Fund Lacks Claimant For Nearly 100 Years

Boston.—The full bench of the Massachusetts Superior court has been called upon to determine the ownership of a fund nearly a century old which is claimed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts on one hand and the Chilean government on the other.

In 1821 an American ship returning from China to this port was seized by Chilean revolutionaries and its cargo confiscated. When normal conditions prevailed in Chile, the United States demanded indemnity, and Chile paid $70,400.

William A. Gardner, of Brookline, was selected to distribute the money among those entitled to it. He executed the trust except as to two business-known only as Pagan and Moore merchants—and Thomas Furber, of this city. Mr. Gardner failed to locate these persons or their representatives. When he died the trust was transmitted to his son, and upon the latter's death to the grandson and great-grandson, Robert H. Gardner and Robert H. Gardner, Jr., who are now its custodians.

Warburg German Relatives Cost Bank His U. S. Post

Washington.—The failure of President Wilson to reappoint Paul M. Warburg, of New York, as a member of the Federal Reserve Board, has caused a great deal of talk about the loyalty of Mr. Warburg, despite the fact that his relatives are connected with the finances of Germany. It was felt by many Senators that he was not the proper man to hold a responsible position during the war.

Mr. Warburg is regarded as one of the ablest financiers and businessmen of the country. His severance from the government service is regretted not only by the President, but by a vast majority of those with whom the Federal Reserve Vice-Governor came in contact.

BEAR CAUSES DELAY

Warren, Pa. Bears, which are more plentiful in this section than in many other parts of the country, are holding up the United States mail delivery. While on the property of Limeone, was engaged in delivering mail in his Ford near Limestone, a bear held him up. McCluskey was driving along the road when the bear came down out of the trees and walked directly in the path of the machine. McCluskey increased the speed of the machine, but the bear refused to be frightened, and as a result the machine hit the bear. The bear was evidently unharmed, however, as it wandered off into the forest. When McCluskey attempted to continue his delivery, the machine was badly bent, and he was unable to continue his delivery until the machine was repaired.

NO MORE POCKETS! BOYS RAISE HOWL OF PROTEST

"Girls Have 'em, Why Can't We?" Youngsters Ask, as the Government Threatens to Eliminate Treasure Houses

"Hully Chee!" shrieked Nick the newsboy, as he gathered some of his pals about him at Third and Market streets. "Did y' see this paper? Govment is goin' to take our pockets away, t' save clothes! Hully chee, wats a feller goin' to do. Where you goin' to carry yer coin?"

"It's them darned Huns," piped a small kid. "Goes s' fast I ain't got time to put it in me pocket."

"How did they get that way?" chorused the party, all reaching in to uncover a handful of shoestrings, buttons, pen knives, peanuts, candy—and some other cigar butt.

"Let's see what it says," protested one lad, groping in his starboard pants pocket for two fishing hooks and a bit of war bread. "I wish I was old enough to go over there an' help lick 'em."

"Hey Pole-cat!" called one to a forlorn looking news disseminator whose pockets were guarded by controversies between the companies and their employes. The decision affects 50,000 workers.
