There was a fine attendance last evening. M. W. Allen, chairman of the entertainment committee, and W. H. Johnston were in charge of the dance. Luncheon was served during intermission.

PENNSYLVANIANS TAKING PART IN BIG, NEW DRIVE

Twenty-Eighth Division (National Guard) Fighting Under General Muir

Washington, Sept. 27.—In the new battle along the Champagne front the American troops, co-operating with the French, yesterday conquered positions the Germans have been fortifying for four years, positions they have sacrificed thousands of men to hold.

Over a twenty-mile front, fighting with the Poch forces, the Americans advanced to an average depth of seven miles and captured twelve towns and more than 6,000 prisoners.

Four of the towns were carried by storm by Pennsylvania, Kansas and Missouri troops of Major General Liggett's corps, General Pershing said in his official statement on the battle. Each tried different plans endeavoring to gain positions from which they could shoot down the machine gunners by rifle fire.

Four Americans had been wounded in these attempts when it came to James' turn. Instead of going roundabout as others had done, James started straight for the gunners, taking advantage of the tall grass and crawling on his hands and knees. He was not seen by the Germans, probably partly because they were looking for attacks more from the sides, where the others had come from.

Complete Job in Four Hours
James eventually reached a point where he could see two gunners and he killed them both, cleaning out this nest with two rifle shots. Then James crawled even farther and in the second nest killed one German and wounded the other, and in the third he wounded the only two Germans in this nest. Four hours after having started on his mission James returned to Fismes without a scratch.

PENNSYLVANIAN, SINGLE HANDED, SILENCES GUNS

Private Wm. James, of Kittanning, Kills Three Germans; Wounds Trio

With the American Forces in France, Sept. 27.—One of the heroes of the fighting in the region of Fismes, taken by the Americans early in August, was Private William James, of Kittanning, Pa., who single-handed cleaned out three German machine-gun nests which had been a menace to the Americans.

Others Try in Vain
Various systems had been tried by the American infantrymen to rid the country west of Fismes of the German machine gunners who were situated so that their positions commanded certain streets which extended away from them through the town. Finally the commanding officer asked for volunteers and several individuals offered their services. Each tried different plans endeavoring to gain positions from which they could shoot down the machine gunners by rifle fire.

James eventually reached a point where he could see two gunners and he killed them both, cleaning out this nest with two rifle shots. Butchers and Bakers Seek Co-operation in Early Closing Order

In connection with the new closing regulations adopted by butchers and grocers of Harrisburg, the following statement was issued this morning by the two bodies:

"The Fuel Administrator has asked and encouraged the stores of Harrisburg to assist him in the conservation of fuel. There are a few who do not obey his request or at least do not obey it with enough patriotism to help the move along or encouraging the Fuel Administrator in his movements.

"The public in general are with him and willing to help win the war. He has explained the cause and the saving of fuel; to be used in the munitions plants to assist in getting out war supplies.

"It is to be hoped that the public will be with the move and encourage the Fuel Administrator in his movements by doing their store-going between the hours of 7 a. m. and 6 p. m., Thursdays, 7 a. m. until 12 o'clock noon, and encourage the patriotic move which has been asked.

"As to the public it is a great benefit to prevent them from running the streets to obtain coal of which there was a shortage last winter. And through the patriotic move of the butchers and grocers will save hundreds of tons of coal which can be put into the cellars of the homes of our citizens, through the generous co-operation of these stores.

"The public backs us!"
