and county are registered, and 200 did not comply with the regulation to have the cards mailed so they arrived in the city to-day.

Only registered grocers can secure sugar purchase certificates and they cannot secure them for their August supplies until they have complied with the orders of the food administration to sign the survey cards and return them. When the survey is completed it is thought the August certificates will be issued.

No Change in Cereal Substitution For Wheat

No immediate change in the amount of cereal substitutes in bakers' flour is contemplated by the federal food administration, according to announcement by the Dauphin county food administrator to-day. The prospects are that the twenty-five per cent. substitute rule will remain effective the balance of the year, according to the latest available information from Washington, but in order that bakers may adjust their stocks a sixty-day notice will be given in advance of any change. Similarly no change in the substitute rule affecting the consuming public is contemplated immediately, though a slight modification of the ruling may be made in the fall.

BURKHOLDER IN CRITICAL CONDITION FROM BURNS

Albert E. Burkholder, 270 Pepper street, the Pennsylvania railroad brakeman who was seriously burned when the naphtha from two oil tanks which three freight cars he was riding collided with sprayed on him and became ignited from the lantern he was carrying, is in a critical condition in the Harrisburg Hospital. Physicians at the hospital said that it is impossible to determine whether the burned man will recover, but are hopeful that his life can be saved.
