No New Financing For Pennsylvania Railroad

New York, Sept. 7. — Much has been heard in the financial district recently that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company contemplated doing some new financing in the near future, but Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, put this rumor to rest when he told a reporter that his road has all the funds it needs, having received a loan of $20,000,000 from the government at 6 per cent. This will be a surprise to Wall Street, for it is the financial district which has been the loudest in its demands that the Pennsylvania Railroad obtain relief from the government. It would not, therefore, be surprising if it is learned that other roads have received similar aid from the government.

Freight Congestion Ended, Says Railroad Managers

New York, Sept. 7. — Freight congestion in the east is a thing of the past and munitions and food are reaching the Atlantic seaboard as fast as ships can be provided to carry them overseas, according to reports made by fifty Federal railroad managers to Director McAdoo and Regional Director A. H. Smith at a conference here Thursday. Passenger traffic is fully 25 per cent greater than ever before.

Mr. McAdoo, addressing the Federal managers, said the railroads do not "West can take care of anything." Thousands of empty cars are ready at important points to move the crops out of that region.

Railroad Notes

Harry Sides, of McVeystown, has secured a position with the Middle Division telegraph department.

Frank Sides, a Pennsylvania Railroad shoveler, has entered the Army and will be in the line of duty at the Ordnance Depot, next week. It is said the crossing at Jednota will be abandoned.

Nelson Anthony, baggage master at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station, who has been in the great list, is able to be about, and will resume his duties to-night.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS

PENNSY PLANS PIECEWORK CUT

Is Order From Washington, According to Unofficial Reports; Some Men Get Less

With the recent increases in wages to railroad men, piecework is to be abolished. This announcement was made unofficially yesterday in local shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad. It is understood, however, that similar orders will come to railroad shophmen throughout the United States.

There is nothing in the report to indicate that it is planned to adopt it generally, but officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company believe it is only a question of time until the piecework system will be a thing of the past, and the employees will be paid by the day or hour as the case may be. The piecework system has been in operation for many years.

Some Men Will Get Less
The enginehouse employees, it is estimated, will be paid in accordance with the provisions of the general order of Director General McAdoo and the supplements, which will be paid at a rate of sixty-eight cents an hour as a minimum, and some of the employees will receive less compensation than they have been getting under the piecework system.

However, there will be an adjustment in wages, it is believed, and as a matter of fact, the engine washers and perhaps some others are affected by the new system. That was announced at Washington yesterday.

The wages of the enginehouse employees vary considerably and there will be more or less variance under the new system of wages, because there are different classes of workers employed in these departments. Enginehouse machinists have generally made good money, for there is always something for them to do and they have but little idle time while on duty.

"Sam" Hertzler Takes a Vacation, Will Lecture on the National Capital

"The National Capital During War Times" is the subject of an interesting lecture promised railroad men in the near future. It will be delivered by Samuel M. Hertzler, special duty passenger engineer on the Middle Division. William Schredley is now at work arranging some additional features for the lecture.

Engineer Hertzler, it is said, has long been planning his trip to Washington, D. C. He left today for the year's annual vacation, and he decided to make out of his time off as much as possible. According to his engineers, there are many things of interest to railroaders concerning things at Washington. It is said that he will be illustrated as he has taken along a camera and will secure a special permit to take pictures for his lecture.
