Germany Must Say Yes or No to Wilson Note, Is Allies' View

London, Oct. 25.—The popular comment on the President's note here is that it contains the strongest language ever addressed by the head of one great nation to another in modern times. The note is welcomed first, because it brings matters to a new state; further proceedings, if there are to be further proceedings, will be in the hands of all the governments interested.

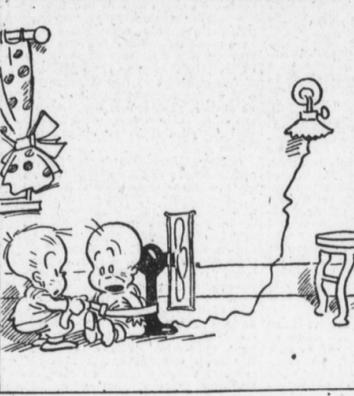

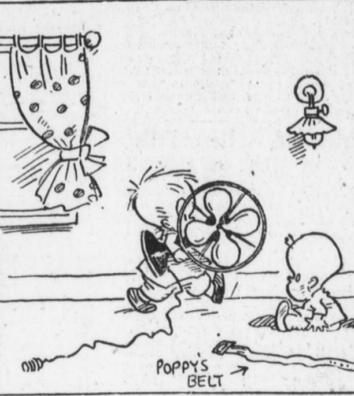

Hitherto, so far as the public knows, the nations associated with the United States, and which have more at stake perhaps than has the United States, have been onlookers to the correspondence.

The note is welcomed, secondly, because it promises to bring the season of discussion to an end altogether, one way or the other. No one sees how the German chancellor, Prince Maximilian, can fall either to accept President Wilson's platform or reject it. Acceptance will be taken to mean that the Germans regard their position as hopeless and that disaster is imminent.

Ask Golf Bags and Sticks For Use of the Soldiers

"Pack up your sticks in the old golf bag, and smile, smile, smile" is the slogan from Bob Fairbairn and Chris Sauer, of the Harrisburg Reservoir Park Tennis Club to all members, for the boys in service have use for second hand clubs and bags. Soon as the members turn them in they will be forwarded to headquarters and distributed, for the soldier is now getting a hold on golf and Uncle Sam is encouraging him in the sport. It is hoped Harrisburg will make a good showing in this benevolence.

"PEACE NOTES"

A western circuit court has refused separation to a wife who protested that she could not live any longer with her husband because of his snoring and advised her to "get along with the boss, she could."

"Been wounded twice and gassed," sighed "Billy" Smith, of Sumter, S. C., as he arrived home from France. "I want to enjoy peace. Give me something to eat, a couple dozen oysters, a lobster, lots of eggs, some beefsteak, roast pork, tomato salad, horse radish, chicken, jam 'n' anything else that's kickin' round."

Army report—the next 75,000 men to go abroad will be adept at the bayonet, principally from their skill in boxing which they have been taught at camps.

"I want to get back to the front where the shells sing Home Sweet Home," writes Dan Fortna, of West Fairview, from a French hospital.

"All I want is peace" cried Adolph Lutz way out in Iowa, when seven stalwart women appeared against him in court, having responded personally to his advertisement for a wife.

City police intercepted Sylvester Wilson going home with twelve quarts of liquor which he had stolen from Sam Kozman's store in North Seventh street.

"Until then we must prepare to resist a peace of violence," Prince Max.

"Violence is my first name when it comes to making peace with thugs," Uncle Sam.

BILLS SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Public Service Commission Issues Interesting Decision in Harrisburg Gas Case

The Public Service Commission, in directing the Harrisburg Gas Company to furnish gas to J. E. Stoner, a Harrisburg barber whose supply of gas had been shut off at his Seventh street home because of failure to pay a bill of $57.30 and who obtained a supply at his shop at 1024 Market street upon promise to pay the arrears and did not, establishes a precedent in such cases. The opinion handed down by Commissioner W. A. Magee says that the company, "in depriving the complainant of a supply at his place of business because of a prior delinquency at his residence was a violation of the rights of the complainant," even though he had specifically promised to pay the bill as one of the conditions imposed by the company before the service was granted him at his barber shop.

"Such conditions should not have been imposed," says Mr. Magee. "The company by so doing was merely trying to recoup the loss sustained by it at the complainant's home, which loss was due to its own neglect. The Public Service Company Law permits the requirement that charges be paid in advance or that a deposit be made to secure future payments of such charges or the supply can be shut off at the first delinquency. The respondent in this case failed to take these precautions. It lost the protection afforded by the act and then, instead of pursuing the ordinary legal processes for the recovery of its debt, it attempted this short-cut method of collection. The act of the company was arbitrary and oppressive and should not be sustained."

The Public Service Commission, in an exhaustive opinion by Commissioner John S. Rilling handed down last night, holds that the commission has authority to make an inquiry into the reasonableness of the rates charged the city of New Castle by the City of New Castle Water Company, which are fixed by contract. The city of New Castle contended that the contract having been made prior to the enactment of the Public Service Company Law, the rates specified should prevail and that any change would be against constitutional rights. All contracts fixing rates are subject to the state's superior right to fix rates, holds Mr. Rilling, who also says that the city does not have by reason of its special act of incorporation any higher authority than any other municipality in Pennsylvania. The contract, he says, "does not preclude the commission from exercising its authority to inquire into and determine the reasonableness of the rates complained of."

Commissioner H. M. McClure, in deciding the application of the Cresson Taxi Service for a certificate to do business in Cresson and vicinity, refuses the right to haul passengers between Cresson Station and the state sanatorium, but grants one for Cresson and vicinity. There was a protest filed which is sustained to this extent: "The services of the applicant are not needed for the convenience of the public between the station and the sanatorium. Their transporting passengers in their efforts to get business and

DEMPSEY OFFERS WILLARD FIGHT

Heavyweight Will Give All of His Share of Purse to War Charity, Says Manager

Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, flew in from the West last evening and cut loose so fast the Philadelphia official stenographers failed to get him entirely, while most of his audience thought he was Dempsey himself, as he gushed: "I'm willing to fight Willard, but only in Philadelphia. I'll give our share of the purse to any war charity at the big fellow. I know I can prove to the fight fans that he hasn't any business wearing the heavyweight crown."

"I'll knock out Battling Levinsky when we meet at the Olympia and then I'll be ready for Willard." Manager Kearns had just returned with Dempsey from Milwaukee, where the pair were defendants in a suit brought by John the barber, Dempsey's former manager, to restrain him from fighting under any other management.

"Philadelphia is now Dempsey's fighting headquarters," said Kearns, "and all who want to meet him must come here for action. Dempsey will fight Willard for nothing for this charity. If Jess Willard will climb into the ring with my man, and face the licking I know Dempsey can give him, I am sure Philadelphia fight fans will willingly pay as much as New Yorkers towards this charity fund. I am going over to New York to-morrow to take this matter up with Jimmy Coffroth and those in charge of the boxing end of this affair, and I am going to tell them that Dempsey will do all this showing in Philadelphia."

The manager of Willard's challenger said that his charge had gone on to Long Branch to continue his training for the bout scheduled at the Olympia with Battling Levinsky. He said that this bout would be put on as soon as the Board of Health took off the ban on indoor contests. It will be the first event on the card at the Olympia Club after the opening.

Manager Kearns said that the suit had been heard and the judge had withheld his decision until Saturday. He did not appear at all perturbed at the possibility that the decision might go against him and he would lose his rather promising "meal ticket."

"Of all fighters in the country, Dempsey is just now in greater de-

EAT more baked beans. You'll see them recommended on every food conservation list.

Don't they look appetizing in their shining little dish, brown and flaky on top, just about bursting open with flavor? They're different from raw white beans.

"Cooked" tobacco is very different from "raw" tobacco, also—about ten times more appetizing. Try Lucky Strike Cigarette—it's toasted.
